LITTLE TRADING COTTON FEATURES

Market Opens Steady; Closes Net 5 Points Higher; Crop Accounts From Carolinas Encourages Selling.

(By the Associated Press.)

New York, June 27. Beyond covering up of July contracts in advance of expected notices tomorrow there was little trading feature to the cotton market today, and prices fluctuated within a range of five or six points, with the close steady, net 5 points higher, to two points lower, generally unchanged to three points higher on active months.

The market opened steady, [illegible] advance of six to three points, which was about in line with somewhat steadier cables than expected. There was no important buying, and the market eased off to a point or two under the closing figures of last night during the first hour, under scattering liquidation and a little more pressure. A few spots were offered in the cotton belt, and by some general and the market later absorbed on receipts of big interior interests and rebuying of July months by the southern writers of cotton crop positions. General business was very quiet after the first hour, and fluctuations seemed to be very largely in response to the weather. The absence of July which resulted from the buying of spot people at from 25 to 30 points under October. The Brazilian [illegible] may have tended to create buying during the day, but it was noticed that some white cotton was brought from the New York [illegible] to New Orleans, and that delivery on July contracts there.

Liquidation and hedge selling [illegible] last week, [illegible] against 1,000 last week, and 1,000 bales against 1,000 last year.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

New Orleans, La., June 27. The long expected rise in the markets of the cotton market today, the strength of the month being the chief sustaining factor, the closing prices being 10 points up to one down compared with yesterday's close.

Futures opened steady at a loss of two points on poor cables. The weather map and the forecast were both of an unfavorable character and private reports complained that farm work was being hindered to too much rain, while cool nights were proving injurious to plants. The market was dull throughout the morning session, but prices held steady. Buyers found contracts scarce and bid prices upon themselves. July, which advanced eight points over yesterday's close on a few trades, helped the new crop months to some extent. In the afternoon the market was stagnant.

Spot cotton steady, ¼ up; middling 12¼, sales on the spot, 244 bales, to arrive, 568 bales.

Futures closed very steady. Closing bids:
