The very fine results and increasing demand of the Star Ammoniated Soluble Phosphate seem to have created quite a sensation among manufacturers of and dealers in commercial fertilizers. Other manufacturers have even commenced manipulating and offering for sale a fertilizer called the "Star Bone Phosphate." Farmers should beware of imitations. The original and only genuine Star Ammoniated Soluble Phosphate has the trade mark of a star printed on each sack with the analysis manufactured by Lorentz & Ritter of Baltimore, Md., and for sale by A. C. Sanders & Co., or their agents.

TWO MARRIAGES THIS MORNING.—The torch Hymen blazed brightly in our little city this morning. Two couples plighted faith for better or worse. At the residence of R. F. Jones, Rev. Dr. Burkhead, pastor of the Edenton Street Methodist church, tied the knot between B. D. Webb, of Scotland Neck, and Miss Maria C. Allen, one of Raleigh's most beautiful daughters. At the residence of Dr. W. G. Hill, Rev. J. B. Bobbitt, of the Christian Advocate, joined together Dr. W. W. Green, of Franklinton, and Miss Sarah Susan Jones, of this county. Good wishes innumerable follow the happy couples.

THE 22D VOLUME.—Yesterday, the 22d of February, the Daily Sentinel entered upon its 22d volume. From its inception it has been emphatically a people's paper, keeping aloof from all corporations, combinations and cliques, steadily keeping in view the interests of the entire state. In pursuing this course offense has been given to some close corporations, that seek to destroy all who stand in the way of their selfish ends, or expose their disreputable transactions. Some professional politicians, too, who have the cheek to call themselves "leaders," have declared war against the Sentinel because it could not be used by them to advance ends purely personal and pander to ambitions devoid of virtue and patriotism. The Sentinel has ever been true to the people of the state, and for years has carried on, single-handed, a fight to protect them from the depredations of recognized rogues as well as the spoliations of "gentlemen" who steal in kid gloves and broadcloth. These enemies of the paper have used every means known in the catalogue of villainy to break it down, but to-day the Sentinel is fighting on the line adopted nearly 11 years ago, and will so continue to fight until rogues, masked and unmasked, are driven from place and power, and rendered unable to perpetrate further wrong. The Sentinel has high claims upon the people, and we doubt not that they will stand by it in this struggle with the rogues and rascals.

DEATH OF HON. A. W. VENABLE.

This distinguished North Carolinian died at the residence of his son, Major T. B. Venable, in Oxford, last Saturday, in the 77th year of his age. The Oxford Torchlight in its issue of Feb. 22, in speaking of the funeral services, says:

The funeral services were conducted at the Presbyterian church in Oxford on yesterday morning by Revs. Edward Hines, the old pastor of the deceased, Thos. U. Faucett and D. E. Jordan, the first mentioned preaching the sermon. Rev. W. S Pettigrew, of the Episcopal church, an old and intimate friend of Mr. Venable, made some remarks that were exceedingly appropriate and touching. A large concourse of people were present to testify their great respect for the memory of the honored and eminent dead.

The closing hymn was composed by the deceased and sung with much feeling by the congregation. There were ten ministers present, representing four denominations. Many citizens accompanied the corpse through the town as it was borne towards its final resting place, sixteen miles distant. The business houses were closed and the schools suspended for the time.

In a few days we will publish a sketch of the eventful and brilliant career of this eminent gentleman.

Owing to a lack of proper notice, the meeting of the Young Men's Christian Association was slimly attended last evening. A resolution was adopted directing the distributors to be more strict in their distributions in order to prevent imposition.

Gossiping about Parisian notabilities, a correspondent of the New York World tells of the enormous expense to which the leading actresses are put by the requirements of their situation. The ladies of the Gymnase and the vaudeville vie with those who pay their respects to Mme. MacMahon on her reception days in the matter of elegant toilets. The dresses worn by Blanche Pierson in a recent revival of La Dame aux Camelias, cost $1,500, exclusive of the lace, a price that would represent a cost of at least three times as much in New York. And her Brussels lace flounces, held back by garlands of white camelias on a train of white satin, would not have been disdained by a royal bride. The parure of diamonds which she wore in the same play was magnificent. Schneider's diamonds are worth $120,000, her necklace alone being valued at $20,000, and her solitaire ear rings at $10,000. The diamonds of Mlle. Duverger, which were sold at auction last winter, brought her over $200,000.

Lost time is forever lost. Absence from school is often caused by a cough, cold or hoarseness, and can easily be prevented by giving Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup to the children.

LORD, MOLLY WHAT A FISH!

The Daily and Weekly News has a combined circulation of 4,500.—Daily News of Sunday, Feb. 20.

Mr. Editor, the above item appeared in the local column of the Daily News of Sunday morning, Feb. 20. Now, Mr. Editor, I have no interest in any newspaper in Raleigh, or elsewhere, and never expect to have, but I happen to know that the above statement is not correct, and I think it is my duty to say so. The circulation of the Daily News is not over 1,000; the Weekly News is not over 1,500. These figures are not guess work but are facts, and if it were necessary could be proven. I suppose the item above was written by the local editor, who, perhaps, knows very little about the real circulation of the paper. But he should remember that it is a very easy matter for any one who knows anything about mathematics to find out the circulation of any paper. If this was the first false statement that has appeared in the Daily News I should not notice it, but, sir, they are numerous, for instance, they advertise themselves as book-binders, stationers and blank-book manufacturers, and have had the cheek to print large calendar posters to that effect and scatter them around this city. If they were called upon to bind a ten cent primer, they could not do it, nor could they manufacture a 5 cent memorandum book. In fact, they have not a single piece of book-binding machinery, or tools. Again, they say they have the largest job printing office in the state. How ridiculous this must appear to any one who has been inside their office. I suppose there is not a job office in the state that is smaller, or that turns out poorer work. If anybody doubts the truth of what I have said, in the language of Ma Turner, "give me a square" and I will prove it. While you drive the thieves and ring men out of the party don't forget the liars.

Yours for "harmony at the centre,"
DEMOCRAT.

HE JUMPED 200 FEET FOR $5 AND SURVIVED.

[From the St. Joseph (Mo.) Herald.]

A colored man by the name of Marsuett Goeffe took his life in his hand for a paltry $5, and jumped from the bluffs overhanging the K. C., St. Jo and C. B. railroad. The bluffs at the point from where he jumped are in the neighborhood of 200 feet in height, and 20 or more feet perpendicular. The rest of the bluff is at an angle of forty-five degrees. He slid off the edge, striking solidly upon his back, but failed to retain his position, and to the horror of the spectators commenced to roll down the almost perpendicular face of the bluff. The velocity with which he came down would have killed a white man, and it is a wonder that he preserved the least particle of breath in his body. During his descent he gave vent to three or four yells of horror that rang out like a death-knell upon the air, attracting the attention of the few persons in that vicinity, who came up just as he, apparently dead, reached the gulley alongside of the railroad track. After the excitement occasioned by the scene had partially worn off, the man was examined, and, strange to say, was found to be without serious injury. He revived after some moments, having undoubtedly fainted from fright, and attempted to raise himself up, but after two or three ineffectual attempts gave it up for the time being. His comrades, having made the descent of the bluff at some other less dangerous point, came up, and with their assistance he was taken home, they afterward informing us that, though very sore, he had escaped without serious injury. The $5 for which he made the fearful leap was paid him, but we question if a hundred times that amount would induce him to try it over again.

MENTAL SUCCESS.—Capacity and talent in this pushing and bustling age do not insure business success, but these, when coupled with resolute effort, untiring energy, suave manners, and thorough professional knowledge, lead to position, fame and success, for they deserve them. This is illustrated in the career of Dr. Jones, now at the McAdoo House, Greensboro, in this state, until March 6th. He has devoted the best years of his life to cultivating good natural abilities and thoroughly qualifying himself to battle with the worst forms of disease that assail and prostrate the human system. The result is a practice extensive, growing and lucrative. Dr. Jones' peculiar experience in the treatment of chronic diseases of every name and nature make him in every way a skillful and trustworthy physician. Dr. Jones practices at the Arlington house, Danville, Va., from the 6th to the 13th of March. At the Ballard and Exchange hotel, Richmond, Va., from the 13th of March to the 3d of April, 1876.

THAT WAGON TRAIN.

FREIGHT CHARGES GETTING HEAVIER AND HEAVIER.

EDITOR SENTINEL: I noticed in the Sentinel a few days since that the citizens of Durham contemplate running a wagon train to Cary to connect the place with the Raleigh & Gaston railroad. They must be suffering as we are. Freights on the Richmond & Danville railroad are so heavy we cannot stand it, and have been thinking of running wagons to Raleigh, for we find it will be cheaper and more expeditious. Some have consented to share their wagons as soon as we say so. We have heard that the Raleigh & Gaston railroad will deliver goods at Cary for the same charge they deliver in Raleigh. If this be so it will be quite an inducement for the wagon train. We now pay the Richmond & Danville railroad almost as much from Raleigh to Hillsboro as we do from New York to Raleigh, and still they are not satisfied, but add on a little every few days. Efforts have been, and still are made to compel freight to come by Greensboro. Query: Is it a fact that this branch of the Richmond & Danville railroad refuses to receive freight at Raleigh or Goldsboro until it has lain there several days to produce dissatisfaction with those routes? Will the Raleigh & Gaston and Wilmington & Weldon railroads inquire into the matter? Will the Raleigh & Gaston road deliver and receive freight at Cary the same as at Raleigh? Those of us who live on the line of this road contributed, at quite a sacrifice, to build it for our accommodation. It has been stolen from us, by hired servants, and now they tax us to pay for the stealing.

C. R. R. MAN.

DR. J. A. JONES—TESTIMONY OF A PLANTER.—From the Seventh Monthly News, Dec. 6, 1873. The following voluntary testimony as to the thoroughness and efficaciousness of Dr. J. A. Jones' method of treating diseases, has been handed us, and we take pleasure in publishing it. Mr. Elijah Roberts is an old and well-known planter of Screven county.

I was sorely afflicted for many years with Ozena, Catarrh, Neuralgia, and disease of the breast, and chronic complaints, so that I was given up by our physicians in Augusta as a hopeless case. In this suffering condition I placed myself under Dr. Jones' treatment, who relieved me very much in a few hours, and by the continued use of his remedies at home, I am cured of most of my complaints and enjoy life very well for an elderly man of seventy-five, and I owe my life to Dr. Jones, and cannot recommend him too highly. The doctor also cured my daughter of disease of the liver. I am a planter. My address is Mobley Pond postoffice, Screven county, Ga.

ELIJAH ROBERTS.

Dr. Jones is healing the afflicted at the McAdoo House, Greensboro, N. C., where he will remain until March 6th. Send for a circular. Dr. Jones treats the eye and ear, straightens crossed-eyes without fail in every case.

Dr. Jones will practice at the Arlington House, Danville, Va., from the 6th to the 13th of March. Dr. J. will practice at the Ballard & Exchange hotel, Richmond, Va., from the 13th of March to the 3d of April.

for cash, that valuable farm on Deep river, in the county of Chatham, opposite the town of Lockville, known as the Clegg farm, containing FIVE HUNDRED AND THIRTY-TWO acres. The Raleigh & Augusta Air-Line railroad divides the tract, and Deep river is navigable for steamboats about 30 miles above and 12 miles below Lockville. The farm is about 30 miles from Raleigh and 42 miles from Fayetteville by rail. The tract contains 100 acres of Deep river low ground; 5 acres of branch land and 100 acres of long leaf pine. It is well adapted to the raising of grapes, cereals, cotton and vegetables, and can be divided easily into three excellent farms. The railroad depot is within 150 yards of the farm and Merchant's mill, saw mills and cotton gin within 75 yards. The state geologist, Prof. Emmons, state geologist, describes this farm as within the rich coal and iron formations of the Deep river basin.
