Local Records.

—Do Not Delay Registering.

—There was a big frost yesterday morning.

—You have only until the 25th in which to register. Don't delay.

—Bynum & Headen pay the highest prices for your cotton and cotton seed.

—Best 13 per cent. phosphates at Bynum & Headen's only $1.25 cash or cotton seed.

—Be sure to tell all your neighbors that they must register before sunset on Saturday, the 25th of this month.

—Try the Syracuse chilled plows and harrows, they are the best made. Sold only by Bynum & Headen.

—Magistrates' and constables' tickets printed at The Record office at 25 cents a hundred. Send your orders at once.

—Don't go to Durham or Raleigh. Go to W. E. Hay, of Burlington, N. C., where you can save money on clothing, dress goods, shoes, hats and millinery.

—When you want dry goods or notions, ladies hats or anything in the ladies' furnishing department, you will find the newest and cheapest stock at Bynum & Headen's.

—There will be a total eclipse of the moon tonight (Thursday) from 12:19 o'clock to 1:13 o'clock. So if you will sit up until morning you can see this musical phenomenon.

—Men who have been getting office by the aid of ignorant negroes are now the most lonesome and hopeless of mortals. No wonder they so violently opposed the suffrage amendment.

—Mr. J. R. Weatherspoon, of Sanford, announces in this issue the opening of dry goods, clothing, boots, wraps and furs, and shoes for the feet, great values in every department. Mail orders solicited.

—W. E. Hay, of Burlington, N. C., will sell you 10 yds of calico for $1, boys' hats 19c, men's good suits $1.95, boys' suits $2.50 and up, ladies' jackets $1.98, capes 50c. Be sure to go and see his big stock.

—No white men in Chatham has been refused registration because he could not read and write, and yet the Fusion speakers two years ago declared that, if the amendment was adopted, it would disfranchise illiterate white men.

—Bynum & Headen keep the largest, cheapest and best stocked shoes to be found. The Queen shoes for women, and Craddock & Terry and Lewis shoes for men and boys cannot be beat. Ask to see their brogan shoe for 75c.

—A. Max, at Durham, has decided to retire from business and is selling out his mammoth stock of goods at and below cost. Rare bargains are now offered by him to wholesale and retail merchants and to all customers who will buy from him.

—It is utterly impossible for the Republican leaders in Chatham to get enough white men to take the place of their 1,200 disfranchised negro voters. They know that their efforts are useless and that Chatham is certain to give an overwhelming Democratic majority.

—Keep your feet dry by buying a good pair of shoes at W. L. London & Son's. They have the best and cheapest stock of shoes in the county. The best $1 woman's shoe you ever saw. Men's brogans, all qualities and prices. They also have the best fine shoes made, for men and ladies, that can be had.

—Nothing makes a lady look nicer than a becoming, stylish hat and you can find them at W. L. London & Son's millinery department. They are leaders in stylish goods, leaders in low prices, keep the best stock and have the best milliner. Come and see for yourself. You will make a mistake if you buy your hat without seeing their stock.

—A. Max is retiring from business and his large stock must go. Prices are such that it will make you jump with joy. No fake. Everything must go at rock bottom prices. This stock was bought when prices were lower than they now are and his customers are getting the benefit of it. You can get what you want at prices you never dreamed of.

—The county board of education met here on last Monday and accepted the resignation of Prof. J. L. Griffin, as superintendent of schools, and postponed the election of his successor until the second Monday in November. They also postponed until then the question of removing the school house from Moncure to Lockville, about which there is quite a controversy.

—Mr Henry Blount, of Wilson, will lecture at Siler City on the night of the 24th of this month. Admission 25 cents.

—Hon. E. W. Pou will speak at M. T. Kelly's, in Williams township, next Tuesday, the 21st; at Cole's store, Riggsbee township, on the 22nd and at Lockville on the 23rd.

—An old colored man in New Hope township, named Willis Byrd, has registered as a voter because he was a voter before 1835, when free negroes were disfranchised. We doubt if there is another such voter in the State. He will be ninety years old in December and is respected by all his white neighbors.

OUR CITIZEN DEAD.

We greatly regret to announce the death of our worthy fellow-citizen, Rev. John W. Heath. He died very suddenly at his home, about three miles from this place, on last Thursday afternoon. He had been in his usual health and as was his custom every afternoon he went to his room on last Thursday to lie down awhile. When supper was ready he did not appear, and he was found dead on his bed, lying as if he was quietly sleeping.

SENATORIAL.

[illegible]

[illegible]

They are estimated at from [illegible] on Wednesday night of last week by clerks [illegible] Republicans [illegible] not probably [illegible] the number not with [illegible]. Not a man from Chatham [illegible] and only two from [illegible], although yet about the [illegible] they are expected to come here to see our Chatham and Moncure candidates. Mr. Dixon's speech was completely knocked.

This secret way of nominating candidates is nothing new to the Republicans and is in striking contrast to the open way in which Democrats nominate their candidates.

AN AMUSING CONTRADICTION.

When Mr. R. H. Hayes, as chairman of the Democratic executive committee, attempted to arrange with Mr. J. A. Giles, as chairman of the Republican committee, for the joint canvass of the county candidates, Mr. Giles vigorously objected to the Democratic senatorial candidates speaking!

Ever since the oldest inhabitant can remember it has been the custom in Chatham for the candidates for the Senate to canvass the county in company with the other candidates. This was the custom when Alamance and Chatham were together in a senatorial district from 1880 to 1890 and no person made the slightest objection.

The excuse given for this ridiculous objection was that the Republican candidates (Moncure and Patterson) would probably not canvass. They have both been invited by their Democratic competitors (London and Spence) to meet meet them in the canvass and have the usual joint canvass. If they, realizing that there is no hope of their election, do not care to go to the useless expense and trouble of a canvass, that is no valid reason why the Democratic candidates should not canvass as has always been the custom.

It is needless to say that Mr. Giles objection did not and will not stop the Democratic senatorial candidates from speaking just as has ever been the custom in Chatham. He may, as the Republican "boss" in Chatham dictate to his own partisans but he cannot dictate to unterrified Democrats!

A SERIOUS ACCIDENT.

A terrible accident was narrowly escaped at Moncure on [illegible] Near noon four men, who had been at work on the [illegible] train a mile or two south of Moncure, started for Moncure on a handcar. Just as they had reached the railroad bridge across Deep River the south [illegible] [illegible] bridge. The bridge is in the form of a [illegible] and the men had to lie down between the ties and let the handcar pass over them. Had they been on the bridge they would have been killed or badly injured.

Correction by Judge Womack.

The following communication was sent us for publication in the Record and is here with published:

Chatham Citizen:

In your issue of Oct. 8, in an editorial, you criticise a statement you say I made in a speech at Smithfield, that the Democrats had to make good Major Martin's stolen bonds from the State Treasury. I said no such thing.

What I did say was that the platform adopted by the Democratic Convention declared that they [illegible] and that among the same [illegible] they would [illegible] the [illegible] and [illegible] where he got these figures.

At Smithfield I showed from the official records that [illegible] increase of receipts were derived from sources other than public taxes, such as [illegible] Martin. When the street railroad bondsmen paid their stolen [illegible] which had been [illegible] nearly two years without discovery, it was [illegible] Democrats [illegible] Mr. Lee's claim [illegible] with the amount [illegible] money, and which he paid back to the penitentiary from which the stolen [illegible] credited himself with it as having become paid out.

And yet the Republicans [illegible] your paper [illegible] this money on [illegible] and paid it out in extravagance. It is [illegible] wonder your paper criticises to distort and misrepresent my statements. I ask that you publish this statement in regard to what I did say.
