Levine-Sklut Judaic Library and Resource Center

Happy New Year from The Levine-Sklut Judaic Library Make Your New Year Powerful and Full of Knowledge

Have you made your new year's resolution yet? The library has a great idea for you. Make this the year you expand your Jewish education through the Florence Melton School of Adult Jewish Learning. We have lots of exciting classes starting all the time and new classes are being added to the schedule constantly. Starting in January, two new classes will be added to the Florence Melton curriculum offerings at the library. The first class will expand your knowledge and understanding about Israel, while the second new class will illuminate the Jewish holidays in ways you've never imagined.

Our Shlichah, Adi Rodvasky, is the newest addition to the teachers of our adult education program.

Adi will be teaching "Israeli Lit – A Window Into Israeli Society." The class will begin Thursday, January 15 and run for about ten weeks meeting weekly on Thursday mornings for 90 minutes. "A Year of Jewish Holidays" will bring the Jewish holidays to life. Each year is full of amazing holidays steeped in traditions, text, and much more. This class will delve deeper into each holiday and expand your knowledge about them. Classes will meet monthly and will discuss the next upcoming holiday or the most recent holiday. To learn more about these classes, as well as other Melton classes, or to sign up please contact our Melton Coordinator, Marci Goldberg, at melton@shalomcharlotte.org or 704-944-6740. ☆

Mark Your Calendars for Mini CAJE 2015 from the Levine-Sklut Judaic Library

February is just around the corner and the library has been hard at work putting together an exciting event for local educators in the greater Charlotte community. We have a thought provoking lineup of speakers which will address topics relevant for teachers teaching preschool students through high school students. There will be breakout sessions featuring specific topics as well as a keynote address for everyone after the breakout sessions. Look for more information on our website www.lsjl.org.
