REPUBLICANS DELAY FARM BILL IN HOUSE

Washington, Feb. 8.—The revised farm bill, which administration leaders hope to dispose of by late tomorrow, was delayed in the house today when Rep. Lambertson (R.-Kans.) forced a quorum call.

The majority leaders, who are bent on passing the legislation as soon as possible, said they expected other roll calls would be demanded by those members who dislike the five-hour limitation on farm bill debate.

In the upper house, Senator Pittman (D.-Nev.) read to the assembly a note from Secretary of State Hull denying the United States had any alliance with Great Britain "relating to war or the possibility of war." The secretary also stated that this country was not bound by any agreement to any power in connection with naval operations.

Senator Guffey (D.-Pa.) chastised the southern senatorial bloc for holding up the anti-lynching bill. He said that the southerners "flatly refused to allow the American people, even though they be in the majority, to express their will on this all absorbing subject of lynching."

WILL OSBORNE TO PRESENT CONCERT

Entertainment Will Be Held Saturday

Will Osborne, whose orchestra will present the music for the mid-winter dances next week-end, has arranged to present a special jazz concert in Hill Music hall on Saturday afternoon from 2 to 3 o'clock, it is announced by Morris Fitts, treasurer of the German club which is sponsoring the event.

An admission fee of 25 cents will be charged to cover expenses.

Bids Limited

The concert was arranged chiefly because the bids to the mid-winters have been limited, and many persons who desire to hear Osborne and his band would not have the chance otherwise.

Creator of the famous slide music, Osborne has been conducting his present orchestra since 1924. He has done much to popularize the soft smooth rhythm which has become universally popular today.

Spelt Names Studio Year's Best Boondoggling Project

To Present Campus Program

Former Operator Aims At Lack Of Definite Radio Plans

Expense Estimated

By Bob Perkins

Citing as his chief objection to the "student radio studio" project the lack of any definitely stated plans, D. K. Spelt, psychology instructor at the University, last night called it the best boondoggling project of the current season.

Spelt, who was connected with a Philadelphia studio for over a year in a full time capacity, stated that the absence of any definitely formulated agreement with any radio station about the number of hours each week that programs originating on this campus will be picked up, was one of the many examples of incompleteness in the program which should be cleared before the student body is asked to make a final decision.

Pick-Up Point

"It should be kept in mind that we will not have a radio station here, but a studio which will serve as a remote control pick-up point for any broadcasting station which chooses to cooperate with us," he said.

"Therefore, there should be some definite written agreements with those studios with whom cooperation is expected before placing $4,000 into something which will be useless without cooperation."

Hogan's Budget

Milton Hogan, in presenting his budget before the Publications Union board, has asked for $4,000 for installation and for $400 a year operating expense. It has been stated that the studios which will use the programs will pay the landline expenses.

"The majority of landline expenses, which the broadcasting studios pay, are for exceptional features, such as those which have gone out in the past from Carolina," Spelt said. "The question arises, will the studios be interested in defraying expenses over a long period of time for the ordinary run of programs."

Expenses Cited

Flint, commerce manager of the Raleigh division of the Southern Bell telephone and Wolfe in Durham cite the following expenses which would have to be met in order to run a land wire

PU Board States Present Status Of Campus Studio

Statement of the Publications Union board in regard to the proposed student radio station:

Mr. Milton Hogan, speaking for a group of students, has met with the Publications Union board several times during the past three months and has asked the board to finance and set up the organization for operating a student radio studio. According to Mr. Hogan's budget, such a studio would cost approximately $4,000 to install and $400 a year to operate.

Right To Establish Studio

The board feels that it has the right, under its constitution, to establish such a studio with the status of a fifth publication when and if there is sufficient campus support of and enthusiasm for the project. When the Buccaneer was established under the board, there is no record of a student vote on the issue.

To determine the extent of campus demand for the radio studio, the board has asked the student council to hold a vote on February 24. The council has agreed to do so. It is to be understood that this is not an official election and will not constitute a mandate of the union. It is simply an opportunity for the proponents and opponents of the studio to show their relative strengths. The results of this election will be used by the board as a basis of deciding upon the advisability of setting up the
