Miles Levine's Message

rent members must take the responsibility and initiative of recruiting new members if we are to survive financially and provide the quality of services and programs that our community deserves.

With regard to the Jewish community as a whole, two thoughts come to mind:

First, the 'J' must strive to provide more diverse programs and attract a greater segment of the Jewish community. There is no reason why only 50% of the Jewish community are members of this fantastic facility and we must do further studies and evaluations as to what type of programming we need to attract these other segments of the Jewish community.

Second, we need more dollars from the Jewish community. The 'J' must do its part to insure the success of Shalom Park and it is going to take dollars. And, of course, I am talking about the dollars that are raised by the Federation Campaign. We must continue to inform and make everyone knowledgeable that dollars collected by the Federation directly affect the strength and quality of the 'J' and our success directly strengthens the overall financial stability of Shalom Park. We must continue to assist the Federation in getting everyone to participate. As it stands now, the Federation is subsidizing each member of the 'J' in the amount of approximately $200 and the 'J' will probably need more dollars in the future. This issue is of primary importance to me, as it should be to everyone, and we must do all we can to strengthen our base now because in four years there will no longer be any caps on what the institutions are paying for the overhead of Shalom Park and the broader base in dollars we gain during the next several years will benefit us many times over down the road.

With regard to the Charlotte-Mecklenburg community as a whole, we should continue to reach out more to it and operate as a community center, but at the same time maintain our Jewish identity. We can not segregate ourselves and we must do more at a community-wide level, whether it is becoming more involved in community-wide programs, or self-sponsored programs such as the membership promotion we sponsored several weeks ago, or such as the Seder for NCNB that was sponsored by the Foundation. These types of programs have not only been very successful and appreciated by the participants, but they enhance our standing in the community at large.

The board certainly went beyond the call during the last two years and I know it has been a trying experience to operate one year without a facility and at the same time plan the first year in the new facility. Those on the board certainly deserve the highest of accolades for their devotion and commitment.

To Barry, the staff and office personnel, this certainly has to be one of the toughest places in the world to work and I know everyone has been overworked during the last nine months.

One purpose of Shalom Park was to consolidate resources for the entire community and make the services and programs offered by the institutions of a higher quality by consolidating those resources. I think this has been largely accomplished during our first year together in Shalom Park and I am sure this same spirit of cooperation will continue in the years to come.
