ONE OF the most satisfactory things about a Columbia Bicycle is the price. Owners of this wheel know they own a bicycle worth the price, $150, because Columbias are sold at that price and place said for less. There Columbias are given on many other wheels listed at $150, because they are not worth the asked price. The discount saves to those the patience and persistency of the prospective purchaser. Moral: Buy a Columbia and know that you do beyond the shadow of a doubt ride the Best on Earth. 100,000 wheelmen ride Columbias.

The Virginia Populists have nominated a State ticket and adopted a platform a very flimsy affair.

"Notes on the situation" are very common. Five and ten dollar notes are the kind wanted at this office.

We regret to hear that Hon. E. J. Hale, the able editor of the Fayetteville Observer is confined his bed with malarial fever.

Scratching and swearing are the poorest remedies for mosquito bites, but they're the most fashionable.

The Stampede of foreigners is one of the consequences of the bank failures. Austrians and Italians are returning to their native lands in large numbers.

Speaker Crisp thinks there will be a long session and that both currency and tariff taxation will be up. Of course. Reforms in both are very much needed and in order.

Calamity Howler Jim Weaver was badly taken down in Kansas in Jewell county. He made the assertion that farmers were compelled to sell fat cattle at $20 a head. This caused an old farmer to rise up and show $75 as the price of one steer he had sold only that day. The patty tyrant was flattened.

With Ignatius Donnelly, Governor Wait, Terena V. Powderly and twenty or thirty other cranks of similar calibre to turn to the public gaze the sunny side of the silver question at the Chicago Convention, there is little doubt that the proceedings of that gathering will have a wholesome effect. God help the country which accepts financial instruction at the hands of such dancing mountebanks and lunatics!—Record.

Considering the number of National banks in the country, 3,752, the percentage of failures has been very small. Of these fourteen have resumed and many others will do so.

Lepers are becoming so numerous in Louisiana that the people of that state want the federal government to set apart an island for them and undertake their care. Unless this is done, the terrible scourage will spread to other states.

Citizens of Florida are becoming concerned at the way the alligators are being thinned out. It is estimated that within a dozen years at least 2,500,000 have been killed, and if the work of destruction goes on unchecked it means extermination. The Legislature will probably be asked to take some action to protect these very useful if not ornamental saurians.

They not only supply the material for a fine quality of leather with their skins, but food, and they feed.—It is said that every alligator killed means 50,000 more snakes in the Swamps.—Wil. Star.

Cholera is making rapid inroads into a number of Italian and French cities.

A sad drowning affair has occured on Lake George N. Y. An entire pleasure party of eight young ladies and one gentleman met a watery grave.

All members of the Circle of King's Daughter's are requested to meet at the residence of Mrs. Dail's, this afternoon at quarter past five o'clock to attend the funeral of Miss Katie Daniels.

We learn from the Argus that Goldsboro is not satisfied with the water as delivered from the waterworks and that the city will make an effort this week to change it by cleaning out the stand pipe and mains.

John Warren, a colored butcherer of the city was seriously gored in the thigh by a steer near Camp Palmer Friday while he was trying to handle him and will be laid up for a while with the wound. He had a very narrow escape from being killed.

The colored Fair begins one week from to-morrow. The secretary informs us that the outlook is favorable. Besides three balloon ascensions, Prof. Rogers of Punch and Judy fame will be here and numerous other attractions which we will publish later.

The Raleigh News and Observer says that such is the popularity and demand for Turner's North Carolina Alamanac, of which Mr. Jas. H. Enniss of that city is publisher, that orders are already coming in for Almanac of 1894.

Elijah Credle, a colored boy who lives near the dark house was tried before S. R. Street, Esq., yesterday and convicted of stealing a silver watch from Lon Pettchea, col., on the north side of Neuse river and selling it to a white man, L. H. Cutler. He went to jail in default of $100 bail to await trial at court

We are requested to call special attention to the fact that the sudden drop in the price of pork a day or two ago was not for sales requiring immediate delivery but for September futures and a reaction carrying the price almost up to former figures occurred directly afterwards.

The death of Miss Katie Daniels of this city, though not unexpected was a sad occurrence. For several years her health had not been firm and for many months she had been gradually declining, so that when the last hour came it brought no surprise, even to herself. She had been accustomed to speak calmly of her approaching dissolution and in the final moment yielded up her life without fear and with quiet resignation.

We are glad to learn that there is a possibility that the W. N. and N. Railroad will run a train from Wilmington to New Berne next Wednesday (the 9th inst.) to accommodate those from that direction who would like to attend the great pony penning near Morehead City on Thursday the 10th. Dr. G. W. Blacknall is now corresponding with the officials of the road in reference to the matter and it is hoped the train will be run.

Some of our people do not understand why it is that the A. and N. C. Railroad trains as they approach Queen street always makes an instant halt now before proceeding to the depot. It is because that is where the new railroad crosses it. We are told that as a precaution against accidents it is the universal practice on all railroads for each train to come to a dead stop before going over such a crossing and that generally there is a conspicuous post erected to call attention to the halting place.

Venders Hallooing on the Street.

A number of street venders who had been crying their wares have been before Mayor Ellis and convicted under the ordinance against loud hallooing on the charge of making themselves obnoxious and made to pay costs. This looks like harshness but there have been a number of complaints where the practice has become a nuisance by disturbing invalids and by being exercised too early in the morning.

Neither unnecessary and unreasonable noises, nor reasonable noise at unreasonable hours should be allowed, but if the ordinance as now worded forbids street sellers from notifying their customers of their pasting by calling out what they have at a moderate elevation of voice during proper hours then it should be so modified as to accord that privilege. Selling on the street is an honest way of getting a living by hard work and it is often a great convenience to housekeepers and is a matter of business due forbearance should be exercised.

DIED.

In this city, August 4, after a protracted illness, Miss Cathrine Marian, eldest daughter of Thomas and Mary Daniels, age 23 years, 5 months and 11 days.

The sincere sympathy of the community is extended to Mrs. Hamilton, the sister of the deceased and to her other relatives and friends here or elsewhere. Before she was stricked with the fatal disease which terminated a bright young life and which has lingered for six years she had joined the Congregational church of which she was a consistent member.

Well Boring at Cove.

Mr. F. J. Hardison came down from Cove yesterday and will return Monday moning to continue the boring of wells through that neighborhood. Since doctors have pronounced the prevalence of typhoid fever there to be largely due to the contamninated surface water in the ordinary wells there is an eagerness to get wells bored.

Mr. Hardison has finished boring the public well at the station—it is ninety three feet deep—and has since bored one for Mr. E. Z. R. Davis sixty-one feet deep. Other wells will be bored as fast as the work can progress.

A Big Quaker Meeting.

The biggest Quaker meeting in America will be held in High Point from August 8th to 13th inclusive.

The Quakers usually gather at this annual meeting many thousand strong. Excursions will be run from Indiana and many othern northwestern states. Last year there were several visitors from Europe present. This meeting will be as big as any they have ever yet had, says the News-Observer-Chronicle.

R. L. H. LEWIS, M. D.,

We hold that not only should such vaults be cleaned as advised but that when a privy is cleaned out all that is removed from it should be taken immediately beyond the city limits instead of being buried as is now sometimes the practice. The same reasons that militate against the vault would work with equal, if not stronger force against the burying, for in the latter there is no impediment whatever to the contaminating influences permeating the soil in every direction and possibly also, (especially if the burying is shallow as is more than likely to be the case) rendering the air to a certain extent impure also.

Big Ike Makes a Ten Strike.

"Big Ike," of New Berne, the hustler, has come over to Wilmington and made a big deal.

After being here a few days, he has purchased from the assignee the large and handsome stock of dry goods belonging to Messrs. Huske & Draper, and before removing it to New Berne he has decided to give the people of Wilmington a whack at it.

He proposes to sell everything at 40, 50 and 67 1-2 cents on the dollar. See what he says in his advertisement in this morning's Messenger.—Wil. Messenger.

The steamship Karamama has been detained at quarantine station, New York, with suspicion that there had been cases of cholera aboard. The steamer contained five hundred passengers from Naples where cholera is known to be prevailing, and two passengers having died at sea caused the health authorities of New York to use the strickest measures in avoiding any risk.
