

Be a Part of the 40th Anniversary of Israel

Unique Opportunity to Explore Israel in Depth

Meet with professionals, kibbutzniks, soldiers, government officials. See the achievements of Israel's high technology research. Witness ancient and contemporary history as they come together. Share the successes of Project Renewal neighborhoods and absorption centers. Experience the warmth and excitement. The miracle of Israel. Join us on a mission to Israel this summer. Be a part of the 40th anniversary celebration.

There are several opportunities planned for the summer:

UJA NATIONAL HATIKVA SINGLES MISSIONS

Poland Pre Mission:	Mission I	Mission II
For Repeats Only:	July 13-18	July 27-Aug. 1
Israel Basic Mission (open)	July 17-27	July 31-Aug. 10

STUDENT SUMMER PROGRAM:

A superb opportunity for college students. This mission offers an unparalleled opportunity to explore the remnants of Eastern European Jewish communities and Israel.

WHEN: July 17-August 12, 1988

SUMMER FAMILY MISSIONS

A series of special missions created to enable parents, grandparents and children to fully explore together life in the Jewish homeland.

WHEN: June 26-July 6
July 10-July 20

Each mission offers a most meaningful and unique way to truly see Israel. For further information concerning cost, extensions or additional information contact Vicki Hopkins at the Federation office, 366-5007.

Lehava, World Youth Assembly, Meets in July

"This is the most incredible experience of my life. I can't wait until next summer because I want to go on this program again."

—1987 Lehava Participant

Lehava, the World Youth Assembly, being held July 11-31, 1988, is a unique gathering of American and Israeli youth who spend quality time in dialogue about the future of the Jewish world — Israeli/Diaspora relations, religious pluralism, Zionism and aliyah. These young people, who represent a cross section of Jewish understandings and backgrounds, come together to form common bonds with their counterparts on both sides of the ocean. It is an unusual experience for any group of Jews to share their frustrations, visions, apprehensions and cultural diversities, but for teenagers it is also a real mitzvah — for, in their optimism, they are candid with and tolerant of each other. Friendships established at the Youth Assembly will last a lifetime.

Lehava is open to qualified young people who have completed 10th, 11th or 12th grade and have been to Israel on at least one prior trip. The cost will be approximately $1,650 inclusive from New York.

Programmatically, the Assembly deals with key Israel/Diaspora issues through informal discussion groups, panels, lectures and person-to-person experiences. The delegates to Lehava III will be invited to play an active role in determining the Assembly program for 1988, at regional meetings being scheduled later in the year.

Some touring is included in the three-week period, although it is not the main thrust of the gathering. The experiences of last year's Assembly ranged from meeting Amnon Halivni, one of the pilots in the Entebbe rescue mission, to planning and sharing a Kabbalat Shabbat, to spending an afternoon in a Druse Village and an evening at a Project Renewal neighborhood. This year on Israel's 40th anniversary Lehava delegates will focus on the events surrounding the creation of the State. Needless to say, fun is a primary factor in any teen's summer plans, and there is certainly an abundance of that at Lehava — an unforgettable disco boat ride on the Kinneret, hiking in Har Sdom and several evenings sleeping under the stars. As at past Youth Assemblies, the Americans will enjoy wonderful weekends of hospitality at the homes of their Israeli peers. The close interaction that is established between the two groups enables the American delegates to see an Israel usually only reserved for Israelis. The home base for the Assembly is a youth village; kashrut is strictly observed.

The North American Jewish Forum, the Israeli Forum and the United Jewish Appeal are the conveners of this Assembly. It is our intention that tomorrow's Jewish leaders be offered an opportunity for social and cultural interaction so that they can create a unified community for our people wherever they live.

Israel will take on new meaning for your teenager. Let Lehava be a part of his/her life.

Study in Israel

High school students (10th, 11th and 12th graders) have a unique opportunity to attend high school in Israel with the Youth Aliyah American-Israel High School study program. Participants will:

- Study in a program designed for American students.
- Receive full high school credit for the year.
- Tour Israel.
- Meet Israeli families and Israeli students.
- Learn Hebrew and Judaic studies.

- Enjoy many extracurricular activities.

Under the aegis of the Israel Ministry of Education, the program is supervised and certified by the Ministry of Education. Supervisors are experts in the American secondary school system and teachers are accredited high school teachers.

Please contact Eleanor Weinglass, 366-5007, for more information.
