petuate in stone her love for her sages and heroes. The day when the foot of the first Anglo-Saxon was placed upon American soil is known historically, but the spot where the colony of the great and splendid Raleigh landed is unmarked by a single memento. This genesis of the mightiest revelation in the history of nations, was upon North Carolina soil, yet we have left neglected both the time and place. The men of the Mecklenburg Declaration have as yet no commemoration Cross Creek and Moore's Creek are yet without a stone. The battle of the Regulators, where the first blood was shed for real liberty in America is unmarked and unsignified to the traveller. Davie and Davidson and Shelby, Severe, Cleveland, McDowell, Lillington, Harnett, Moore, all sleep in graves hallowed by patriotism, but unknown save only to private affection. We do not even sufficiently guard the traditions of their reputation, but leave incompetent or partial historians to slur their deeds or scandalize their memories. This criminal negligence continues to this day.

* * * * *

THERE IS HOPE YET.

But there is hope for North Carolina yet. Sixteen years before the birth of our Savior there was born in the forests of Germany a child who was called Arminius; or as the German the German peasants loved to term him, Herrman, prince of Cheusci. He conceived the idea of delivering his country from the Romans, then in the zenith of their power Not far from the time when our Savior was teaching on the shores of the Gallilee and healing the sick, this patriotic German decoyed a Roman Army into the morasses of his native country and slaughtered it with such an overwhelming slaughter as rendered it impossible for the great Augustus ever again to reconquer his country. Nineteen hundred years thereafter the German people erected a statue in his honor. His example demonstrates that there is gratitude in mankind, though the proof was undoubtedly slow in coming. I trust that the people of North Carolina will not wait so long to do honor to those who served them and died for them in their hour of need.

STRAY BITS OF LIFE,

As Pictured by the Press.

Even a small barber may be called a strapping fellow.

The careless servant is a great piece-maker in the household.

"Riches take unto themselves wings and fly away," said the teacher. "What kind of riches is meant?" And the smart boy said he "reckoned they must be ostriches."

Roseleaf: "This is the very day to ask papa's consent, Arthur." Arthur: "Why? Is he in a good humor?" Bertha: "No, he's frantic over my dressmaker's bill, and will let you take me off his hands at once."

Loseyboy: "Ah, there you are kissing your poodle again, Miss Travis. Why can't you distribute your favors?" Miss Travis (archly): "Because, Mr. Poseyboy, there is such a difference in puppies."—Burlington Free Press.

HOUSEHOLD NOTES.

If salt is sprinkled around the the edges of a carpet when on the floor, it will keep away moths.

Silk must never be ironed, as the heat takes all life out of it, and makes it seem stringy and flabby; but if you wish to press out old bits of silk and ribbon for fancy work, use an iron only moderately hot and place two thicknesses of paper between that and the silk.—North Carolina Farmer.

To cure a felon, fill a tumbler with equal parts of fine salt and ice; mix well. Sink the finger in the centre and allow it to remain until it is nerly frozen and numb, then withdraw it, and when sensation is restored renew the operation four or five times, when it will be found the disease will be destroyed. This must be done before puss is formed.

"A New Nork physician says excessive gum chewing ruins the evesight, makes the face wrinkled, and brings on chronic dyspepsia."

Is not this enough to make make girls quit it?

Give More Thought to Dress.

Too often does life degenerate into mere animal existence Home is obliterated or becomes simply a place where a man and a woman and an indefinite number of children eat and sleep. This condition is by no means a necessary accompaniment of farm life, and while I would not hold the wife and mother wholly responsible, it exists, I do affirm that a woman of tact and sense can do much towards preventing it. The home is the woman's realm, and she can make it largely what she pleases, and while dress and personal appearance are not all, they are much—so much that fifteen minutes a day spent in their intelligent will pay heavier dividends in comfort and happiness than almost any other fifteen minutes in the day.—Ohio Farmer.

SOME OF THE THINGS EDITORS HAVE TO DO.

No Wonder They Make Mistakes.

[From the Sauk Rapids (Minn.) Sentinel.]

We apologize for mistakes made in all former issues and say they were inexcusable, as all an editor has to do is to hunt news, and clean the rollers, and set type, and sweep the floor, and pen short items, and fold papers, and write wrappers, and make the paste, and mail the papers, and talk to visitors, and distribute type, and carry water, and saw wood, and read the proofs, and correct the mistakes, and hunt the shears to write editorials, and dodge the bills, and dun delinquents, and take cussings from the whole force, and tell our subscribers that we need money. We say that we've no business to make mistakes while attending to these little matters, and getting our living on gopher-tail soup, flavored with imagination, and wearing old shoes and collar, and a patch on our pants, obliged to turn a smiling countenance to the man who tells us our paper isn't worth $2 anyhow, and that he could make a better one with his eyes shut.

Some of the above troubles do not apply to us, notwithstanding our leanness, though we have many things to contend with not mentioned above.

CONSUMPTION SURELY CURED.

TO THE EDITOR—Please inform your readers that I have a positive remedy for the above named disease. By its timely use thousands of hopeless cases have been permanently cured. I shall be glad to send two bottles of my remedy FREE to any of your readers who have consumption if they will send me their express and post office address. Respectfully,

I STILL LEAD IN THE POPULAR MOVE
To Put Prices Down.

If you question this statement, drop in and see my 10 and 25 cent Scarfs, 50 cent Shirts, 10 and 25 cent Suspenders, worth double the amounts.

I have bought thirty-five cases of Straw, Fur and Wool Hats direct from the manufacturers. I can sell you a single Hat for less than I would have had to pay had I only bought one or two dozen of a kind.

Now I must say a word for our Clothing Department Every nook and corner is filled. I have not forgotten the little Boys; have Suits from $1.00 up. Come and see me and I will make it pleasant for you.

M. HANSTEIN,
King Hatter and Clothier.

No Foolishness!
WAR! WAR!

The war against my competitors has began in earnest and my customers are getting the benefit of it.

It is an Acknowledged Fact

That the best way to make money is to save it, and I intend to prove conclusively that the best way to save it is to deposit it in my establishment, and for every dollar deposited I will give in good honest goods

ONE DOLLAR AND FIFTY CENTS.

My Stock is complete in every Department, comprising Dry Goods, Boots and Shoes, Trunks, Valises and Clothing.

The stock is all new, every article is warranted and satisfaction guaranteed to everybody.

The Goods must go, and the money is bound to come, therefore and reasonable offer will be accepted, no matter how low it is.

When you come to Clinton be sure and visit my store first and obtain my prices before you purchase anything elsewhere.

JUST LOOK AT THIS LADIES! I have 20 pieces of all Wool Cashmeres, in Black and every imaginable color, the regular price being $1.00 a yard, I am slaughtering at only 60 cents. Remember that the width of these goods is 40 inches. It will handsomly pay you for your trouble to come and examine these goods.

NEW BARBER SHOP.

When you wish an easy shave,
As good as barber ever gave,
Just call on me at my saloon
At morning, eve or noon;
I cut and dress the hair with grace,
To suit the contour of the face.
My room is neat and towels clean,
Scissors sharp and razors keen,
And everything I think you'll find;
To suit the face and please the mind,
And all my art and skill can do
If you just call, I'll do for you.

PAUL SHERARD,
The Clinton Barber.

I CURE FITS!

When I say CURE I do not mean merely to stop them for a time, and then have them return again. I MEAN A RADICAL CURE. I have made the disease of

FITS, EPILEPSY or FALLING SICKNESS,

A life-long study. I WARRANT my remedy to CURE the worst cases. Because others have failed is no reason for not now receiving a cure. Send at once for a treatise and a FREE BOTTLE of my INFALLIBLE REMEDY. Give Express and Post Office. It costs you nothing for a trial, and it will cure you. Address
