Federal Employees Exceed State-Local Total in 9 States

In nine of the 48 states there are more federal employees than there are employees of the state and local governments combined, the Henderson Chamber of Commerce has learned. In 25 states the federal payroll exceeds that of state and local governments, and in the United States as a whole the federal payroll exceeds that of state and local government payrolls by approximately $40,000,000.

In North Carolina, although there are approximately 25,000 Federal employees as against 66,000 state and local employees of government, the federal payroll approximates $4,[illegible] annually while the state and local government payroll combined approximate $[illegible].

Virginia, Maryland, South Carolina, Washington, Texas, Rhode Island, Massachusetts, Georgia and Pennsylvania each have more federal employees than are employed in the operation of their respective state and local governments. In Washington, D. C., as could be expected, there are approximately 20 federal employees for each employee of the District government.

Business Men Predominate On Unified Hospital Board

Daily Dispatch Bureau,
In the Sir Walter Hotel.
By LYNN NISBET

Raleigh, July 9.—With possible exception of the State board of education which was named three months ago there was more general interest in the unified board of control for State mental institutions than in any other board appointments to be made by Governor Broughton under 1943 statutes.

Personnel of the board as announced Thursday held some surprises. It includes only one member of the investigating committee which last year went thoroughly into the Morganton situation and whose recommendations were embodied in the statute authorizing a control board for all institutions. That is Dr. Wingate M. Johnson of Winston-Salem.

It is interesting to note that business men predominate in the appointive membership, seven of the 15 being so classed. Further broken down they include three merchants, two merchant-farmers, one banker and one bonded warehouse operator. There are four doctors, one lawyer and three women.

Twelve of the 15 were carried over from the separate boards which have served the four institutions in the past—six from the Raleigh hospital board, four from Morganton and one each from Kinston and Goldsboro. No Negro was named on the board, but the governor stated he would ask the board to appoint an advisory committee of Negroes to consult with the board on matters affecting the Negro hospital at Goldsboro.

The board will meet in the governor's office Friday, July 16, to be sworn in. In addition to the 15 appointive members the statute names the secretary of the State board of health, currently Dr. Carl V. Reynolds, as ex officio member. The board also must appoint a full time business manager and a full time psychiatrist as superintendent of mental hygiene.

The statute required appointment of four men and one woman from eastern, middle and western parts of the state, and provided for staggered appointment of one to five years, with all subsequent appointments for five-year terms. These restrictions complicated selection of the members, and in observing them the governor was forced to adopt his own dividing lines. In so doing he placed Red Springs and Clayton in the middle area. Significance of the five-year appointments lies in the fact that the only group at which Governor Broughton will have another chance. All other terms will expire after he leaves office. The terms for so arranged that one member from each area will be replaced every year.

The new board is composed of the following, the first name in instance representing the east, the second name the middle and the last the western area:

One year terms: C. Wayland Spruill of Windsor, Dr. Charles G. Poindexter of Greenville and Harry L. Riddle of Mocksville.

Two years: Mrs. Rivers D. Johnson of Wilson, Dr. Roscoe D. McMillan of Red Springs, and J. H. Beall of Lenoir.

Three years: W. A. Dees of Goldsboro, Mrs. W. R. Stanford of Durham and Dr. Wingate M. Johnson of Winston-Salem.

Four years: Leonard E. Oettinger of Kinston, J. Dwight Barbour of Clayton and Mrs. Andrew Blair of Charlotte.

Five years: W. G. Clark of Tarboro, N. E. Edgerton of Raleigh and Dr. R. H. Crawford of Rutherfordton.

The doctors and the women carry their own designations. Beall is a banker; Dees a lawyer; Edgerton a warehouseman; Clark and Spruill are supply merchants and large farmers and are the only legislators in the group. Riddle, Oettinger and Barbour are merchants.

Spruill, Mrs. Johnson, Dr. McMillan, Barbour, Clark and Edgerton former members of the Raleigh hospital board, and Mrs. Stanford is the wife of a former member. Dr. Poindexter, Dees, Crawford, Riddle and Beall are carried over from the Morganton board. Dees has served for years on the Goldsboro board and Oettinger on the Kinston board.

Legislation pursuant to which this board was constituted came as result of recommendations made by a special committee appointed nearly two years ago by Governor Broughton to investigate conditions at Morganton, following a series of newspaper articles by Tom Jimison alleging gross negligence and incompetence. The committee was headed by former Judge Marshall T. Spears of Durham, and included L. C. Gifford, Hickory editor; Word H. Woon, Charlotte banker; Dr. Wingate M. Johnson, Winston-Salem physician, and Mrs. E. L. McKee, civic leader and legislator.

The committee held meetings at Morganton and elsewhere, went very thoroughly into the whole subject of mental care, and rendered a report to the governor and the General Assembly regarded as one of the ablest "state papers" appearing in this state in years. The report failed to substantiate many of the charges brought by Jimison, but did disclose conditions sorely needing attention. Governor Broughton moved immediately to effectuate as many recommendation as could be done without legislation and asked the assembly to provide the rest. The legislature obliged, not only with the unified board but with substantially larger appropriations for all phases of operations.

"Too many pigs" are in prospect. With the outlook for feeds in the U. S. described as poor, the fall pig crop will probably be 15 per cent greater than last year, if present plans are followed.
