The Chatham Record

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 25, 1883.

LOCAL RECORDS.

☞ The dogs killed several of Mr. William Cooper's sheep, near this place, on last Friday night.

☞ Mr. W. L. Griffin, of New Hope township, has sent us the largest beet that we have seen this year.

☞ Mr. Taylor Bynum, formerly of this county but now a prosperous tobacconist at Winston, is on a visit with his family to relatives at this place.

☞ Bynum & Headen are now receiving their stock of Fall and Winter goods, which their customers and friends are requested to call and examine.

☞ Mr. Leonard Ray, of Hickory Mountain township, while feeding his cotton gin, one day last week, had the forefinger of each hand badly lacerated.

☞ All persons indebted to J. B. Harris are notified to make payment to H. A. London, assignee, before the first Monday in November and thus save costs.

☞ Read the advertisement of Mr. Len. H. Adams, one of Raleigh's most substantial merchants. Our clever countryman, Mr. G. J. Williams, is still with him and ready to serve his many friends.

☞ Have you seen the beautiful goods London has just received? He has the largest, finest, best and cheapest stock he has ever had. If you are in need of any goods it will pay you to call and see his stock before you buy. His line of Cloaks, Dolmans and Jackets will equal any that can be found. He has still a few of those nice fitting Jerseys left: every lady should have one.

☞ One of the pleasantest places to visit in Raleigh is Mr. Fred A. Watson's store, which resembles an art gallery. You will there find a large and splendid assortment of picture frames, window shades, cornices, easy chairs, house ornaments &c.

☞ The ladies all say that it is a treat to go to London's store. He can show you so many pretty things. You can find the largest and best stock of Hosiery for ladies, children and men. Splendid line of Gloves for ladies and gents. His Gents' Scarfs are very fine, and very pretty. His stock of Ready made Clothing is magnificent—can fit any body and for very little money.

A Boy Killed.—On last Tuesday a thirteen year old colored boy, named Jake Lambeth, was accidentally killed at the cotton gin of Mr. A. T. Lambeth near Lockville. He was driving the horses hitched to the horse power of the gin, and by some means got caught in the horse power and was crushed so badly that he died in an hour thereafter.

Gulf Coal.—We are pleased to know that the owners of the coal mines at the Gulf have decided to fully test the value of their property and have made arrangements to bore to a depth of four or five hundred feet. Mr. B. F. Williams, of Virginia, an expert in the business has the management of the work and will thoroughly test the value of all the coal seams on the Gulf property.

Discouraging To Farmers.—This year has been very discouraging to our farmers. The continued rains in the early spring made them backward in pitching their crops, when the corn and cotton began to grow it was a long and desperate struggle to keep down the grass, the drought in the summer nearly parched all vegetation, and now the wet weather renders it difficult to save what little was made. Every season this year seems to have been unfavorable, but do not be downcast, but hope for better next year!

The C. F. & Y. V. R. R.—Our countymen in Western Chatham will soon be in full railroad communication with the rest of the world, and have easy access to market for their products. As announced last week the track has been laid to Ore Hill, and the passenger trains will run to that station in a few days. The site has been selected for a warehouse which will be built without delay, and as soon as it is finished (which will be about the middle of November) freight will be received and delivered. Mr. G. W. Alley, the efficient and courteous agent at Gulf, will be the temporary agent at Ore Hill until the track is laid to Matthews' X Roads when he will go to that station and continue to goon to the head of the road till it reaches Greensboro, where he will be the permanent agent. Mr. D. H. Marsh will succeed Mr. Alley at Ore Hill, and be the permanent agent there. A depot has been located between Gulf and Ore Hill at the point where the railroad crosses the old "Chatham" road—the highway that runs from Harper's X Roads to this place. The name of this station will very appropriately be "Bear Creek." The track will be laid to Matthews in three weeks, and a new name will be given to that place, as there is already a Matthews station on the Carolina Central.

We do most heartily congratulate our countymen upon at last beginning to realize their hopes of so many years. The extension of the railroad through our county will develop a very productive region, and render accessible to market a section that has been almost cut off from the outer world.

Our Fayetteville Advertisements.—We take much pleasure in calling the attention of our readers to the long list of Fayetteville advertisements contained in this issue. It shows that the enterprising business men of the good old town are determined to regain a portion of the trade that formerly went to that market. We well remember the time when Fayetteville was the chief market town for nearly all this county, and streams of wagons were pouring in there every day from all this section. The building of railroads to other towns diverted nearly all this trade from its old channels, and for the past few years the business of Fayetteville has languished, but now a brighter day is dawning and we may soon see a revival of those good old days. The extension of the Cape Fear and Yadkin Valley railroad through our county (which was so long delayed) is now almost an accomplished fact, and will again make Fayetteville the chief market town of a large and productive portion of Chatham. A very valuable trade will undoubtedly now go there from this county, and the farmers of Chatham and the merchants of Fayetteville will resume the old pleasant relations that formerly existed between them.

We have not the space or time now to call special attention to each one of our advertisers, but cheerfully recommend them all to our readers and would earnestly urge them to give each and all a fair trial. When you go to Fayetteville inquire for the stores of those who have advertised in your county paper and give them the preference in your trading.

State News.

Winston Leader: A farmer in Stokes county was paralyzed recently, under rather startling circumstances. The weather had been unfavorable, and his crop fell far beneath what he anticipated. In his disappointment he cursed heaven and earth, and was fearfully profane; while rioting in his blasphemy he was paralyzed.

Newberne Journal: Mr. Andrew Hurst, of Onslow county, is probably possessed of the strongest voice of any man in this section. He formerly owned a colored man named Ben, who had a wife that lived four miles away on another farm, and when the weather was clear and calm Mr. Hurst would stand in his piazza and call Ben from the house of his wife with perfect ease.

Moore Gazette: At the N. C. Mill Stone Quarry, in this county, on Thursday the 11th inst., Mr. Dobson was engaged in charging a well for E. Grimes, esq., in which he was to excavated to blast, and been likely after turning off a blast, he went down in the well and soon called them to draw him up, and getting nearly up, he being so overcome by the foul air he fainted and falling back a depth of sixty or seventy feet, was instantly killed.

Wilson Advance: Early last Friday morning, Francis Eure, the thirteen year old daughter of Gilham Eure, of Stantonsburg, Nash county, fell into a well fifty feet deep and was killed in the fall.—A white man in Nash jail who was in for twelve months, paid the fine of a negro, who was in jail for costs, and the negro was released. Who ever heard of a similar case? A criminal pays another criminal's fine to have him released!

Asheboro Courier: The Cedar Falls Manufacturing Co. has received another carload of new machinery, which is now in and whizzing.—Moore county has two post offices oddly named. The name of one is Noisy, the name of the other is Quiet.—There was not a single delinquent tax payer in six townships of this county according to Sheriff McNeill's return from last year. The Courier ventures the assertion that there is not another county in the State that can make the same showing.

Concord Register: Last Friday a young man named Freeman, about 15 years old, was fearfully injured at the Factory. Freeman was putting on a belt on a carding machine when it lapped around the drum on the driving shaft; he attempted to jerk the belt loose but as the belt was making 250 revolutions to the minute, instead of jerking the belt loose, it jerked him up, whirled him around the shaft twice, breaking his arm in two places and his thigh. He was also severely cut and bruised about the head.

Danbury Reporter: One of the best informed citizens of Stokes county makes the assertion, and says he will stake his reputation on it, that within a radius of ten miles, taking Danbury as a center, may be found a greater variety of valuable minerals, as the oak, poplar and hickory timber, a many valuable mineral springs, waters of which possess different medicinal properties, as many sites for manufactories, with abundance of water coupled with as pure air and fine society, as any section of the same extent in the United States.

Asheville Citizen: We noticed the other day the telegraphic report of the sale of the Ducktown copper mines to an English company for $500,000. The report is confirmed, with the additional fact that a large force is to be put to work on a railroad to connect the mines with the E. T., Va. & Ga. railroad at Cleveland, Tenn., a distance of 40 miles.—Wolves are sufficiently numerous in Buncombe among the Black Mountains and in the Craggy range to be a serious pest. They abound in some parts of Mitchell, Yancey and McDowell and on both flanks of the Balsam, in Jackson and Haywood, and also in Transylvania. They are sufficiently numerous to make sheep husbandry in some parts more than problematical. Sometime their dens are hunted up, and the cubs killed, but they are rarely hunted down as game.

Morganton Mountaineer: Joe Allison, while hunting on Mrs. McRee's farm about three miles from town, run a rabbit into a decayed stump and while digging for it unearthed three gutta percha and one solid silver ring, also a silver watch and chain. This brings to mind a robbery, that was committed in town, over 25 years ago. A certain house in town was entered at night and these identical articles together with a large sum of money was stolen. The thieves were never detected and now after a lapse of 25 years a portion of the stolen goods are found hidden away in a corn field.

Clinton Caucassian: The telegraphic line between Clinton and Warsaw was completed a few days ago, but owing to some delay in fitting up the office at Warsaw, no messages have passed yet.—A male child was born in the county jail on the morning of September 27th. Its mother is Pleasant Holmes, colored, who is awaiting trial at the approaching term of the Superior Court on the charge of infanticide.—Great excitement prevailed in the western part of this county last week on account of mad dogs. There were a great many of them and they were very mad. One man had eleven dogs and seven of them went mad.

Toisnot Sunny Home: We have this week some good farming to report: Mr. Wiley Beland, who lives about two miles north of town informed us that he has made this year with one horse 12 bales of cotton and 35 barrels of corn. The horse that he made the crop with he bought three years ago for forty dollars.—It is remarkable to see the affection displayed for each other by a calf and pig owned by Mrs. Bart Bailey of this place. Whenever you see the calf you will see the pig also. They both start out to graze and when the pig becomes tired and filled, it lies down; the calf will feed around for a little and then it will go and lie down with the pig. They are fast friends and are never separated.

Fayetteville Observer: We are sorry to learn that Mr. John G. Shaw, of Seventy First township met with quite a loss by the burning of his turpentine still last week.—We learn that the gin house of Mr. John R. McDuffie in Seventy-First township, had a very narrow escape from fire on Friday night last. Accidentally a candle was overturned in the house in contact with cotton. A negro man in extinguishing the fire was badly burned.—One night last week Mr. Alderman Holland, living in Carver's Creek township, was attracted out of his house by the cries of a young puppy, and on going out he saw what he took to be a hog or dog fighting his puppy, he seized a pail of water and dashed it on them, the intruder ran off about twenty paces, and then started back and showed fight when Mr. Holland picked up a hoe and struck him across the head killing him instantly; he then got a light, and on examination found the supposed hog or dog to be a large fox. This is a queer but true story.

Clayton Bud: Mrs. Martha Gardner, of Clayton, the other day showed us a cartridge-box of Revolutionary fame. It is made of wood and hollowed to fit the waist. Its capacity is 23 cartridges, there being a separate hole for each, and it is perfectly sound. Mr. Aaron Hinton, grandfather of Mrs. Gardner, used it in the Revolutionary War.—On last Thursday, the 11th inst., two young men, Sidney Smith and James T. Giddens, were fishing in Swan pond, in Ingram's township, in this county. About four o'clock in the evening they moved off in an old frail boat, toward the place of landing. Young Smith was upon his knees at one end of the boat while Giddens stood upon his bare feet in the other end; and as he made a careless stroke with his paddle his feet slipped, the boat turned over and both young men were thrown into the water. Unfortunately, young Giddens could not swim. He cried out to his companion: "I can't swim—I can't swim," striking in the meantime his hands upon the water, by which efforts he managed for a short time to keep his head above the surface. The struggle was desperate, but was soon over. The stout young man yielded to his sad fate, and his body sank to the bottom in ten feet water.

News and Observer: Yesterday morning an assignment was made by the State Agricultural Society, as a matter of form, to secure it from a certain pressure and to avoid interference with its plans and operations, suit having been brought on a certain small claim. The assignment is to Leo. D. Heart, and is of all the receipts of the society from the fair just held, including cash in hand, checks, due bills and credits, and all credits of any kind due the society from the railroads and other parties for tickets or other purposes in trust, to hold and collect the same and when received to disburse them first in payment of premiums, expenses for conducting the fair the present year including salaries and rents to date, the surplus, if any, to be paid by him to W. G. Upchurch, D. G. Fowle, A. Corwith and R. F. Hoke, assignees and trustees of the several judgments heretofore obtained against the society.—Mr. Stevens, of Massachusetts, came to North Carolina with the members of the Press Convention week before last. He is a member of one of the largest real estate agencies in the New England States, and his purpose in coming here is to look at the State. Until the past day or two he has been in the eastern part of the State looking at lands. Yesterday he came here to have a conference with Governor Jarvis and Commissioner McGehee in regard to an arrangement for visiting various points in the State so as to see the many varieties of climate and soil.

Two farmers in Arkansas, between whom there was a grudge, accidentally met on a road, and one was killed on sight.

A treaty of peace between Chile and Peru has been signed.

The general convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church, at its present session in Philadelphia, has consented to the proposed division of the diocese of North Carolina.

Time to Stop It.

It's too bad, Sir or Madam, but don't get frightened. Your hair is falling off—that's certain. A glance in the mirror, or an investigating committee of fingers tell the dismal story. We won't discuss the possible cause. It is enough that Parker's Hair Balsam used now will prevent further destruction. Is your hair somewhat gray, too, and crisp? Alas, oes. The Balsam will give back the original color, softness and gloss. Not a dye, not oily, elegantly performed, a perfect dressing.
