Prominent Couple United In Impressive Ceremony

The marriage of Miss Rosalyn Wells Ray and Arthur William Collins, Jr., of Canton and Chattanooga, was solemnized on Wednesday afternoon at five o'clock in the First Methodist Episcopal Church, South, with the pastor, the Rev. James G. Huggin, Jr., pronouncing the vows.

Against the background of greenery, tall standards, containing white gladioli, white hollyhocks, and hydrangea were advantageously placed. Floor candelabra with countless lighted tapers arranged at intervals among the flowers and greenery completed a beautiful setting for the impressive ceremony.

Prior to the entrance of the bridal party a program of nuptial music was rendered by the groom's sister, Miss Mildred Collins, organist. Evander Preston, soloist, and Mrs. Richard N. Barber, Jr., violinist. The following numbers were given: "To an Evening Star," Wagner, 'Berceuse,' from Jocelyn, by Godard, "Venetian Love Song," Nevin, "My Heart At Thy Sweet Voice," by Saint Saens, all played by Miss Collins.

Evander Preston accompanied by Miss Collins sang "Because," by D' Harlot, and "Serenade," by Schubert. Mrs. Barber also accompanied by Miss Collins, played "Ave Maria," by Schubert, and "Liebestraum," by Listz. During the ceremony Miss Collins softly rendered "Elegie," by Massenet. The wedding march from Lohengrin was used as the processional and the march from Mendelssohn as the recessional.

The bride was given is marriage by her brother, J. Wilford Ray. She wore a handsome gown of lustrous white bridal satin, modeled in empire style, with long sleeves, trimmed in self covered buttons, puffed at the top and coming to a point over the hands. The neck line which was close fitting had a turned back collar wired at a becoming angle. The gown above the waist line was fashioned with soft folds of the satin. Her veil was of illusion in two lengths, the longer falling nearly the full length of the long graceful train. The veil was held in place about the head by a bandeaux of pleated tulle and wreath of orange blosoms. She carried a bouquet of white roses and gardenias showered with gypsophila.

Miss Frances Ray, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a gown of white startched chiffon, with bands of chantilly lace inserted on the bouffant skirt and waist. The V neck line was held in place by a clip of semi-precious stones, the gift of the bride. Miss Ray wore a picture hat of white horse hair braid, faced underneath the brim of the crown with a band of light blue flowers, and tied on one side with a bow of white tulle. Her slippers were of white and she wore elbow length lace mitts. Her flowers were a cascade of garden varieties, with blue predominating.

Miss Alice Stringfield and Miss Sarah Anne Collins, the latter, sister of the groom, attended the bride as bridesmaids. They wore gowns of white startched chiffon fashioned along similar lines to that of the maid of honor. They also wore picture hats of white horse hair braid, with wreaths underneath the brims of flowers in pastel shades, and tulle streamers tied under the chin. The V neck lines of the gowns were held in place by clips of semi-precious stones, in pastel color. resembling the one worn by the maid of honor, also gifts of the bride.

Little Sallie Jo Stovall, young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Felix Stovall, and Lane Prevost, small daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Prevost, attended the bride as flower girls. They wore dainty frocks of startched chiffon in white made on miniature lines fashioned as those of the maids. They wore wreaths of flowers in their hair and carried baskets of rose petals which they scattered in the path of the bride.

Master Thomas Ray, son of Mrs. Bonner Ray, young nephew of the bride, in a white linen suit, carried the ring in the heart of a calla lily.

Bryant Smith, of Canton, served the groom as best man, and Charles E. Ray, Jr., and William Ray, brothers of the bride, Harrold Wolfe, of Morristown, and Emmett Condon, of Chattanooga, cousins, of the groom, served as groomsmen.

The bride's mother, Mrs. Charles E. Ray, wore a smart gown of black lace, with a corsage of red roses. The groom's mother, Mrs. A. W. Collins, wore a blue lace gown and her flowers were a corsage of pink roses.

Following the ceremony at the church Mrs. Charles E. Ray entertained with a reception at her home. Mrs. Bonner Ray greeted the guests upon their arrival at the front porch, while Mrs. Felix Stovall and Mrs. Josephine Coman Ferguson served punch from an attractively arranged bowl on a table covered with greenery and flowers.

Mrs. L. M. Killian received at the front hall door. The guests were invited into the living room by Mrs. Carroll Bell, who introduced them to the receiving line composed of Mrs. Charles E. Ray, Mrs. A. W. Collins, and the members of the bridal party.

Mrs. Bryant Smith, of Canton, greeted the guests at the dining room entrance, while Miss Nancy Kidian presided over the dining room. She was assisted in serving by Miss Babbie Way, Miss Mary Emma Massie, Miss Jewel Hipps, and Mrs. George Bischoff

Miss Martha Mock and Miss Debrada Fisher received in the gift room. Miss Katherine Ray and Mrs. Charles E. Ray, Jr., bid the guests good by.

Quantities of gladioli, delphinium and larkspur in shades of rose and blue decorated the halls and living rooms, while a bridal motiff prevailed in the dining room.

The table in the dining room was covered with a handsome lace cloth, and centered with a tier wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom. Candles flanked the corners of the table, and bowls of white flowers adorned the side board and serving tables.

The bride is a graduate of the Waynesville Township High school and also attended Duke University, where she was a member of the Kappa Delta sorority. Since the announcement of her engagement a few weeks ago she has been extensively entertained, with many delightful courtesies.

Mr. Collins is the son of Mrs. A. W. Collins, of Lookout Mountain, Chattanooga. He is residing at Canton, where he is connected with the management of the Imperial Hotel. Since living in this section Mr. Collins has made many friends.

For her going away Mrs. Collins wore a dress of sheer navy with bolero jacket, a smart off-the-face hat of toyo straw, and her accessories were of navy, and her corsage was of gardenias, taken from her wedding bouquet.
