CONVENTION COMMENTS

A Worthy Recognition.

Nashville Graphic.

The State convention did themselves and the State honor in nominating Hon. E. L. Daughtridge as a running mate for the Hon. Locke Craig. It is a worthy recognition of the great farming masses and business interests of the state, and Mr. Daughtridge's nomination will add strength to the entire State ticket. The Nash county delegation in the State convention on every ballot voted solidly for Mr. Daughtridge and their [illegible] of their action, especially when the same aided materially in the recognition of the great agricultural masses by putting one most worthy on the State ticket.

Locke Craig

Sampson Democrat.

[illegible] of Locke Craig for next governor of North Carolina. It was not only a matter of pride, but a fact that he was made the unanimous choice of the convention that nominated him. Raleigh felt it was the recognition of his great ability and his eminent fitness for it. Highest office in the gift of the people of North Carolina. It must be [illegible] Craig's life which, with one accord, his people recognized here first, their love and esteem, and we all share in his pride when we see what day we have done [illegible].

The Peer of Any Man.

Henderson Gold Leaf.

The Democratic party did itself and the State a honor [illegible] Thursday in nominating Locke Craig for governor by acclamation. [illegible] be the unanimous choice of the Democrats of North Carolina for the high office and exalted station it [illegible] mean being [illegible] or any other living man. In the [illegible] he is the second man in all the [illegible] nals of the State to be [illegible] a distinction of which he may well feel proud and for which his loyal and devoted friends who have known the real worth of the man through all these years are [illegible]. It is an honor and a distinction but greater than that of being the choice of a mere faction or a party majority of the party following a leadership for the office. In the governor's mansion Locke Craig will prove himself what his friends have for a long time known him to be, one of the ablest and best men [illegible] produced in this [illegible] century. As a Democrat [illegible] crats he is the [illegible] the county, [illegible].
