LOCAL RECORDS:

NOTICE TO SUBSCRIBERS!

In order to enable subscribers to help pay their subscription we will allow each one fifty cents, who will send us two dollars for a new subscriber. Now, let every one try to get us a new subscriber and thus help to pay for his own paper. Politics—National, State and County, will make this year most exciting, and every man should read his county paper. This offer is open only until the first Monday in February.

Read the notices of sales to be made by Deputy Collector L. B. Pennington.

Dr. A. D. Moore has returned to Wilson, from which place he removed here two years ago. We regret to part with so polite a gentleman and skillful a physician.

We have a few of those cheap shirts still left—the best in the market for the money. A nice lot of collars, cuffs, cravats, suspenders, etc., very low, at London's cheap store.

Which takes a deeper interest in the prosperity of your county, a paper published in New York or one published at home? Which then, ought you to patronize? Think of this, yeomen of Chatham!

Just received at Bynum & Headen's New Cheap Store—Clover, Orchard Grass, Timothy, and Herd Grass Seed.

All persons indebted to us are requested to call and settle their accounts.

Another lot of those elegant cigars, at Bynum & Headen's.

The attention of ... double column advertisement of Watt & Allcott will give our readers some idea of the various kinds of machinery and farming utensils sold by him, and they will consult their interests by calling on him. His stock is very large and he will sell on reasonable terms.

Once more I would call your attention to our stock of boots and shoes—the largest in the county, and bought before the rise, and we are giving our customers the advantage of the prices. Special inducements offered in heavy boots, to close, to make room for spring stock, at London's cheap store.

Moore Court.

The Spring Term of the Superior Court of Moore county will be held next week, beginning on Monday, the 2d day of February. His Honor, Judge Kerr, will preside.

Mill Sold.

We learn that our enterprising countyman, W. T. Dowd, Esq., has purchased that valuable property on Rocky River known as Cheek's Mill, and there is some talk of a cotton factory being built there. Build it by all means, and increase the prosperity of our good old county.

Address of Supervisor.

For the information of those of our readers who desire the position of census enumerator, we will mention that the address of the supervisor for this district is "James R. Cardwell, Douglas P. O. Rockingham County N. C." Let all applications from this county be made to him.

The Rabbit Trade.

But few persons have any idea of the vast quantity of rabbit skins that are sent from this county every winter, and although they sell for only three cents apiece yet this brings no inconsiderable sum of money to our county. The great bulk of them goes to the Raleigh market (as does almost everything else that we sell) but still a great many are carried to Greensboro,' where there is a firm, Houston & Bro. that deals in furs on a large scale and that buys for dealers who ship direct to Europe.

A Good Selection.

The State Board of Agriculture held a meeting at Raleigh, on the 21st. inst., and elected a Secretary to fill the vacancy occasioned by the death of Capt. T. J. Robinson. There were quite a number of applicants desiring the office (the salary of which is $1500 a year) and several of them whom we know, were most excellent gentlemen. To be elected over such competitors was quite a compliment to the successful applicant, who was Mr. P. M. Wilson, the accomplished local editor of the Raleigh Observer, who will doubtless discharge his new duties to the satisfaction of the public and with honor to himself.

Capt. Fred. A. Olds succeeded Mr. Wilson as local editor of the Observer, and is well known as a most efficient reporter and pleasant writer.

Lookout for Him!

In the month of September last, a man, calling himself H. W. Littlefield, came to our town, rented a shop, and began to repair clocks, watches, etc. He was unknown to any person in this section, and stated that he was raised in Massachusetts but had resided in the South several years. He soon had a good deal of work, and everything was "altogether lovely," until about three weeks ago he turned up missing! and with him were missing several valuable watches that he had undertaken to repair, the owners of which are now quite anxious to once more see Mr. Littlefield. We would thank our brethren of the press to "pass him 'round," so that his whereabouts may be known to his anxious friends (?) in our town. He is about 5 feet 6 inches high, will weigh about 130 pounds, has light colored side whiskers and moustache, slightly bald, and speaks with the Yankee accent.

Raleigh Advertisements.

We take pleasure in calling the attention of our readers to the new advertisements of our Raleigh friends.

The firm of Yeargan, Petty & Co is establishing a State reputation that may be envied by older houses, and it is a source of pride to us to know that these old Chathamites reflect so much credit upon the county of their nativity. It is not at all surprising that they have so large a trade from this county.

Mr. D. S. Waitt is the successor of the well known house of D. S. Waitt & Bro. and is a most energetic and fair dealing merchant, and well deserves the large patronage that he is receiving. Give him a call by all means.

Christophers & Serrell have just cause to be proud of the great success that is rewarding their energy. We had no idea of the very large business they were doing or of the quantity of their stock, until we recently went through their commodious threestory establishment, where they had heaps upon heaps piled up. Mr. R. H. Atwater is now connected with this house, and will be pleased to wait on his many friends in Chatham and Orange.

Our clever young countyman, Fred. A. Watson, is the junior partner of the firm of Jacob S. Allen & Co. which is doing so much to literally build up the country, and will be pleased to receive orders from all desiring any building material.

W. C. & A. B. Stronach are young men but old merchants, and by their energy and business like habits have established a most extensive business. They sell cheap, give good weight, and please their many customers.

Married in the Road.

A marriage recently took place in one of the public roads of this county under the following circumstances. It seems that the parents of an expectant bride objected to her marrying the man of her choice, and remembering the old saying, "Out of sight out of mind," they thought the lovers would forget each other if separated. So the stern parents of the young lady sent her in exile to the residence of a relative living in the adjoining county of Moore, but quite near the Chatham line. But the love of this unfortunate couple burned with too fierce a flame to be so easily extinguished and the gallant hero of our tale, by diligent inquiry, soon ascertained the whereabouts of his lady-love, and by means of an underground telegraph they were speedily in communication with each other. The relative, to whose house our heroine had been banished, soon sympathized with the lovers in their troubles, and a marriage was at once agreed upon. Our hero had, some time before the banishment of his captive dulcinea, procured a marriage license in this county, which of course could not be used in Moore, and so to avoid any loss of time and the expense of getting a license in the latter county, they determined to be married in Chatham. The boundary line between the counties was only about three hundred yards distant, the nearest point being the public highway. Quite a number of the neighbors were hurriedly summoned, and forming a procession, they marched to the big road, where a Chatham Magistrate met them, and so out there in this public highway with the attendants drawn up in due order was the marriage duly and decorously solemnized. The old neighborhood fiddler was present, and most excellently scraped out the wedding music, while so animated were the bridal party that quite a lively dance took place, with the road used for a floor and the blue heavens for a shed. It must have been a novel and amusing scene, and will doubtless be long remembered by those who saw it.

Organize Against Fire.

We are continually hearing of villages and small towns being destroyed by fire. Last week we announced the almost total destruction of Roxboro' in Person county, and scarcely a month has passed since the town of Greenville, in Pitt county, met a similar fate. During the past few years quite a number of North Carolina towns have been severely afflicted by the fire fiend, and thousands upon thousands of dollars worth of property consumed. We can recall the fearful visitations that befell the towns of Henderson, Enfield, Magnolia, Goldsboro', Louisburg, and Winston, and the misfortunes of these towns should be warnings to all others and admonish the citizens of every place to profit by their sad experience. Every village, however small, should have some kind of an organization to fight the dreaded fire fiend, and be supplied with an abundance of water and proper apparatus for the fight. This is a practical subject of the greatest importance, and deeply concerns the material interests of thousands, whom we wish to arouse to a full sense of their danger and to prepare against it.

We may cite our town as an illustration of the insecurity of property against fire, and doubtless there are hundreds in like condition. In the first place our only supply of water is in the private wells, and most of them have, for months past, been dry, so that really we have scarcely enough water in our town to extinguish a brush pile that might be fired. The first thing to be done then, is to have cisterns of sufficient capacity to hold a full supply of water. In the next place there is no sort of organization among us to extinguish a fire, but every man rushes hither and thither, wildly calling on somebody else to do something, or breaks everything to pieces in the burning house in their excited effort at removal, instead of all with a well directed, organized effort, trying to suppress the flames. An intelligent organized attempt to extinguish a fire is generally successful and saves much valuable property. Where there is no organization the flames generally get beyond control before the bystanders begin to work, and then they are too excited to do much good.

We would most earnestly urge upon the citizens of our town, and all towns similarly situated, to take immediate steps to protect their property. It is a matter of such great importance that we do not understand how sensible men can display such indifference and want of common prudence. Men are all anxious enough to accumulate property, and are quick to resent any infringement upon the rights of property, and yet they make no effort to protect it from total destruction."

STATE NEWS:

A Wealthy Company.

The Ore Knob Copper Company in Ashe County gives employment, directly and indirectly, to more than a thousand people.—Greensboro' Patriot.

Professed Religion.

The Oxford correspondent of the News says that Samuel Ross eighty years old, a professed infidel and a great sinner in every sense of the word, professed religion last Sunday.

Elected Superintendent.

At the recent meeting of the directors of the Colored Insane Asylum, Dr. William H. Moore, of Goldsboro', was elected superintendent with a salary of $1500 a year.—Goldsboro' Messenger.

Sheriffs Settling.

Out of the total of ninety-four sheriffs in the State, seventy-five have settled up the taxes due by their counties to the State. Of this number fifty nine have paid in since the first of this month.—Observer 25th.

Meeting of Ex. Committee.

The Central Executive Committee has called the State Committee to meet in Raleigh on Wednesday, the 3d of March. It will then be decided what is best to be done about calling the State Convention.—Observer.

N. C. R. R.

The Directors of the North Carolina Railroad were in session in this city on Friday and Saturday. They declared an annual dividend of six per cent., three payable first of March and three payable first of September. They also paid to the "trust fund," or ten-year bonds, twenty thousand dollars. This shows the Road to be in a most healthy condition.—Raleigh News.

Settling the State Debt.

Dr. Worth has exchanged $2,410,-800 of old bonds of the first class, issuing therefor $961,320 in new bonds. He has taken in $1,486,015 of the second class, issuing for them $171,511 of new bonds. Of the third class, he has taken in $1,279,400, giving in exchange $191,910 in new bonds. The old bonds retired amount to $5,176,245, which are now represented by $1,527,791 in new bonds.—Observer.

A Woman Without Curiosity.

We have living in Greensboro an old lady said to be about 92 years of age, who has lived here nearly all her life, but who has never yet seen a railway car or locomotive engine Although she lives within a quarter of a mile of the depot, her curiosity is not great enough to induce her to visit it, notwithstanding she is quite sprightly on her feet, and fully able to do so.—Greensboro' Patriot.

Shooting a Deputy Marshal.

Deputy Marshal Mark Haney of Madison county was shot, last Monday, while arresting some illicit distillers in the upper part of Linville township, near Lineback's store. He had made the arrest and had turned back to find a pistol that he had lost when he was shot by some one concealed in a laurel thicket. The shot took effect in his shoulder making a dangerous wound.—Bakersville Republican.

Bound to Marry.

The Lenoir Topic says that a certain couple were to have been married recently, in Wautauga county, but at the appointed time the groom was taken down with the mumps and could not put in an appearance. The lady was, it seems, determined not to be disappointed, and when one of the gentlemen who had come to see the marriage offered himself, he was accepted and the ceremony took place without delay.

Tunnel Under the Hudson.

In order to obviate the inconvenience of crossing in boats from Jersey City to New York it is proposed to dig a tunnel under the Hudson river, and thus allow the cars to run into New York. The American Engineer thus speaks of this great undertaking:

"The Hudson river tunnel from Jersey City to New York is now under way, excavation in the tunnel proper having been commenced on the Jersey side. In New York property has been secured for inaugurating the work from that end where a shaft will be sunk at the foot of Morton Street to the same depths as that in Jersey City. The work will be carried on night and day simultaneously at both ends. Powerful pumps are constantly in use to keep down the water, which in the shaft in Jersey City flowed very rapidly at a depth of forty feet.

The Jersey City incline to the tunnel proper is 3100 feet in length, the tunnel itself 5400 feet, and the New York city incline 3900 feet long, making a total of about two and a half miles.

The walls of the tunnel are circular in section and built of hard brickwood in hydraulic cement. It will contain two tracks and be lighted with gas.

It must prove of inestimable service to the railroad system and a great boon to the traveling public. The nature of the conditions at present surrounding its inception in the way of construction premises a successful undertaking."

Burned Fatally.

Captain J. W. Lee, chief of police, received a dispatch yesterday morning from Danville, Va., announcing that Mrs. May, his wife's mother, and her two sisters had met with a terrible accident from the explosion of a lamp. Mrs. May and her daughter, Miss Kate, were fatally burned, and the other daughter, Mrs. Herndon, was seriously injured.—Raleigh News.

Slavery Abolished.

A telegram from Madrid last Friday announced the passage by the Spanish Cortez of the bill to abolish slavery in Cuba, by a vote of 230 yeas to 10 nays. This is the end of African slavery in America, where it has existed three and a half centuries.—Hale's Weekly.

Sympathy is best shown when practical in its application. Therefore when you sympathize with your suffering baby, show it practically by using Dr. Bull's Baby Syrup and thus cure your child. Price 25 cents.

TELEGRAMS.

Warlike Maine.

Augusta, Maine, Jan. 23.

The general impression is that matters are in a more critical condition than they have been for some time. Crowds are collecting at various points; secret clans of armed men are drilling, and other circumstances tend to create alarm.

The Chronicle, (greenback labor organ) of Auburn, states that the State House must be taken though it costs thousands of lives.

The government is not alarmed, and will make the State House perfectly impregnable. The first military company that entered the State House marched in at midnight.

Pillsbury, Blood, Channing and others, are known to be enrolling in every county in the State. Men are collected in the county towns for J. L. Smith's call. Capt. Black, of Augusta, is drilling men nightly.

Mayor Nash addressed the following to Governor Davis to-night:

"In view of the threatening attitude of persons hostile to the present government of the State, I feel constrained to say to your Excellency that I fear my civil police force will be unable to sufficiently protect public property at the capitol, or even hold possession of the building itself against such force as the public enemies seem to be willing and able to bring against it."

From consultation with the military authorities Davis became thoroughly convinced of the seriousness of the situation, and that the position of Mayor Nash was perfectly sound. He therefore ordered to the State House the Capitol Guards and the Richmond Light Infantry, who, at 10 o'clock a. m., were there. The Auburn Light Infantry will leave that place for the capital at 2 o'clock this morning, and other military forces will be brought if necessary.

Information of the operations of the fusionists comes from reliable men in each county of designs to take the State House, Pillsbury's last hope.

It is hoped that the prompt action of Governor Davis will avert trouble. Men are known to be ready at the call of Smith, in Lincoln and Somerset counties, who are to take sleighs across the country.

The prompt action of Goland Peakes prevented the movements in Piscataquis county.

All the armories in the State are under guard. The Republicans mean to hold possession, and if the State troops are inadequate, the President will be called on for aid.

The State House is converted into a fort and barracks. Stoves have been set up in the cellar to cook rations of beef, etc., for soldiers.

Grant not a Candidate.

Washington, Jan. 25.

It is reported here, on what is believed to be trustworthy authority, that the personal friends of ex President Grant in Philadelphia who are nearest him state to persons interested that before the meeting of the Pennsylvania Convention, ten days hence, an authoritative declaration will be made in behalf of the ex President conclusively taking him from the field as a contestant for the Presidential nomination. It is given out by persons in the ex-President's confidence that he proposes to engage in an important business enterprise, which he prefers to any attempt to re-enter political life.

A Long Range Telephone.

New York, Jan. 26.

An Omaha special says a telephone was successfully worked Sunday from St. Louis to the Pacific transfer, on the east side of the Missouri River, a distance of 410 miles. Ordinary conversation was carried on with the utmost ease. This is said to be the longest distance over which the telephone has ever been successfully operated.

Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup has been before the public for many years, and is pronounced by thousands superior to all other articles for the cure of Coughs, Colds, Influenza and all other Pulmonary Complaints. It costs only 25 cents a bottle.

MARRIED.

Marriage and death notices published free, but Obituaries charged seven cents a line.

Talbott's Patent Spark Arrester,

The Invention of the Age.

It does not destroy the draft. It does not interfere with cleaning the tubes. It will not choke up as it requires no cleaning. It requires no direct dampers to be opened when raising steam; dampers being objectionable, as they may be left open and allow sparks to escape. It requires no water to extinguish sparks, which, by condensation, destroys the draft. Besides, when water is used, if neglected, the chimney is destroyed by evaporation of the water, and the boiler is kept in a filthy condition. It is simple and durable and can be relied upon. It can be attached to any boiler.

No planter should be without one of them. Insurance companies will insure gins and barns where the Talbott Engines and Spark Arresters are used at same rate as charged for water or horse power.
