The strong westerly wind yesterday blew out the tide and left the steamer [illegible] in her dock. She got off [illegible] afternoon, carrying a large cargo of cotton, [illegible] and lumber.

A gentleman living near the coast, who is a close observer of winds and tides, says westerly winds have prevailed this winter to greater extent than known for many years. We suggest to Br[illegible] Economist, that this is the cause of low tides and not the earthquake of last August.

Capt. He found many of the buoys gone and in some places all the beacons. These have all been replaced, and he will, after today, return to Washington, N. C.

The A. & N. C. R. Becoming.

It is truly gratifying to note the increase of business on the A. & N. C. R. Double trains have to be put on often, and we are informed that the freight receipts for January were double what they were in January, 1886. The warehouses at the depot in this city are crowded with corn, fertilizers, etc., which are being rapidly moved forward. A large amount of corn goes to points South. [illegible] amount would go to points along the N. C. R. from this direction if the R. & D. would pro rate fairly and equitably.

The improvements around the passenger depot is evidence of prosperity. The time will come yet when the people of Craven county will be glad to know [illegible] stock in the A. & N. C. R. May the day come speedily.

Our Canning Interest.

A communication from Messrs. Moore & Brady, which appears in this issue, calls our townsman, Mr. J. H. Hackburn, an injustice. It was doubtless written under the impulse that Mr. Hackburn had done them an injustice in an interview published by the American Grocer, but we feel confident that Mr. Hackburn did not so intend it. When he left for New York the canning establishment had not begun operations nor did he know that they would operate this winter. When he spoke of this industry as being conducted here on a small scale he doubtless meant as compared with the extensive business conducted by these very gentlemen and others in Baltimore and other places.

We believe Mr. Hackburn appreciates the enterprise of Messrs. Moore & Brady, or any other in this city, as much so as any of our business men, but in the entire interview published by the Grocer he showed a disposition to exaggerate, a thing that many men do when speaking to others of their home enterprises. If he erred in not representing the canning interest as extensive as it really is, that it was an honest mistake is self evident. We know he did not intend to make the impression that the industry was limited for lack of business capacity or capital on the part of Messrs. Moore & Brady.

Canning In New Berne.

BALTIMORE, Feb. 9, 1887.

EDITOR JOURNAL:—In your issue of 8th inst. we notice under heading of "North Carolina Notes" an extract from American Grocer, in which a gentleman of your city is reported as having said: "We, too, would be very glad to welcome manufacturers, and did have a canning factory at our place, but for some reason or other it was only run on a small scale. As the gentleman is one of your advertisers, we presume you satisfied yourself of the correctness of the interview before reprinting the article.

If we are right in our conjecture, we think the gentleman should be better posted the next time he leaves home, or he will be in the condition of the Scotchman in America, who was bragging that out of Scotland none but educated Scotchmen could be found, as the authorities prevented any other from leaving the country. His listener, after gazing intently at him for a moment, remarked: "Then you must have been smuggled out."

For the credit of your town you should inform him that your town not only "did have" but "has" a canning factory, and as to its being run only on a "small scale," he must remember that New Berne is only a "small" town, and if the canning factory was run on a big scale it might frighten some of the "small" merchants and make them envious to see that strangers could come in their midst and utilize the resources which they allowed to remain unnoticed. As to the truth of the canning factory being run on only a small scale, opinions must differ. The proprietors of the canning factory have built at their own expense a large factory specially adapted for the business, use all the material obtainable for their business, give employment to a great many hands in their business, disburse considerable sums in the way of wages besides what is paid for materials used, and annually leave in the city of New Berne thousands of dollars that would never be brought within the State were it not for the canning factory. In addition to all which, no intelligent business man would build a factory, thoroughly equip it with expensive machinery, yearly import skilled labor for the distance of over 400 miles and then only run his factory on a small scale if it were possible to run it on a large scale. As we are regarded in Baltimore as one of the leading houses in the packing business, have other branch houses besides the one at New Berne and are known to have sufficient capital to enable us to properly conduct any enterprise we might enter into, it would naturally follow that if the gentleman's remarks are true, the cause of the factory being run on a small scale would not be the location of the factory, but that the gentleman [illegible] American Grocer. He would surely know that the way to build up the city in which he carries on his business does not consist in attempting to belittle its manufactures, especially one that has often sold goods to the house of Thurber, whose goods he specially advertises.

You must pardon the length of this letter, caused only by our interest in your city's welfare, which we have shown by becoming a property owner within its limits.

In conclusion we beg to assure you, we who may contemplate starting new enterprises in your midst that among you they will find as progressive and kindly business gentlemen as can be found anywhere, who are willing and anxious to lend a helping hand to all who seek to increase the community's welfare.

Very truly yours,
MOORE & BRADY.

THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

Special to the JOURNAL.

RALEIGH, Feb. 11.

SENATE.

In the Senate today the following bills were the most important introduced:

To allow Craven to levy special tax;

To incorporate Falkland, Pitt county;

To compel county commissioners to account for all moneys coming into their hands by virtue of their office.

Bill to incorporate Wilmington and Coast Railway Company passed third reading, while the bill to give Vance county a representative was tabled.

The Senate took up on third reading bill to provide for the support of the Agricultural Department. The debate was very long and warm. The bill as finally passed appropriates $20,000 annually to the department. Chemist's salary is reduced to $2,900.

HOUSE.

An unfavorable report was made by the judiciary committee on the resolution to remove the political disabilities of William W. Holden.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED.

Requesting our Senators and Representatives in Congress to secure the repeal of the ten per cent bank tax.

Requesting our Senators and Representatives in Congress to secure an increase of the pay of life saving employees.

BILLS INTRODUCED.

By York, to elect the county commissioners in each county by the popular vote.

By Turner, to restore to the people the right to elect their county commissioners.

To allow Jones county to levy a special tax.

To provide for the care of the helpless and incurable insane.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE.

Ward, colored, speaking to a question of personal privilege, said the statement was false that he as a member of the committee to visit the Morganton insane asylum had raised a row because he was not allowed to eat at the same table with the white members of the committee. He also said that he understood, in his vote yesterday on the motion to indefinitely postpone the bill to abolish county government, that he was not paired with Mr. Patton, and had voted.

Mr. Potton said that Ward had a bad memory. The white members of the committee and Mr. Patton were paired.

Holloway, colored, called on Williamson, colored, to state to the House who had told him (as Williamson stated yesterday) that the people of Wilmington did not have any cause of grievance against the railways, but desired a railway commission simply because they had a favorite son whom they wished to get in the position.

Holloway said he was told by the delegates from Wilmington that they had told Williamson no such thing.

Williamson said he had no explanation to make. He was greatly [illegible] fited and the House laughed while he sneered at him.

A SPECIAL ORDER.

The House at noon took up the bill to ratify and confirm the consolidation of the Rutherford Railway Construction Company and the Rutherfordton, Marion and Tennessee Railway with the Charleston, Cincinnati and Chicago Railway Company.

There was quite a debate on this bill. A good many reflections were cast upon the railway company.

The speeches were rather heated. Finally Mr. Crawford offered an amendment that the company shall be required to begin work in McDowell county in 12 months. On this he called the previous question. The House voted down this amendment. The bill then passed its second and third readings.

At 2 o clock the House adjourned.

Mr. Thurman Declines.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—Senator Beck called upon the President this morning to urge the appointment of Gen. Cerro Gordo Williams to the Railroad Commission. In the conversation the President detailed the extent of the trouble and worry he had encountered from the throng of applicants who were daily making his life a burden.

"There has been nothing [illegible] President has [illegible] congressmen come in [illegible] the care necessary to the selection of the proper persons to be appointed upon the commission. It is a certainty that Mr. Kernan will go upon the Commission, though the President at first was inclined to offer a place upon the Commission to Mr. Kernan's father, ex-Senator Francis Kernan, who declined it and recommended the appointment of his son "Jim," as the ex-Senator expressed it, who he said was the smarter man of the two.

Ex-Senator Thurman was tendered a place on the Commission, but declined and urged that his son, Allen W., be selected. This, however, the President is considering, though it is not probable the young man will be recognized, as he does not, according to the President's view, possess the necessary qualifications. If ex-Senator Thurman had accepted, it was the purpose of the President to appoint him for the short term, which would give him an opportunity of reappointing him before the close of the President's term, thus giving Mr. Thurman [illegible] appointment.

FOREIGN NEWS.

TROOPS FOR THE EASTERN FRONTIER.

BERLIN, Feb. 9.—The Berliner Nachrichten says it has authentic information that Gen. Boulanger, the French minister of war, is preparing for a movement of troops to the eastern frontier. Four battalions of infantry are to go to Verdun and [illegible] A brigade of cavalry will also go to Verdun and provision trains to Toul. Four battalions in Algeria are ordered to France. Gen. Boulanger has interested the military railway companies to remain in permanent session, the orders for their movements to the Nachrichten says, will not be issued until the first [illegible]

The Munich Allgemeine Zeitung publishes Cardinal Jacobini's letter to the nuncio at Munich. It is dated January 2. The Cardinal says that in view of the impending revision of the church laws the Pope desires the Centre to support the government bill in every possible way, and concludes: "It is well known that the government attaches the greatest importance to the passage of the bill. If by its adoption it should be found possible to avert the danger of war in the near future, the result would render a great service to the Fatherland and to the cause of humanity in Europe by supporting the bill." Cardinal Jacobini instructs the nuncio to urge the leaders of the centre to influence their colleagues to reconsider the matter, and assure them that such a course would greatly satisfy the Holy Father. The North German Gazette accuses Dr. Windthorst and Baron Frankenstein of keeping secret the first letter from the Pope urging yesterday's submission upon the centre to vote against the tenants bill.

A new Catholic paper is about to appear in Berlin. It will be the organ of that section of the Catholic party which supports the government.

The Roman Catholic Bishop of Limburg, in Hesse-Nassau, Prussia, has forbidden the clergy of his diocese to take part in the agitation against the septennate bill.

The Servian Premier, Gen. Horvatovich has resigned the command of the Servian army, because of the rejection of the army bill by the Skupschina.

DEBATE ON PARNELL'S AMENDMENT.

LONDON, Feb. 9.—Mr. Walter Stowe Bright, Liberal, [illegible] the debate in the House of Commons this afternoon on Mr. Parnell's amendment to the address in reply to the Queen's speech. He defended the Irish National Leaguers' "plan of campaign."

Sir Richard Webster, Conservative, [illegible] Clarke, (Conservative) contended that the plan of campaign was acknowledged by every lawyer of repute to be illegal and a conspiracy.

On motion of Mr. Redmond, the debate was then adjourned.

MR. GLADSTONE HESITATES.

LONDON, Feb. 9.—Although it is probable that a division on Mr. Parnell's amendment will be taken on Friday, Mr. Gladstone is still undecided what course to pursue. If he continues absent the government will be confident of 100 majority.

The South Liberals will leave Mr. Chamberlain to take the initiative in pleasing in the matter of the orders, the party not pledging its support.

Prisoners Escape from Jail.

TAZEWELL, Va., Feb. 9.—About Monday morning, as Assessor C. H. Bowen, accompanied by Deputy Sheriff Wright and Geo. Highland, of the Burgess from Graefield, and Francis Meyer, Thomas Bevins, Francis Berins, and Geo. Ropley, of a schooner from Tangier Island, sailed for illegal dredging, according to previous understandings, as Bowen claims, entered the cell with their prisoners, they jumped on and overpowered him, taking all the keys, and after confining him in their cell made their escape, taking with them $10 which they had stolen from a fellow prisoner, Simmons of the crew, who refused to escape with them. A posse started in pursuit, but failed to overtake them.

Gold Shipped to Europe.

New York, February 9.—The first of the gold exports this year was ordered today by Heidelbach, Ickelheimer & Co., who have taken $600,000 in gold bars from the assay office for shipment to Europe. This was a decided surprise.

[illegible] John H. Richardson, a prominent citizen of his time, died in Philadelphia, suddenly, of some complicated brain trouble, February 5th, 1887, in the 66th year of his age.

Mr. Richardson had been one of medical treatment for some time and was traveling on his health, hoping to regain it by a change of treatment at the Philadelphia hospital, where his death unexpectedly occurred. He was a consistent member of the best families of Richmond and his death will be sincerely mourned by the entire community. He was a member of the M. E. Church South, and [illegible] consistent Christian. He was a man of strong mind and [illegible] in the world, and the anxiety displayed by his neighbors during his long illness [illegible] sincere sorrow expressed at his death, [illegible] the esteem in which he was held by the community in which he lived.
