Three Men in the Same Boat

These three gathered together one day
Upon a road most hilly,
To have a little tete-a-tete,
Robinson, Sheppard, and Lilly.

Said each to the other, "My quest seems vain,

My lady says me nay;
So let us endeavor to ascertain
A more successful way.

"The plans we've tried are out of date,
New methods are arising,
Publicity is the thing of late—
We'll win by advertising."

Below we show the ads they used—
Don't let your head be thick—
Such pleas can never be refused;
They'll surely turn the trick.

"An electrical engineer am I,
By nature good and kind,
But farming, too, I'd gladly try—
If the proper girl I find."
—Z. V.

"This pseudo-typhoid makes me fro
But hear me loudly shout!
Perchance a good man may be down
But never, never, out!"
—T. C.

"'Twere not for me the folks would
You know I am the chappie
Who daily tests the water supply;
Why let me be unhappy?"
—H. A.

Above we give successful dope
To those who would be wise.
If you'd obtain your fondest hope,
It pays to advertise.
—AIKEN MOOR

Mr. W. F. Livingston, Postmas

On July 17, Mr. W. F. Livingston, has been in the employ of the Tallahassee Power Company during the past three years and more, resigned his position and took charge of the Badin Postoffice to serve until a civil service examination can be held, and a permanent appointment made. This examination will be held on September 24 next, in Albemarle at which time Mr. Livingston expects to take it, and be appointed permanent postmaster. Mr. Livingston's friends extend him their co-operation and best wishes.

Miss Wake Returns from France

Miss Margaret Wake, who has recently returned from abroad, where she was in active service as a Red Cross nurse, is visiting her brother and sister, Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Wake, on Henderson Avenue.
