THE JOURNAL.

H. S. HUNN, - - - - - Editor.

NEW BERNE, N. C., SEPT. 7, 1883.

THE new colored cadet at West Point is quite popular with his classmates. He weighs two hundred pounds.

THE coffee and sugar crops in Bantam, Java, suffered severely from the recent volcanic eruptions and tidal waves.

GOV. HOLDEN, it is said, divides the world into two classes—the good fellows who listen to him and the bad fellows who don't.

IT is believed that the value of the agricultural products of the South will foot up a round billion this year despite some shortness in the cotton crop.

IT is said the original serpent that tempted Eve has been found embedded in an Indian mound near Lyttleton, Illinois. He was identified by a fossilized apple core between his fangs.

THE town of Marion, Ala., has a colored postmaster. A few days ago some of his white brethren, who wanted his office for one of their own color, withdrew from his bond with the view of having him removed. But as he had made a good postmaster, some prominent Democrats, unwilling to see him treated in that way, made a bond for him amounting to $68,000 and he retains the office.

GOVERNOR HOLDEN'S SECOND CARD.

The News-Observer of the 4th inst. contains another card from ex-Gov. Holden, in which he gives other reasons for leaving the Republican party. He says he is not a Democrat and has no idea of editing a Democratic paper. He agrees with the Democrats in favoring a tariff for revenue only, and approved of Senator Vance's speech in which he labored to reduce the present tariff. He declares that the National Government has been sectional since 1860, and is still sectional in that it does everything for the North and by comparison nothing for the South. He claims to have founded the Republican party in this State, and but for David S. Reid and himself there would have been no triumphant Democratic party in North Carolina.

The Governor certainly has the right to join any party he wishes, and we hardly think it right to abuse him for exercising that right, but really we cannot see what he had to do with making the Democratic party triumphant in North Carolina unless it was the inauguration of the Kirk war, a mistake which he ought ever to regret and not boast of.

He gives as another reason for leaving the Republican party the fact that the President refuses to recommend and Congress fails to pass a bill to refund to the Southern States the cotton tax collected at the close of the war. That the Democrats, if they get in power, would refund this tax, pay other Southern war claims, and attempt to pay the Southern people for their emancipated slaves out of the public treasury, has been one of the rallying cries of the Republican party that made the North solid. There is as much justice in refusing to refund the cotton tax as there is in refusing to pay for the slave property taken from the people of the South. But the Southern people don't expect either, and we think it would be very unwise for the Democratic party to intimate that they intend paying either one of these claims. If the cotton tax was refunded the small farmer who made only a few bales, and who needs the money would hardly get a cent. The Northern and Western people would not think of being taxed to refund this money.

WE call that a practical education that makes a man of the boy and a woman of the girl. There is too little attention given to developing character. A trained intellect is only one part of an educated man. There are principles of life and morality as important to the student as any rule in grammar or theorem in geometry. It is not always the best educated man that is the most successful in life. It is not so much what a man knows as what he can know that makes him a power in the world. School life can only prepare for the duties of life's school. The foundation is laid, but it will require time to complete the superstructure.

ALL OVER THE SOUTH.

The grape crop in Tennessee is abundant.

They are making flour out of peanuts in Virginia.

A valuable silver mine has been discovered in Carter and Johnson counties, Tenn.

The Oxford, Ala., college opened with 163 students, the largest number which ever attended on the first day of any session of the school.

A fruit dealer in the Montgomery, Ala., market last week sold a watermelon, weighing eighty-six pounds, for $2.50. It grew near Montgomery.

One firm in Gates county, N. C., owns thirty miles of narrow-gauge railway, connecting five of its saw mills. It is the largest lumber business in the State.

Mrs. Geo. Anderson, colored, in DeKalb county, Tenn., gave birth to a double-faced child. It has one ear on each side of its faces, four eyes, two noses and two mouths.

Since the death of Tom Thumb, Gen. Abe Sawyer, of Key West, Florida, claims to be the smallest dwarf in the world, being thirty-two inches high, nineteen years of age and weighing only thirty-seven pounds.

A water drinking match occurred at the Iron Springs, near Iuka, Fla., last week, between Mr. John Hays, of Memphis, and a drummer. The drummer won, drinking two and a half gallons.

Selma Times: Garret, of Pine county, Ga., caught a stroke of lightning on his head. It removed his hair and toyed with his backbone, and finally left him in disgust. He was only slightly paralyzed.

Mrs. Fowler and daughter, four years old, were killed by lightning ten miles northeast of Athens, Ala., Wednesday. When found under a large tree the infant, which had escaped unhurt, was still in its dead mother's arms.

Mr. C. M. VanOrsdell, of Wilmington, N. C., has a butter knife over 300 years old, which has been handed down from father to son for several successive generations. It was made in England, has a bone or horn handle, and a very peculiarly shaped blade with the representation of two crowns on it, and an inscription which, however, is illegible. It has been out of use for a long time, and is carefully preserved as a relic.

A part of Hell Hole Swamp, containing 17,000 acres, has been bought by Mr. Jos. Remfry, who resides at High Point, N. C., as the representative of a comapy of English capitalists. The Commissioners of the South Carolina Sinking Fund are to receive for the tract $10,000, payable in three annual installments. It will take about $100,000 to drain the water from this swamp, and its sale is regarded as a good one for the State.

Reports from the cotton fields about Austin, Texas, are very disheartening. In many localities the cotton is literally burnt up. The very best stands on uplands will not yield a bale to five acres. On the Brazos, about Hearne, the drouth and ball-worm have played sad havoc, and even with a good rain in the next ten days, not half a crop will be gathered. Hundreds of tenants will not raise enough to pay for advances made them by the planter.

Gainesville (Ga.) Southron: There are living in the north end of this county two young men named John and Sam. Pasco, who are twins and look and dress exactly alike. Two or three years ago they married twin sisters who look and dress exactly alike. The boys built two cottages that look exactly alike, and each lady has a child about the same age that look very nearly exactly alike. All are in excellent health, and last week the whole party came to this city behind a span of beautiful mules that were nearly exact matches. The boys are partners in the mercantile business, and are prosperous gentlemen. If any county in the State can beat this true story on matches let them step to the front and take the premium.

Miles Jones attended the hundredth anniversary of his mother, Mrs. Mary P. Jones, on the 14th of July, near Stevenson, in Jackson county, Ala. Mrs. Jones moved with her husband, Robert Jones, from Virginia, nearly seventy years ago, purchased land and erected what was then called a fine two-story house, in which she yet resides. Eight of her children are now living. Pleas. Jones, the oldest, lives in Texas, and is eighty-three years old. Six of them attended the celebration; viz: Miles Jones, aged eighty years; Bob and Jack Jones, both from Texas, and three daughters, Mrs. Melvina Allen, Mrs. Lou Ally and Mrs. Jane Graham, all living in Jackson county. Her lineal descendants now living number 216.

An Elephant's Discipline.

According to the author of "Under the Sun," Mr. Phil Robinson, the popular description of an elephant is "a square animal with a leg at each corner and a tail at both ends." The crowd also sums up the moral character of this Titan among mammals by saying that it is sagacious and docile. What the crowd calls docility in an elephant is, Mr. Robinson says, the very quality which in the veteran soldier is known as discipline. To support his remark, he tells the story of the standard-bearing elephant of a Mahratta King who won a victory for its royal master. The story condensed is as follows:

The huge beast was carrying on its back the royal ensign, the rallying point of the Mahratta host. At the beginning of the engagement, the elephant's mahout, just as he ordered it to halt, received his death wound, and fell off its back.

The obedient elephant stood its ground. The shock of battle closed round it and the standard it carried. But the elephant never moved a yard, refusing to advance or retire with the standard entrusted to it.

The Mahrattas, seeing the flag still flying in its place, would not believe that the day was going against them, and rallied again and again round their immovable standard-bearer.

Meanwhile the elephant stood there in the very heart of the conflict, straining its ears all the while to catch above the din of battle the sound of the voice which would never speak again.

The wave of war soon passed on, leaving the field deserted. The Mahrattas swept by in victorious pursuit of the now routed foe. But as a rock standing out from the ebbing flood, the elephant stood in its place, with the slain heap round it, and the standard still floating above its castled back.

For three days and nights it remained where it had been told to remain. Neither bribe nor threat could move it. They sent to a village, a hundred miles away, and fetched the mahout's little son. Then the elephant, remembering how its dead master had often in brief absence delegated authority to the child, confessed its allegiance.

With the shattered battle harness clanging at each stately stride, it swung slowly along the road behind the little boy.

The glory of a man is his strength. If you are weakened down through excessive study, or by early indiscretions, Allen's Brain Food will permanently restore all lost vigor, and strengthen all the muscles of Brain and Body. $1; 6 for $5.—At druggists, or by mail from J. Buckingham Whiskey,
A Really Pure Stimulant,
This whiskey is controlled entirely by Venable & Heyman, N. Y. It is distilled in Maryland in the slate water regions of that State, from the small grain grown there. The distillation is superintended by a gentleman who understands his business thoroughly. Nothing deleterious is allowed to enter into its composition, and none of it is allowed to be sold until it is fully three years old in order that it may be entirely free by evaporation from the fusel oil. Venable & Heyman offer these goods as perfectly pure to fill a long felt want for medical purposes. It is their own brand and they stake their reputation on the truth of this assertion.

Ears for the Million!
Foo Choo's Balsam of Shark's Oil
Positively Restores the Hearing, and is the Only Absolute Cure for Deafness Known.
This Oil is abstracted from peculiar species of small White Shark, caught in the Yellow Sea, known as CARCHARODON RONDELETI. Every Chinese fisherman knows it. Its virtues as a restorative of hearing were discovered by a Buddhist Priest about the year 1410. Its cures were so numerous and many so seemingly miraculous that the remedy was officially proclaimed over the entire Empire. Its use became so universal that for over 500 years no Deafness has existed among the Chinese people. Sent, charges prepaid, to any address at $1.00 per bottle.
HEAR WHAT THE DEAF SAY!
It has performed a miracle in my case.
I have no unearthly noises in my head and hear much better.
I have been greatly benefited.
My deafness helped a great deal—think another bottle will cure me.
My hearing is much benefited.
I have received untold benefit.
My hearing is improving.
It is giving good satisfaction.
Have been greatly benefited, and am rejoiced that I saw the notice of it.
"Its virtues are unquestionable and its curative character absolute, as the writer can personally testify, both from experience and observation. Write at once to HAYLOCK & JENNEY, 7 Dey Street, New York, enclosing $1.00, and you will receive by return a remedy that will enable you to hear like anybody else, and whose curative effects will be permanent. You will never regret doing so."—EDITOR OF MERCANTILE REVIEW.
