FIRE LAST NIGHT

At Plant of Georgia Pine Product Co.

From Thursday's Daily.

There was a great blaze last night, which lighted up the heavens from 9:30 until 5 o'clock this morning, and yet the damage done was not anything like as great as one would have supposed, who only saw the fire from a distance.

It was at the plant of the Georgia Pine Product Company, and the inflamable and very resinous material used in making the spirits accounts for the great flames and dense columns of smoke.

Dr. F. S. Clark, the principal owner, and manager of the plant, is away from the city, and the exact loss cannot be learned, but it is estimated at $5,000. There was no insurance.

The fire broke out at 9:30 o'clock in one of the great retorts in which the turpentine is extracted from the wood, and extended from one to the other, until the whole battery of retorts were aflame. The flames were practically confined to these retorts, with the exception of a several carloads of lightwood, which was placed near them ready for immediate use. Nearby was a pile of lightwood, probably 1,500 cords, but thanks to the Fire Department, this, together with all the buildings, a train of freight cars, and the big plant of Boone & Thain, and Bruton's cross-arm factory, which are situated within a few yards of the Pine Product Company's plant, were kept free of the flames. The Fire Department, which had to stretch a great quantity of hose, as the nearest hydrant is 1,800 feet away, did excellent service, and were on duty practically all night.

GRADUATING EXERCISES.

From Thursday's Daily.

Highsmith Hospital Nurses Receive Diplomas—Prof. Carlyle's Address—Reception, Etc.

The notable event of the week was the entertainment in the large and beautiful court-room last evening, on the occasion of the exercises of the graduating class of nurses of the Highsmith hospital, attended by a large gathering of the people of the city. The room was striking in its scenic effect, the speakers' stand framed in a wealth of floral adornment, with a background formed of the hospital monogram and the Clara Barton red cross, the graduate nurses making a charming picture in the centre.

The ushers, carrying swagger-sticks with the hospital colors, Dr. Tunstall, Dr. Jordan, Dr. J. R. Highsmith and Mr. Stiles Sedberry, escorted the speakers, clergymen and nurses down the middle aisle as follows: Miss Flippo, head nurse; Mrs. Moran, Misses Butler, McNeill, McGilvary, Watson, McDiarmid, Thames; graduates, Misses Kindler, Roberson, Sessoms, Misses Leitch and White being at the hospital on duty.

Dr. Seary Highsmith was master of ceremonies in the conduct of the programme, the exercises opening with prayer by Rev. Dr. J. J. Hall, pastor of the First Baptist church, followed by Prof. J. B. Carlyle in the address of the evening, very gracefully introduced by Hon. N. A. Sinclair. Prof. Carlyle spoke on "The Ministry of Medicine," and his effort was a matchless resume of the sciences of surgery and medicine from ancient times to the twentieth century, delivered with ease and fluency, and with a sympathetic earnestness that carried his delighted audience with him. Then came the presentation of diplomas by the superintendent, Dr. J. F. Highsmith, a gem of simple but classic diction.

Dr. Highsmith was followed by Mr. J. H. Myrover in a few remarks, who presented to the graduates the badge, of solid gold, richly chased and carved, and bearing the inscription, "nobis miseri et afflicti orbis terrarum;" also a beautiful pin, the gift of Miss Flippo, the head nurse, to Miss Sessoms, for the highest mark made during the course. Misses Kindley, Roberson, and Sessoms are cultured, charming young women, of fine families, who have hosts of friends in the community.

The exercises closed, after the presentation of profuse floral tributes to the graduates from their admirers, with the benediction by Rev. I. W. Hughes, rector of St. John's Episcopal church.

The music furnished during the evening was delightful and repeatedly encored—orchestral by Messrs. Remsburg, Eggleston, Edna and Silas Sheets; and vocal by Dr. J. R. Highsmith, Messrs. Robert McNeill, John S. Haigh and Lemoir Tillinghast, with Mrs. I. W. Hughes, an accomplished musician, at the piano, who arranged the quartette renditions of the evening with rare skill and taste. A reception was held after the exercises at the new nurses' home, the rooms thronged with handsomely dressed women and their escorts, and the decorations, the scheme color in white and blue, were very beautiful, emphasizing the faultless taste of Miss Flippo and her assistants.

Refreshments of salads, sandwiches, relishes, cakes, confections and fruits were served in the large west parlor, and in the nest parlor Miss Flippo presided over the punch-bowl with her assistants.

In the course of his address Prof. Carlyle paid a beautiful tribute to Mrs. Eva Cochran (which the large audience cheered and cheered again), the wealthy northern owner of "Myrtle Hill," a friend and benefactor wherever there be suffering, proofs of her munificence being the Cochran Annex of the hospital and the new nurses' home. In his remarks Mr. Sinclair congratulated Fayetteville on this splendid hospital, which had done such incalculable good over a wide area of patronage.

BEE'S LAXATIVE HONEY AND TAR
RELIEVES COUGHS AND COLDS

THE MARKET HOUSE, AGAIN.

To the Editor of The Observer:

The communication of Captain James D. McNeill, in your issue of this date, is couched in such courteous terms that I would be churlish indeed if I failed to acknowledge it as graciously as the circumstances will permit. I am sure that his motives and purposes are the best. Furtheranore, at the risk of conviction of promoting a mutual-admiration society, I will repeat what I have said more than once in the past—that if Fayetteville had a few more such citizens as Captain McNeill, it would soon become a city of the first importance.

Recurring to the Market House matter, and noting Captain McNeill's good-natured dismissal of the "suppose" (as he dubs them) in my first communication, I would remind him that the Fayetteville people, who he declares are "too prone to neglect doing things," will be most effectually estopped from "doing things" in connection with the Market House if his ten-year lease of it is allowed to stand as arranged. That is exactly the point I tried to make in my former article. The objection is not to the Women's Civic Improvement Association handling the property; it is to the making-over of it to anybody for a long period in the manner contemplated. The "suppose" were only suggestions of possible opportunities which might arise at any time for the advantageous disposal of this whole Market House tangle; but no opportunity, however propitious, could be embraced with the property tied up under a lease, and an unproductive lease, at that. Nor were the "suppose" so unsupposeable as the Captain seems to infer. As the neighboring cities of Greensboro, Charlotte and others now have Carnegie libraries, it is not at all impossible that one might be dropped in Fayetteville's lap; and where would be a more suitable location for it than the Market House site? As to the hypothetical Vance statue, it was only a few months ago that a well-to-do gentleman remarked to this writer that he would head a list with a liberal subscription to place such a memorial at that point.

Captain McNeill's communication is very plausible, but it carries no explanation of the source of the legal authority by which he and his colleagues propose to deprive the city without remuneration of the control of an important piece of its property; and I do not think he has changed the opinions of any of those who feel that the citizens should protect the city against the Board of Aldermen in this matter—to the extent of invoking the law if necessary.

Having been absent at the time, I do not now recall how Captain McNeill stood during "the late unpleasantness," when such a howl was raised at the very sensible suggestion that an effort be made to sell this Market House property to the Federal government at a good round sum as a site for the new public building; but, anyhow, perhaps he will circulate this enigma for me: If that proposition was then so unthinkable, and the property was so priceless, by what logic or process of reasoning is it that after an interval of only a few months—it having been, Captain McNeill declares, "the breeding place for rats, flies and vermin, and the loafing-place for idle 'bums,' where the blind tiger was frequently found wide awake in his lair"—by what logic is it, I ask, that this property has since, in so short a time, become so worthless, such a nuisance, such a white elephant that the only way now to get rid of it is to give it away?

John R. Myrover.

Young Durham Couple Married Here.

From Friday's Daily.

Mr. H. M. Lewis and Miss Eva Lumpard Paschall, two young folks who came from Durham to-day on the excursion, had hardly alighted from the train when they rushed to the court-house, got a marriage license and then hurried to the home of Rev. I. P. Smith where they were quickly married. They then telegraphed their parents in Durham of the fact, and are hoping with great terpidation for a happy response.

ROBBED ON THE TRAIN.

Four White Men Get $30.

From Friday's Daily.

Bill Smith, a white man of Hope Mills, was set upon and robbed of $30 in money by four white men said to be from Dunn, between Dunn and Fayetteville Monday afternoon.

Smith and the four men were drunk, as were several other passengers who witnessed the robbery. The four men were on their way to Fayetteville for the purpose of going on the boat excursion to Wilmington, and as the boat is expected to return to-day officers will be at the wharf to arrest them if they return on the boat.

Looked into it.

Facts and Figures of Raeford says: "A citizen of Fayetteville through The Observer called the attention of the city fathers to the fact that there was an ordinance against digging up the streets after June 1st, and asked them to 'look into it.' They all dropped by and 'looked into it'—the ditch 20 feet deep they are digging for sewer pipe on Hay street."

Weak Kidneys

Weak Kidneys, surely point to weak Kidney Nerves. The Kidneys, like the Heart, and the Stomach, find their weakness, not in the organ itself, but in the nerves that control and guide and strengthen them. Dr. Shoop's Restorative is a medicine specifically prepared to reach these controlling nerves. To doctor the Kidneys alone, is futile. It is a waste of time, and of money as well.

If your back aches or is weak, if the urine scalds, or is dark and strong, if you have symptoms of Bright's or other distressing or dangerous kidney disease, try Dr. Shoop's Restorative a month—Tablets or Liquid—and see what it can and will do for you. Druggist recommend and sell

SALE OF VALUABLE LAND FOR DIVISION.

Under and by virtue of a decree of the Superior Court of Cumberland County, in a special proceeding for the sale of lands for division among tenants in common therein pending, entitled, "J. R. Fisher, et al. vs. W. H. Culbreth, et al," the undersigned commissioner will sell at public auction, to the highest bidder for cash, four several tracts of land mentioned in said petition, bounded and described as follows, to-wit:

First Tract.—Known as "Old Homestead" tract, containing 200 acres in Beaver Dam township, situate on the east of Harrison's creek, adjoining the lands of the Rollins estate, the Haywood Fisher lands and the E. W. Bacon lands, being the same tract conveyed by Raeford Fisher to Mrs. Jeanette Fisher (who later married J. W. Brown, by deed duly recorded in Hoke county (prior to the annexation of Beaver Dam township to Cumberland county).

Second Tract.—Containing 110 acres, more or less, situate in Big Branch, in Beaver Dam township, adjoining the lands of N. C. Thagard, Gray lands, Janette Brown and Jessup lands, being lot No. — in the division of the lands of the estate of Raeford Fisher allotted to Mrs. Langdon V. Culbreth, wife of W. H. Culbreth, daughter and one of the heirs at law of said Raeford Fisher. See records of Cumberland county. Said lot being subsequently conveyed by Mrs. Culbreth and husband to Mrs. Janette Brown by deed.

Third Tract.—Containing about 232 acres, more or less, situate in Big Branch, Beaver Dam township, adjoining tract No. 2 above mentioned, also adjoining the lands of N. C. Thagard, J. McD. Jessup and A. B. Smith, being lot No. — allotted in the division of the lands of the estate of Raeford Fisher to Mrs. Janette Brown, a daughter and one of the heirs at law of said Raeford Fisher.

Fourth Tract.—Being an undivided nine-tenths interest in a small tract of land in Cedar Creek township, containing one-fourth acre with storehouse thereon.

Place of sale—Court House door, Fayetteville, N. C.

Date of Sale—July 15, 1907, at 12 o'clock M.

Sale made subject to confirmation of Court.

Dated this 14th day of June, 1907.

Tax Listing Notice

The law requires a new assessment of all property for taxation the present year.

Notice is therefore given that during the month of June, 1907, on the dates and at the places mentioned in the notices to be given by the Board of List Takers and Assessors of each township, every person owning property in Cumberland county is required to list, under oath, all the real and personal property, moneys, credits, investments in bonds, annuities, farm products, stocks of goods, etc., in his possession or under his control on the first day of June, 1907. Machinery Act of 1907. (Sec. 22.)

The list takers and assessors, and not the tax payer, must assess the value of all property, listed and unlisted. To aid them in doing so, they may examine the tax payer under oath; may summon other witnesses having knowledge of the facts and examine them in like manner; may send for persons and papers; may view the property, etc. (Secs. 12, 13, 14, 62.)

All property and subjects of taxation must be fairly assessed at their true value in money in such a manner as such property and subjects are usually sold, but not by forced sale thereof. (Secs. 13, 14, 14½.)

If any person liable to be charged with taxes shall wilfully refuse to answer any question respecting his property or refuse to sign or swear to his returns, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction shall be punished by a fine not exceeding fifty dollars or imprisonment not exceeding thirty days, and it shall be the duty of the list takers to have the offender prosecuted. (Sec. 62.)

If any person shall fail to list any bonds, notes, claims, or other evidences of debt subject to taxation, the same shall not be recoverable by suit. A penalty is also imposed for failure to list property. (Secs. 28, 73.)

When land and timber thereon is owned by different owners each must be listed separately, in the names of the respective owner thereof. (Sec. 25.)

Females, non-residents and persons physically disabled may list through agents; all others must list in person. (Sec. 24.)

Incomes and polls must be listed at the same time that other property is listed. (Secs. 26, 32.)

All property must be listed in June. All persons failing to list in June shall be liable to double tax, unless for good excuse relieved on or before the first Monday in October. (Sec. 73.)

Any person exchanging taxable for non-taxable property during the time of listing, not in good faith, but to evade the payment of taxes, is guilty of a misdemeanor under the law and subject to a heavy fine. (Sec. 23.)

The list takers and assessors are sworn officials. They must take an oath before entering upon their duty to perform the same according to law; and upon completing their work, they must further make an oath that the lists made up by them contain, to the best of their knowledge and belief, all the real and personal property assessed in their respective townships, which has been assessed at its true value in money. (Sec. 17.)

Penalties are imposed upon list takers and assessors who fail to perform their duty as required by law. (Sec. 83.)

The foregoing are some of the more important provisions of the new Machinery Act for 1907, governing taxation. Full copies of the law may be seen at the office of the Register of Deeds. List takers and assessors are entitled to a copy of same.

The county attorney is instructed to render any assistance necessary in construing and executing the provisions of the law, to the end that all property and other subjects of taxation may be placed upon the tax books of the county as the law requires.

By order of the Board,

H. LUTTERLOH, Chairman,
W. M. Walker, Clerk.
Board of Commissioners of Cumberland County.

Re-Sale of Sophia M. H. Riley Land.

Under and by virtue of a decree of the Superior Court of Cumberland county in a special proceeding therein pending and entitled "Wm. Riley, et al, vs. John B.
