Charlotte Chapter BBW

BBW volunteers helped with the scoring and cheered from the sidelines at the Senior Games bowling tournament held on May 6 at Park Lanes.

The last Alive class of the series, "Moral, Ethics and Attitudes," was held May 19 at Shalom Park. Dr. Walter Feldman, a legal-medical professional and clinical director of child and adolescent psychology at Mecklenburg Mental Health, was the speaker. This was also the chapter's May general meeting. It was followed by a social hour and delicatessen brunch.

The 1988 Biennial Convention, a 4-day event, held at the Fountainebleau-Hilton Hotel, Miami Beach, was attended by chapter members, Beth Linderman, Jody Pinion, Joan Gordon, Susan Bruck, Terri Cathcart and Vicki Hopkins. Charlotte Chapter received 13 awards at the awards banquet. They included two "1st in Region" - best Bulletin and best comprehensive service program by a chapter. Both will go on to the national competition.

Our members will be serving as volunteers at the Children's Miracle Network Telethon on June 5 at Carowinds. They will "man" the phones, act as hostesses in the VIP suite, and sell telethon t-shirts.

The picnic for Seniors will be held at Mickey Waldman's home on June 16.

All ads for the "Community Calendar" must be in by June 30. The member selling the most ads will receive a special gift.

BBW has innovative and affordable insurance plans designed to protect you and your family from extraordinary health care costs. For information call Jody Pinion, 821-6811.

Madans Installed President of Hadassah

Charlotte Hadassah officially installed Audrey Madans as our 1988-89 President on May 18 at a luncheon held at Rain-tree Country Club.

Audrey Madans, a native of Malden, Massachusetts, lived in Charlotte for 12 years before moving to Salisbury where she resided for 15 years. While in Charlotte, prior to moving, Audrey was President of Temple Israel Sisterhood (1960-62) and Hadassah VP Education. Her activities in Salisbury included being president of the following: Temple Israel Sisterhood (1972-1974), president of Temple Israel (late '70s), Salisbury-Rowan Choral Society, United Arts Council of Rowan County, Friends of Library of Rowan County. The past few years Audrey has been president of the N.C. Association of Jewish Women, member of Executive

Audrey Madans

Board and regular Board of the Blumenthal Jewish Home.

Audrey returned to Charlotte about two years ago and is presently on the board of Temple Israel. She has also served on the Mecklenburg County Nursing Home Advisory Committee. Audrey served as chairman of the ground breaking ceremony and cochairman of the dedication of Fair Oaks, the new facility at the Blumenthal Home. Audrey is married to Jerry Madans and they have two adult children and three grandchildren.

The following officers for 1988-89 were installed: President-Elect, Diane Schwartz; VP Fundraising, Deane Boxer; VPs Membership, Linda Gottlieb and Lynda White; VP Education, Margie Goldstein; VPs Communication, Marla Brodsky and Evelyn Osborne; Corresponding Secretary, Meryl Purvis; Recording Secretary, Pearl Kier; Financial Secretary, Linda Segal; Treasurer, Lillian Bienstock.

Jewish Teachers Receive CAJE Awards

The Carolina Agency for Jewish Education in Charlotte announces the 8 outstanding Jewish teachers who have won prizes in the 1987-88 "Creative Project of the Year" award competition. Sponsored by CAJE to reward the most successful teacher-generated classroom projects produced during the school year among the CAJE network of religious schools, the contest created a lively and varied challenge.

Criteria for judging included: Judaic content, adaptability, age-appropriateness, completeness, presentation and, of course, creativity.

The cash prize winners are:

FIRST PLACE
Judith Carle
Charleston, SC
"The Golem—a creative slide program project"

SECOND PLACE
Stanley Nelson
Ahavath Scholom Religious School, Bluefield, W.VA
"Tu B'shevat Tree Bank Project"

THIRD PLACE (tie)
Wendy Rosen
Temple Israel Preschool Charlotte, NC
"Preschool Construction Paper Kippah Project"

THIRD PLACE (tie)
Maurice Galoob
Temple B'nai Israel Religious School Oklahoma City, OK
"Purim Screen Play Video Project"

Honorable mention awards were given to:

Tami Bernat

Patti Weisman
Temple Israel Preschool Charlotte, NC
"Preschool Tu B'shevat Fruit Tree Project"

Carol Burgess
Beth Meyer Religious School Raleigh, NC
"Keeping Sane While Teaching Hebrew: Easy Creative Classroom Ideas"

Each teacher who competed received a custom-designed certificate in recognition of his/her significant work. In Charlotte, the prizes and certificates were awarded at the end-of-the-year religious school assemblies of the respective teachers' schools.

All project winners will have their entries published in future issues of the CAJE Page, the newsletter of the Carolina Agency for Jewish Education, which is distributed nation-wide.

A special thank you goes to our thoughtful judges, Ruth Goldberg, Roberta Malickson and Beverly Montezinos.

CAJE, a project of the NC Association of Jewish Men, the Blumenthal Foundation, and member-supported, is located at Temple Beth El V'Shalom, 1727 Providence Road, Charlotte, NC 28207, (704) 366-1948. The CAJE center will be open by appointment through the summer months.
