DR. QUICKEL SUES CITY FOR $1,000 DAMAGES

Alleges Damage to His Residence Property on South Street.

Dr. T. C. Quickel recently entered suit against the City of Gastonia for $1,000 damages which, he alleges, he sustained to his property at the corner of Fourth avenue and South street on July 16th last year when the South street culvert overflowed during a heavy rain. It is understood that the plaintiff's contention is that the culvert constructed by the city was not large enough to carry the water and that, as a result, he suffered damage.

City Attorney P. W. Garland filed his reply to the complaint with S. C. Hendricks, clerk of the superior court, today. It is understood that the city contends that the culvert in question is sufficiently large to take care of all natural water flow in that direction and that the rain of July 16, 1920, was an unusual and abnormal rainfall.

The bill of complaint and the city's reply thereto, it is understood, contain other specifications but the chief question at issue is as to whether the culvert in question is large enough.

In 1915 Dr. Quickel instituted a similar suit against the city. After being in the courts for some time, it was compromised.

They Appeal to Our Sympathies.
