Movie Series

JANUARY 3, 1988 8, p.m.

George Ackerman and Leo Hoffman will present a skit by Sholom Aleichem and others.

Movie: Yiddish — "The Mame Loshn"

A comprehensive look at a unique and tenacious language and culture. The film features the comments of author Leo Rosten; actor Herschel Bernardi tracing the history of the language and its impact on common English usage. Through interviews, exer-cpts from Yiddish films, Yiddish poetry and music of the Klezmorim, the pleasures of Yiddish as language and culture are simply and memorably evoked.

MARCH 13, 1988, 8 p.m.

Movie: "The Fixer" — Based on the acclaimed novel by Bernard Malamud.

A dramatic story of a Jewish handyman in Czarist Russia who attempts to pass himself off as a gentile to avoid persecution.
The film follows his travail in prison to his demand for a trial where his predicament is seen as symbolic of all those who suffer the indignity of prejudice and injustice.

APRIL 10, 1988, 8 p.m.

Movie: "The Revolt Of Job" — 1984 Academy Award For Best
Foreign Film

Set in a little Hungarian village in 1943, the film tells the story of an elderly Jewish couple who adopt a small Catholic boy as their heir in an effort to pass on their wealth and knowledge before Nazi oppression consumes Hungary. This warm and loving film incorporates both humor and social observation as this wild child is tamed through the understanding and patience of the couple he comes to regard as his parents.

MAY 1, 1988, 7:30 p.m.

Movie: "The Brothers Karamazov"
Cast: Yul Brynner, Maria Schell, Claire Bloom, Lee J. Cobb, Richard Basehart, William Shatner, Albert Salmi.

An extremely vivid rendering of Dostoyevsky's immortal classic. The drama, concerning a premeditated act of patricide, unfolds through the fine performances of Brynner, Basehart and Shatner as the three very different and passionate sons.
