Grandfriend's Day 2014

CJDS shares its pride and joy on Grandfriend's Day. Student work from the past year is displayed in its full glory. Donna Lerner never fails to give our students the most beautiful framework for their hard work and efforts. Musical ability and talent is also highlighted on this day. Talia and Sasha Levine, Aliya Martin, and Polly Lumelsky entertained us with solo piano pieces. Each grade shared a piece which highlighted the lessons and instruments they studied this year in music. Charlie Gorelick, our student council president greeted our guests with poise and grace. Most endearing was observing the children take their grandfriends on a tour of the school, proudly pointing out bulletin boards laden with their work, introducing them to their teachers and showing them where they spend their school day. The multigenerational interactions is what we all work towards so that the older generations can have their well-deserved share of nachas and the younger generation can be reminded how important it is to learn from our elders and past. ☺
