BEWARE OF IMITATIONS

The best proof of the world that an article is of sterling worth is the fact that it is imitated. Figures of speech often fail. But we set at defiance cart loads of so-called imitations. We have the exclusive sale of them. We hate that some home competitors have been selling goods and calling them Tiji. Beware of imitations. None are genuine unless they bear a peculiar trade mark which we will show you if you call. Don't take my word for anything this time. Tiji will interest, big bell of cotton exclusively on the cotton bell and Tiji Knight, printed just above the turned cotton bell. If any one offers you Tiji be sure and ask to see the label. Every piece has one. Other labels on it. They may tell you that the label is torn off but that don't go now. We have exclusively of these goods in Charlotte. Don't let anyone fool you. Come to us and see the genuine and then see if they can fool you. Once you see the goods and the real Tiji you'll know them.

THERE'S A MOVEMENT ON FOOT

and it's the right kind of a movement if it happens to be made in our stylish and perfect fitting shoes. The shoe that is handsomer has yet to be made, the shoe that is better can't be made and the shoe that costs less wouldn't be worth buying at any price. They are as much of a luxury for the pocket-book as they are for the feet. It doesn't give us a bit more satisfaction to sell them than they give to the wearer, for, when anything better in footwear can be offered for the money, it will be about time to look for the millenium. A large stock of Hats and Umbrellas, Trunks, Valises and Handbags at lowest prices.

The proprietor of the place was absent but Mr. Black and Mr. Reed wisely concluded to hide at a convenient spot and await developments. Pretty soon the somewhat famed Marbury Sims, a negro who only recently worked out his time on the Mecklenburg chain gang, stumbled up and entered the den. [illegible] hurried to the entrance and collared him. Sims did not seem surprised at sorts of stolen articles in the place, hardware and groceries, and he admitted having stolen them from merchants in Union county. Sims implicated Jim Robertson, a negro who recently escaped from the Mecklenburg chain gang. Robertson, he says, was his partner in the robberies. Sims is now in jail at Monroe.

Death of An Aged Lady.

THE NEWS' correspondent at Harrisburg writes this morning: Mrs. Tirzah Parks died this afternoon at the advanced age of eighty-four years and one month. She had been in feeble health for several months, and the sudden illness of twenty-four hours preceding her death was not unexpected.

In Mrs. Parks's death, Rocky river has lost one of her treasured landmarks, and there is but one or two of her generation left to link the present with the past. She was a woman of more than ordinary intellect and force of character, with a kind heart and cordiality of manner that attracted, especially the young. She held fast to the end the affection and esteem of this whole community; and the tender affection shown by her children and grandchildren made her old days cheerful and happy, and was a beautiful tribute to her character as a mother.

Curing Drunkards in Charlotte.

Dr. Greene's Institute for the cure of drunkenness is getting a right good foothold in Charlotte. Dr. Greene uses the Hoskinger treatment which he claims is milder and more effective than the Keeley cure. He has so far only two patients, clockmaker Hodges and Zeb Andrews. Hodges has been taking the treatment for two weeks and is one of the happiest men in Charlotte. To-day himself he undertook to swallow a drink of whiskey yesterday but failed upon it. He could not swallow it. It tasted worse than any thing he ever tried, said Hodges to the reporter. Zeb Andrews is a new patient but he is already cured against "the critter." Dr. Greene's treatment is undertaken by a gentleman and in time he will open a large place in Charlotte. He has a number of testimonials from prominent citizens who have submitted to the Hoskinger treatment and they are in the language of highest praise. One from a prominent lawyer of Frankfort Ind., is especially strong in showing the efficacy of the treatment.
