Shaw U. Host To Sessions

The Second North Carolina Black Political Convention which was held on the campus of Shaw University on July 22 formulated plans for a massive voter registration drive in the state. The 350 participants also laid the foundation for the creation of an on-going Black State Assembly and selected North Carolina's 18 delegates to the first National Black Assembly to be held later this year.

State Representative the Hon. Joy Johnson and Owusu Sadaukai, Kaunda, co-chairmen for the day long gathering. The voter registration drive was decided upon as one of three projects convention members would involve themselves in immediately. The other two were the establishment of a statewide social welfare commission and a Black education commission. The voter registration drive, however will receive primary focus because it was agreed that it was the most unifying project Blacks could undertake at this time.

In the opening address to the convention Rep. Joy Johnson stated that the aim of the convention was to bring together Blacks of varying political persuasions into a single body to work on some matters of common concern to all Black people in the state. Rep. Johnson went on to set the tone for such unity in his speech. To those Blacks who wish to work inside the system, right on to those who wish to work outside the system, right on to those who favor violence, right on to those who favor nonviolence, right on to the organizations right on to the non-integrationist, right on to the young, right on to the old, right on. To all of you this convention says right on if it means we work together in a spirit of unity.

Blasts Action In Southside

RCA Head At Issue With RHA

BY MISS J. E. HICKS

At the July 20 meeting of the Raleigh Citizens Association held at the Hargett Street YWCA at 8 p.m. Thursday, President Ralph Campbell commented about the deplorable conditions found in Southside. People were found there who had not been moved from ramshackle houses unfit for human beings.

At the same time, these renters were paying the same amount of rent formerly paid to landlords despite the fact that the Housing Authority was supposed to reduce the same. Mr. Campbell praised Miss Louise Latham, president of Women In Action and other organizations for their cooperation of the investigation. He said that the Raleigh Housing Authority lacks concern for people including an 81 year old woman living in unimaginable degradation.

He mentioned that a drainage

Two Shot, 1 Beaten In Melees

Aside from reports in this week's Crime Beat of violent deeds in the city of Raleigh, other violent acts of a more serious nature were taking place here. Two pistols were used in as many of the crimes, and a boy is alleged to have employed his trusty pocket knife to stab another in the lower right abdomen and a woman allegedly responsible for head injuries to a 63-year-old man.

The action got underway at 7:40 Monday evening when Miss Mary Hinson, 40, 800 block of New Bern Avenue, is reported to have struck Andrew Henry, 63, same address, over the head "with something," according to Henry. He said that he and a friend (Miss Hinson), were at his house and that they "got into a fuss." The men refused to sign an WARRENTON - Despite the better than 90 degree temperature on the outside and more than 100 degree temper- National Guard Armory, nearly 700 persons attended the first annual brinquet which was held here last Friday to raise funds to be used by the Soul City Foundation.

People used all means they could to try to keep cool in the building which had neither air conditioning, window fans or for that matter no other means of constant ventilation.

The audience listened attentatively despite the warm temperature to Robert J. Brown, Special Assistant to President Nixon, who told the audience that Soul City would not be an all black city or a stronghold of racial separatism.

Soul City is not to be an all black city or stronghold of racial separatism. It will be a city of all races. To blacks it seems we are about to get a share in the mainstream of American life, the native North Carolinian stated.

Brown also paid special tribute to Floyd McKissick, the organizer of the city, and the president of McKissick Enterprises. He cited the struggle McKissick had gone through during the days of the boycotts and sit-ins in North Carolina but gave vocal expressions that McKissick is about to see his dream come true.

Other speakers on the program included Edward Lamont from the Department of Hous-

EDITOR'S NOTE: This column or feature is produced in the public interest with an aim towards eliminating its contents. Numerous individuals have requested that they be given the consideration of overlooking their being on the police blotter. This we would like to do. However, it is not our position to be judge or jury. We merely publish the facts as we find them reported by the arresting officers. To keep out of The Crime Beat columns, merely means not being reported by a police officer in reporting his findings while on duty. To simply keep off the "blotter" and you won't be in The Crime Beat.

"FINGERS" BOYFRIEND

Miss Cheryle Ann Cannady, 25, 315 S. Haywood St., told Officer Ralph Clayton last Thursday at 11:50 p.m. that her boyfriend, John J. McMillan, 30, 800 Rock Quarry Road, became very angry and assaulted her at her residence while she was talking to another man. She said he hit her on her left arm with his fist, causing a bruise on her left arm. She stated she would sign a warrant against Mr. McMillan.
