The Charlotte Symphony welcomes guest conductor Gerard Schwarz and son Julian to Belk Theater January 16 and 17

Schwarz lead the Seattle Symphony for decades and is the music director of the Greensboro-based Eastern Music Festival. Schwarz wrote a moving composition for his Viennese grandparents who perished in the Holocaust. Don't miss the chance to hear Schwarz conduct Strauss's Don Quixote, with his son Julian on cello, plus the iconic Overture to William Tell, and more. Tickets start at just $19 at www.charlottesymphony.org. Schwarz, his son Julian, and a CSO musician are tentatively planning a panel discussion the week of the performance.
