Don't Act, Just Be Yourself, Says Humphrey Bogart

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—You don't have to learn to act to be a successful movie star, says Humphrey Bogart. All you have to do is look like box office bait, he added.

And the more you don't act, the better you are. Some stars, such as Bing Crosby, who never acted at all, get Academy award for it.

"This is no business for actors," grumbles Bogart. "They ought to stay on the stage. This is a business for personalities. It's okay if you can act too, but you don't have to."

Examples, Bogart says, are numerous. Most people say they include his wife, Lauren Bacall.

"As soon as an actor gets confident enough to feel that the natural way for him to do a thing is the best way, he stops becoming an actor and becomes himself, a personality," Bogart explained.

"Take Gary Cooper. Or Gable. Or Errol Flynn. Or me. Take any star. Almost in the proportion that he quits acting and becomes himself, he gets ahead. All this talk about what a great actor he is because his pictures make money is a lot of bologna.

Calls Acting Easy

"What's movie acting anyway? If a heroine wants to act sad, she takes her makeup off. If she wants to act glad, she puts it back on. What's acting about that?"

Anybody who wants really to act is advised by Bogart to stick to the stage and put a continent between himself and the movie cameras.

"Even if a fellow wants to get in pictures," Bogart adds, "he ought to have a taste of acting."

After he gets to Hollywood, on this theory, he may never get another chance.

"It helps to learn how to sustain a role," Bogart said, "but that's strictly training. If you want to be a motion picture star, it's better to be yourself."

Influence of Soda—Squirt and Bicarb

NEW YORK (AP)—This country has 50,000 drug stores, and Americans visit them five billion times each year. The figures are cited by Robert P. Fischelis, secretary of the American Pharmaceutical Ass'n. The frequency of visits makes pharmacies a good place to use in health education programs, he told the Public Health Cancer Association.

BLUEBIRDS FOR HAPPINESS

BALDWIN, Ga. (UP) — Connie Watts, organizer of the Bluebird-Martin club here, says his proposal to turn U. S. route 23 into "the bluebird trail" is gaining support rapidly. Martin wants authorities to help him put 30,000 bird boxes on the route from Canada to Florida.

When the 1906 Boston Red Sox lost 20 straight games to set the American League record, they dropped 19 of them at home.
