"Starry Night" Singles Dance

And they danced the night away...

We're having a great time (l. to r.) Feodor Vainstein, Cheryl Ross, Jeff Kogut, Shari Jenner, Kurt Rogers and Sheryl Bodner.

The Charlotte Jewish Singles sponsored its first annual Fall semi-formal dance on Nov. 20. If this year's response is an indication, we will host a dance every year. Over 125 singles attended the party from all over North and South Carolina. We had a large contingent from Greensboro as well as Raleigh/Durham and Columbia. Many people helped make this event such a great success. Susie and Jack DeSarno made super drinks for everyone at the bar, and Debbi Maslov and Beth Mattos did a great job decorating Gorelick Hall. Everyone enjoyed the food catered by Phil's Deli of Strawberry Hill and danced past midnight to "Easy Street."

Brunch & Learn

The Adult Jewish Institute will hold its annual Brunch and Learn series during January and February. Two very exciting programs with excellent speakers are being presented.

On Sunday, Jan. 16, Dr. James Tabor of UNCC and Dr. John Reeves from Winthrop University, both Dead Sea Scroll authorities, will speak on the Dead Sea Scrolls and who they had a greater effect on, the Jewish religion or Christianity. The program will begin at 10 a.m. in Gorelick Hall at Shalom Park.

Deborah S. Bosley, assistant professor of English at UNCC, will speak on Sunday, Feb. 20. Ms. Bosley, a published poet, will explore the power of religion and feminism as influences in the lives and literature of the best women poets of our age. This program will be held at Temple Israel at 10 a.m.

A bagel brunch will be served at both lectures, prior to the program. The cost for each is $4.50 for JCC members and $6 for non-members. For more information, call Debby Rosenberger, 366-5007.

The Climbing Club

The Jewish Community Center and The Charlotte Climbing Center have teamed together to bring you The Climbing Club. Every Monday participants will travel from the 'J' to The Climbing Center for three hours of safe, clean entertainment.

We have put together a package that we feel will benefit all involved. If you ever had the desire to rock climb but felt it wasn't safe or your parents wouldn't let you because they thought it was dangerous, then the Climbing Club is for you. You will learn the proper way to climb using a harness, ropes and Belay Devices.

The Club is for everyone, whether you have never climbed or climb every day. There is always something to do. All participants will complete an orientation class and ground school before climbing.

The climbing club is open to all 6-8th graders on the first and third Monday of each month and to the 9-12th graders on the second and fourth Monday of each month. A van will leave the JCC at 4:30 p.m. as needed. Dinner will be available by reservation only. Reservations must be made for transportation and dinner at least one week in advance.

For more information please call Nathalie Sowers, 366-5007 or Eric Evans at The Charlotte Climbing Center, 333-ROCK.

TO ALL USERS OF SHALOM PARK

We encourage all the users of our facilities to please be mindful of our neighbors on Jefferson Drive.

Please remember that there are many children and adults who live and play in the residential area surrounding the Park. Therefore, when exiting the grounds, please drive slowly.

Gourmet Without Guilt

Now is your chance to cook delicious and healthy in the same kitchen. The Jewish Community Center is offering a wonderful selection of cooking classes. Each six-week series will highlight a different selection of foods.

Course I: Everything from Soup to Nuts Jan. 4-Feb. 8
Course II: Schmaltz Free Holiday Cooking Feb. 15-Mar. 22
Course III: Summertime, and the Meals are Lite & Easy Apr. 5-May 10

You can take one class or all six in a series. Fee to members is $20 for individual classes or $100 for a series; $30 for individual classes and $130 for a series for non-members. For more information, call Debby Rosenberger, 366-5007.

"Wanna Dance?"

If you like to dance and never get the opportunity, now is your chance. The JCC has more adult dance classes than ever. Whether you want to sway to the strains of Polynesian Music in our "Hawaiian Heart" class, combine fluid movements and meditation in "Dance Within," learn how to line dance or become the next Ann Miller in the tap classes, you'll find it all at the J. Classes start early this month so call or stop by the front desk and "get your feet moving."
