was harshly admonished. He was told that the "Protocols" are a racist and anti-Semitic falsification forbidden by law in Brazil and that distribution of the book must be stopped.

The Iranian diplomat said that the "Protocols" were genuine because they were "adopted by the First Zionist Congress in Basel" but promised, however, to stop their distribution.

TORONTO (JTA) — James Keegstra, the Alberta high school teacher appealing his conviction of promoting hatred against Jews, has been named interim leader of Canada's Social Credit Party. The party has included throughout its history a publicly anti-Semitic faction, with elements in opposition. Keegstra was elected by a majority of one vote. The Social Credit Party, formerly a power in Western Canada, now has no members in any provincial legislature or the federal parliament.

Keegstra was convicted in 1985 of anti-Semitic teachings. He also claims the Holocaust was a hoax.

BEERSHEVA (JTA) — New links may be established between Japanese industrialists and Ben Gurion University of the Negev if a Japanese professor has his way. Prof. Hideo Itokawa, one of the founders of Japan's aeronautical industry and a leading industrial consultant who led a group of 30 industrialists from Japan on a visit to Israel, expressed his intention after the group spent two days at Ben Gurion University.

LONDON (JTA) — Moran Kadosh, a four-year-old Israeli girl flown to England for a liver transplant in April, flew home in July after recovering from the operation which saved her life. Moran's case hit the headlines when passengers on the El Al jet bringing her to Britain spontaneously donated 4,500 Pounds Sterling to help her parents meet the cost of her treatment.

TEL AVIV (JTA) — Cancer afflicts 8,500 Israelis each year, and 5,150 Israelis die of it annually, according to Health Minister Shoshana Arbelli-Almoslino. She said 30 percent of the cancer deaths were the result of smoking. Breast cancer accounted for 28 percent of the cancer cases among women.

TEL AVIV (JTA) — Agudat Israel MK Avraham Shapira claimed that pornographic pictures were the cause of Israel's alarming highway accident rate and suggested that a day of fasting and prayer be declared to "appeal to God's mercy to stop the awful slaughter on the roads."

The pornographic pictures blamed by the Orthodox MK

are posters and billboards advertising swim suits or other items of female apparel considered "lewd" by some religious Jews.

NEW YORK (JTA) — An estimated 5,814 million Jews lived in the U.S. in 1986, approximately 2.5 percent of the general population. Metropolitan Boston's Jewish community grew the most, up 58,000 to 228,000. Orange County, up 20,000 to 80,000 Jews, and Houston, up 14,000 to 42,000.
