KEPT RECORD OF ADMIRERS

Indianapolis Girl Conducted Her Love Affairs on a Basis That Was Strictly Business.

Now Betty is an Indianapolis stenographer with many man admirers and she shares her experiences with them to the other girls in the office. They often wonder how she remembers all of them and doesn't mix them up. The other day they discovered her method.

Breathlessly she rushed in from lunch. "Oh, girls," she began. "I met an old beau of mine today. I hadn't seen him for two years. He was so handsome and prosperous looking I just wanted him back again," she giggled. "And do you know I had forgotten his name."

Some one asked her whether she told him so. "Oh, no," she returned, "that would have ruined everything. I'm to see him tomorrow. Tonight I'll hunt up his photograph. When I put it away I wrote his name on it. Oh, I'll be ready for him tomorrow."—Indianapolis News.

Ship Canal Across Scotland.

The project for the construction of a ship canal across Scotland, between the Clyde and Firth of Forth, has been brought to the front again in a recent meeting of the Mid-Scotland Ship Canal association, which took place at the Royal United Service institution. Two principal schemes have been proposed, one by the direct route; the other, which avails itself of existing waters, is known as the Loch Lomond route. It developed at the meeting that the experts are divided as to the relative advantages of the two routes, and it was agreed that what is needed is a commission which should include expert engineers representatives of shipping and of the British admiralty. A selection of the best route would be made by this commission, whose word would be final.—Scientific American.

What to Eat and Why

A Natural Supply of Vitamin

The word "Vitamin" is new, but the thing itself is as old as the human race. It is the energizing, vitalizing, growth-producing element in the right food. Its absence is a serious fault of the wrong food. When the food is right, there is no need to go to the drug store for Vitamin.

Grape-Nuts, the famous ready-to-eat cereal, supplies the natural Vitamin from the wheat, and a further supply is included in the cream or milk with which Grape-Nuts is eaten.

Grape-Nuts is delightfully crisp and appetizing, with a flavor which happily suggests the wholesome, health-building goodness which the food contains. Phosphorus and Iron, as well as Vitamin, with a bran content to stimulate intestinal action, are supplied by Grape-Nuts. Many of our modern, "refined" foods lack these vitally necessary elements.

Grape-Nuts digests easily and is assimilated quickly, and is splendidly nourishing and energizing. You'll find better health and fitness, in the natural way, with Grape-Nuts as a regular part of your diet.

There's genuine economy in Grape-Nuts—many servings of this exceptionally nourishing food to the package. At your grocer's—ready to serve. Order from the Body Builder. "There's a Reason." Made by Postum Cereal Co., Inc., Battle Creek, Mich.

Lend Individuality to Suits; Gay Printed Silks Popular

SUITS this season have a way of being no two alike, for which the varied use of embroidery is largely responsible. One is impressed with the vast scope of ideas expressed through the medium of hand-stitchery and for that matter exquisite work is accomplished by machine.

So pronounced is the vogue for embroidery, modern costume becomes almost an index to the arts and needlecrafts of all nations and all centuries. We find our present-day frocks, blouses, suits and wraps proclaiming inspiration from sources Persian, Russian, Slovakian, Egyptian, Chinese, East Indian and a'most every remote corner of the globe. The figures, designs and hieroglyphics borrowed from these countries for our decorative schemes are reproduced in authentic colorings and characteristics stitchery. Sometimes this includes the elaboration of beads, hand-coloring and other details. The result is individuality spelled in capital letters.

The charming suit in this picture displays that note of exclusiveness which embroidery achieves. Attention is called to the unique placement of hand decoration along the sides of the coatee at the back. The high collar, flare sleeve and bordered skirt respond to the call for lavish embroidery.

A survey of the advance modes stresses the prevalence among suits of the jacket with a youthful flare just such as is pictured in this embroidered model. The majority of models are along these lines, that is, if they are not of the jacquette type which ties over to one side.

The suit herewith is in the popular new shade known as desert brown and an added enthusiasm is manifest for Oriental silks, and the more unusual the design the greater its favor.

Not all the patterns and colorings are Egyptian, however, for the new gypsy prints are delightfully informal and they are just what their name implies, and thy make up into charming sports frocks. In this class come the bandanna effects, and to say these are fashionable but mildly states their overwhelming popularity. Paisley silk also has come into a new importance, in that it is credited as a reigning sports material.

For summer afternoon frocks very dainty new printed silks show an outline stencil pattern, such as is portrayed in the picture herewith. Such a gown stands for adornment plus utility. The silk itself is so altogether effective that the construction of the gown is along simplest lines. One finds at disposal hosts of beautiful dresses, and the fashion shops carry them in prints of black, navy, brown and mahogany on plain white backgrounds. For the home dressmaker these interesting silks are especially to be commended, but the fashioning of them into attractive garments requires little effort.

Many lovely bordered silks are featured and these are especially good in white crepe with colorful patterns. Silks printed in ornate figured and bright colored strips are utilized to advantage, as the designer secures effect by combining these stripes.

Stands for Adornment Plus Utility

It is embroidered in self-colored floss.

Among handsome models just arrived from Paris, with embroidery a dominant feature, is a dull green alpaca embellished with wool embroidery in a darker green, also a gray light wool suit stitched in multi-colored chenille.

In a very gay mood do we find the world of fashion just now, especially when it comes to printed silks. No color is too gorgeous, no design too startling, no fabric too remarkable, according to the modern way of thinking.

Quite a fashion significance is attached to the discovery of the tomb of Tut-Ankh-Amen. Thus is Egyptian art of 1358 B. C. being translated into fashion ideas for today. As a result Color Vies With White.

With color sounded strongly in every collection of blouses, the all-white costume blouse finds itself hard put in vying with them. One collection includes several good all-white numbers which achieve their distinction in the use of soutache braid combined with lace.

Irregularity of Brim.

The new straw hats shown in some of the shops display a charming irregularity of brim. Often they are wide in some part, but if so the back is likely to turn up sharply or one side resolve itself into a fluted bit with perhaps part of the brim cut out entirely, leaving a triangular gash through which a pretty earring may be seen.

Styles in Veils.

Spanish lace and chantilly are both popular now for veils. The contrasting colors are not so much used as formerly and practically all the new styles are in one tone.

PE-RU-NA

"I have taken several bottles of Pe-ru-na and find it a great benefit. I had pain in my stomach and bowels, but by the use of Pe-ru-na and Man-a-lin, I am well and strong again. I always keep a few bottles in the house."—Mrs. Orpha Gray, R. F. D. No. 2, Box 38, Hiteman, Iowa.

Mrs. Gray's experience is just more evidence that Pe-ru-na is quite as good a remedy for catarrh of the stomach, bowels or other organs as it is for coughs, colds and nasal catarrh. Pe-ru-na is a wonderfully fine medicine to have in the house for everyday ills.
