BUSINESS NOTICES.

He Repeats the Remark.

"Will you please repeat that remark Mr. Mathison?"

Turning so as to look your representative squarely in the face, the head of the house of Mathison & Co., pharmacists, No 1802 State street, Marble Block, Chicago, replied: "Yes, sir, with pleasure. My remark was that we consider Parker's Ginger Tonic, now called Parker's Tonic, the best article of its kind in the market. Our sales for the last six months tell the whole story and settle the question. The Tonic, like a good dinner, carries its own recommendation with it. It's bound to sweep the West like a prairie on fire. In cases of rheumatism, dyspepsia and liver and kidney trouble it scores successes and wins friends every day."

Sherwood & Co. beg to call public attention to the fact that hereafter Parker's Ginger Tonic will be advertised and sold simply under the name of Parker's Tonic. We make this change for the reason that unprincipled dealers are constantly deceiving their customers by substituting inferior preparations under the name of ginger; and as ginger is really an unimportant flavoring ingredient, we drop the misleading word.

There is no change, however, in the preparation itself, and all bottles remaining in the hands of dealers, wrapped under the name of Parker's Ginger Tonic contain the genuine medicine if the fac-simile signature of Hiscox & Co is at the bottom of the outside wrapper.

Daily Journal-Observer.

THE MAIDEN BY THE SEASHORE.

A Watery Start and a Ruffled Temper—Friends Met on the Road—Arrival at Morehead and Peacefully Tucked Away in Bed at Last.

To the Editor Journal-Observer.

At 3 o'clock on the morning of the 5th of July I left Charlotte for an "outing" at the sea coast. A wild, dark blustering morning; the rain driving in blinding sheets; the incessant lightning showing the open space between the omnibus and the train changed into a swift stream, that I found on wading through to be ankle deep. The invaluable gossamer protected head and shoulders, but with soaking wet feet and skirts splashed and bedraggled up to the knees I scrambled into the cars, you may imagine in what a lovely and benign state of mind towards the whole world in general, and the much bedamned railroad officials in particular, who have been feeding our faith for years with unfulfilled promises of a grand union depot. This blissful benignity was shared and acknowledged with amiable emphasis by my sleepy escort who had been dragged from his bed at that unwholesome hour, to see me off and now stood looking like a memorial monument to all the drowned rats since the flood. We can never say again in our most reckless moods—he nor I "apres nous, le deluge," for we have lived through it and henceforth regard ourselves as ante-diluvians. My good angel now in generous compensation for the ducking gave me the pleasant company of a dear friend as far as Greensboro, and there I met one of the noble army of "commercial missionaries," who was so kind and so beguiled the wearisome way that I would be glad for everybody who does not already know it, to know how charming he is; "but what's his name and where's his home, I dinna choose to tell," for if I did every unprotected female in his territory would plan her trips to suit his—put herself, as I did, under the shadow of his wing and the wing might find it slightly monotonous and fold itself up and make a goodly shade no more.

Just after we left Raleigh I was introduced to Dr. Blacknall, the prince of hotelists, who holds imperial sway down here at the Atlantic. I told him he was the one man of all the six hundred thousand in North Carolina that I then wanted to see, that I was at that moment on my way to see him, whereupon he gave me right royal welcome and took charge of me the rest of the day.

Take it for about half and half, it was a very good day indeed. After the storm we had a beautiful rainbow, the first clear, perfect morning rainbow I ever saw, sometimes we had a bright sun, all day a stirring breeze, now and then a dash of rain and musical thunder-mutterings, varied with such enjoyable alternations as a cup of excellent coffee at Greensboro, a plate of ice cream at Goldsboro with friends whose how-d'ye-do was as cordial as their refreshment was cooling, and then a most delicious little tea at the hotel at Kinston. When the slanting shadows grew long and longer and the setting sun turned the soft grey clouds into banners of crimson and gold, the breeze came fresher from the sea and brought the message of its blessing and balm. Half-past 11 brought us to Morehead (about its many charms not a word now—about this sweet, wild rollicking wind, not a breath—that, for to-morrow) very tired—very ready for my "little bed" I follow the maid to my assigned room; as I turn to my trunk longing to change my close, warm, woolen dress for a cool loose night gown. Oh! horror of horrors—what quick, sickening recollection comes over me, making me utterly limp and undone! The key lies in quiet provoking uselessness three hundred miles away, on the mantle-piece at home! Have you ever realized or can you imagine the humiliating, irritating innermost meaning of the words "Nobody to blame but yourself?" One's "dearest foe" can stab one with nothing more cruel. What did I do? Sent and made full confession to Dr. Blacknall. He gave me absolution and such a bunch of keys as suggested the thought that I was not the only poor sinner who had forgotten what she ought to have remembered. Such a bunch of keys as I never saw in my life except on the mammoth ring of good Mr. Kuester; big keys and little keys, long keys and short keys, round keys and flat ones, and with the keys, master and manager of the keys, the Dr. sent his distinguished chief porter, the patient, accommodating ingenious Tom Evans, my first acquaintance here and one to whom I am glad to acknowledge my great indebtedness. By dint of pushing to the left and pulling to the right, pressing in and prizing out, jerking up and slamming down, he at last fitted a key and opened the trunk.

And now, with the sincere wish that every tired man and woman and child might have the sweet sleep I had that night I bid you adieu.

VENI VIDI.

THE NEWS IN BRIEF.

The cotton caterpillar has made its appearance in several counties in Alabama.

Work on the university buildings at Tuscaloosa, Ala., will be commenced this morning.

Senator George of Mississippi, don't want Indians admitted to a college of which he is trustee.

The son of a wealthy New Orleans merchant it is said is to marry one of of the daughters of Mackey, the millionaire.

The outlaws of Garland, Tell and Montgomery counties, Ark., have organized a regular reign of terror in that section.

James Evans, the leader of the mob that lynched the negro, Granville Warden, in Monroe county, Ark., has been arrested.

The value of the orchard crops of Florida twelve years ago were estimated at about $60,000. To-day a million and a half could not buy them.

Hydrophobia is epidemic in Hickory county, Tenn. Not only dogs, but cats, cattle and other stock are affected. One of the human victims was Dr. Remington.

The little daughter of President Arthur, though but a child, acts like a little queen, and, in her fathers carriage, not unfrequently drives down into the city and does her own shopping.

The hay crop of New England is one of the heaviest on record, New Hampshire leading off (proportionately) with an estimated yield of 651,536 tons.

The sheriff of Douglass county, Ga., two prominent citizens and an ex-legislater broke the statuar of an Italians image vendor, besides rolling him around and have had to pay $1000 damages in consequence.

Ah You, is the prettiest Chinese girl ever brought to America. She was one of the wonders of San Francisco's Chinese quarter, and as such was pointed out to all tourists. One of these, an Englishmen, has fallen in love with and married her.

Out of the gross earnings of $30,000,000 of the Union Pacific Railway, only $3,000,000 were derived from its through business. Its trafic has been substantially created by itself along the wayside.

Judge Chapman, of Washington City, has just decided that a bicycle in the eye of the law, is the same as a carriage, having in common with other carriages, equal rights to the streets and highways, protected by the same laws, and their riders are amendable to the same road laws governing the drivers of other vehicles.

"A Celebrated Case."

It seems proper that Mr. Michael O'Connor, of Galesburg, Ill., just related to the celebrated Charles O'Connor. He says: "Marvelous Nervine cured me of dyspepsia and general debility."

STATE NEWS.

Raleigh News and Observer.—Mr. Sherwood Haywood, State librarian is sick.—Rev Atticus G Haywood, D D, L L D of Emory College has been visiting Raleigh.—A negro woman dropped dead while at work in the cotton field of Mr. Cook near this city yesterday afternoon.—It is feared the last execution for a murder took place in Wake county. The old quarry was the place of execution in those days. The hanging there next month will attract an immense crowd no doubt.—The case of Stewart Ellison against the city of Raleigh and others contesting his election to the office to the Aldermen is now before Wake Superior Court. Much difficulty was found in selecting a jury, but on Saturday the examination of witnesses was begun and just before time for adjournment to Monday the plaintiff rested.

Carteret Telephone.—Mr. Anthony Willis, Jr., Smyrna while carrying a bag of ballast to his canoe was thrown with the weight of 50 pounds of sand across the wharf post and seriously hurt.—A large three masted Schr. name unknown went ashore on the beach in the vicinity of Chicamacomico coast of N. C. The vessel was loaded, and bound South.

Jefferson's Granddaughter.—Mrs. Septima Meikelhem, the last surviving grand daughter of Thomas Jefferson, was tendered a reception Monday evening at the house of Mrs. L. Holloway, of Brooklyn, N. Y., whose guest Mrs. Meikelhem has been for some days past. At the reception Mrs. Meikelhem was the recipient of many cordial expressions of regard. Although approaching her seventieth birthday she is bright and lively, and is a most interesting conversationalist. For some years she has been living modestly on the small earned by her daughter as a clerk in the Treasury Department at Washington. At the late session of Congress an effort was made to have a pension granted to Mrs. Meikelhem, and the matter will be discussed at the next session.

Maud Muller and the Apples.

Maud Muller stood one summer day,
Quietly raking the new morn hay.
In the apple orchard, plain to be seen,
Was plenty of fruit, both hard and green.
Hastily she ate green apples till she
Was doubled up like the letter V.
With pain in her stomach and tears in her eye,
Maud Muller thought she would surely die.
But soon came an end of her woeful grief,
For Pain Killer brought her sweet relief.

LOVELY COMPLEXIONS POSSIBLE TO ALL.

What Nature denies to many Art secures to all. Hagan's Magnolia Balm dispels every blemish, overcomes Redness, Freckles, Sallowness, Roughness, Tan, Eruptions and Blotches, and removes all evidences of heat and excitement. The Magnolia Balm imparts the most delicate and natural complexional tints—no detection being possible to the closest observation.

Under these circumstances a faulty Complexion is little short of a crime. Magnolia Balm sold everywhere. Costs only 75 cents, with full directions.

DROWNED IN BEER

Concerning this Popular Beverage Two Men Express their Minds.

"The fact is sir, and you may stick a pin there, that the people of this country are likely to be drowned in a flood of lager beer," shouted an enthusiastic bootmaker the other day into the ear of your crowded correspondent. The Pension Office has struck us hard. It is the second deluge.

"Yes, and the worst of this beer-drinking business is that it gets up kidney troubles, and a heavy wind raises the devil." Mind! I say Physicians, who had a knowledge of the times and a tendency to metaphor. "The mischief 'schooner' leaves behind it a wake of furred tongues, bodyaches, torpid liver, and worse, and all that, and lays the foundation of Bright's Disease."

This unmistakably fact accounts in part for the increasing sales of BERGON'S CAPSULE POROUS PLASTER, which at once relieves and cures disease. Price 25 cents. Ask your physician about it.

BOYS' CLOTHES,

—AND—

Where AND How to Buy Them.

—TO—

People are apt to think that if they were only richenough to be indifferent about the cost of a thing, it would be easy to obtain just what they want in the matter of clothing. If you've ever tried it, you know this to be a fallacy.

Nothing is easier than to spend a lot of money in dressing your boy, but the difficulty is in choosing. One mother considers the beauty of the new garment, another scrutinizes the making, while a third estimates how it will look after a month's wear. We are watchful of all these details, and our experience enables us to determine what will wear better than any one not an expert. We give you the benefit of what we know in the representation of our goods, and it is safe to be guided by our judgment as to the reliability of them, while exercising your own taste as to patterns and style of garment. That we are honest in our desire to serve you efficiently, our readiness to take back goods and refund money is the best test, and at no season of the year can we give you such great value for little money as just now. For in our effort to clear out all remnants and small lots we have placed upon our
