Purim Masquerade Bash

Dressing up for Purim is no longer just a kids' affair. More than 80 young adults donned masks, crowns and full-on costumes to celebrate Purim on Saturday night, March 22, at Grand Central Uptown. The crowd enjoyed hamantaschen and appetizers and participated in karaoke and costume contests. The party was thrown by the Young Adult Task Force consisting of the Jewish Federation of Greater Charlotte, the Levine JCC, Temple Beth El and Temple Israel. Additional support was provided by corporate sponsor Chai Expectations. "It was the best Purim ever," said Sara Bryan, who dressed up with her brother, James, as Steeplechase spectators. Young adults from Columbia, SC, also drove up for the festivities, and the celebrating continued long into the night. ☆

BALLANTYNE RESORT

Charlotte

Bar or Bat Mitzvah is a time for the entire community to celebrate, as another child comes of age. Each child is special, and we join the parents in commemorating their child's rite of passage. Let us take care of the details to make this momentous day an elegant and effortless experience.
