

CADETS

(Continued from page four)

ture duty, Hoben says, "I'll do a variation of the mustache clipping with a fighter squadron in the Pacific—Shave and a haircut, two Nips!"

There is another room shared by four air and seafaring cadets headed up by former Lieut. (jg) Miller, 21, Hazlehurst, Miss. Miller, now Aviation Cadet Jefferson Davis Miller, has been in the Navy since August, 1940. He resigned his well earned commission, and promotion, to win and wear the Navy wings of gold. He made a cruise aboard the USS Tuscaloosa, and then was assigned to recruit training duty at Great Lakes. He applied for and got sub chaser training at Miami and shipped aboard one of Uncle Sam's newest and trimmest 110 foot PC boats.

MILLER

After seven months tedious and long convoy and anti-sub patrol, he became a real salt water veteran. He cruised in fair weather and foul, became familiar with water rationing and lack of fresh food, and ranged from Key West to Panama to Trinidad frequently picking up survivors from torpedoed merchantmen. When his ship dry-docked at Key West in October he applied for flight training and now hits the deck at 5:30 in the morning to take orders from men he once outranked.

A trio of ex-airborne seamen round out this particular room: Cadets Warren Meadows, 22, of St. Louis, George Day, 20, of up-state New York, and Lloyd Barkley, 20, of Pittsburgh, Pa., all former Aviation Machinists Mates, USN. The three of them represent a total of 3½ years duty and 2,600 hours of flight time in PBY patrol boats.

And so you have a small part of the cadets' origin. They are a true cross-section of American youth. Some like classical music, others swing and jive. Some talk of the life they knew in the past, others talk only of the future. Some want the medals, high speeds, and glory of air fighting, others want to fight quietly in the way they believe most efficient. But for all their differences—political, economic, temperamental, social, geographical—they are welded together in the Pre-Flight School to form a clean, lean, and intelligent group dedicated to fighting for and winning the American way of life against all comers.

BROBERG

(Continued from page six)

in V-5. He took his secondary CPT course at Syracuse before coming to Chapel Hill for Pre-Flight training. Now he's getting ready for the big fight, still likes basketball, but is, as he should be, more interested in becoming a good flier. He wants duty in the Pacific, and he's ready to go. Teaching and politics were his main ambitions two years ago. Now he's about made up his mind to make the Navy a permanent career.

DEL MONTE

(Continued from first page)

Ambrose, platoon officer, to a new Pre-Pre-Flight School at Hamilton, N. Y.; Lieut. (jg) Joseph J. Stanczyk, platoon officer, to a new Pre-Pre-Flight School at Storrs, Conn.

Lieut. G. W. Killinger, head baseball coach, Lieut. George E. Allen, assistant basketball coach, Lieut. George L. McGaughey, assistant football coach, and Lieut. Raymond A. Snyder, assistant coach of mass exercises, have been ordered to duty with the Fleet Air Atlantic.

Lieut. (jg) John E. Fletcher, assistant soccer coach, has been transferred to Hollywood, Fla.

STORY

(Continued from page seven)

ture on the front page smiled at him. That helmet-framed face was familiar. A little older. The smile a trifle harder, perhaps.

He gasped, "Roddy Payne."

The Skipper nodded, his wise smile saying more than the words,

"The first of a long line of our famous alumni, I trust. Funny thing, though; I seem to recall that almost everyone was ready to give up on that boy at one time, Kelly."

Kelly gulped, "Yes, sir."

He moved over to the window, staring out at nothing. Finally he muttered, as though the words hurt him. "I guess there are more ways than one to win a war."

And his fingers closed tightly around the paper he was carrying, crumpling it into a ball.

Marley's Plans Celebration On New Year's Eve

Marley's, Chapel Hill's only night club, has planned a special New Year's celebration on New Year's Eve to which Navy personnel are especially invited to attend.

Confetti, horns, and other favors will be distributed to the guests, and a regular meal will be served earlier in the evening.

With the exception of Christmas Eve and Christmas Day, Marley's will be open all during the holidays.

Christmas Greetings from Andrews-Henninger

Late shoppers—visit our store today and select your gifts.

We will be glad to mail them for you.

Andrews-Henninger

BEST WISHES FOR THE NEW YEAR

DO YOUR XMAS SHOPPING EARLY SAY IT WITH BONDS

SUNDAY—MONDAY

THRILL-SHATTERING!
A woman who had no more to fear...and a man who forgot all fear...to get her!
A Sensation of Suspense!

DIANA BARRYMORE
BRIAN DONLEVY

in Nightmare

with HENRY DANIELL
EUSTACE WYATT DAVID CLYDE
GAVIN MUIR

Written and Produced by DWIGHT TAYLOR

—Also—
POPULAR SCIENCE — LATEST NEWS

—Tuesday—
DEAD END KIDS
GRACE McDONALD
in
"MUG TOWN"

—Wednesday—
JAMES DEAN
CRAIG JAGGER
in
"THE OMAHA TRAIL"

THURSDAY—FRIDAY

From the first kiss to the last breath-taking moment... a story as thrilling as its stars!

GINGER ROGERS
HENRY FONDA
EDWARD G. ROBINSON

CHARLES BOYER
RITA HAYWORTH
CHARLES LAUGHTON
PAUL ROBESON
ETHEL WATERS

'ROCHESTER'

Tales of Manhattan

with THOMAS MITCHELL • EUGENE PALLETTE
CESAR ROMERO • GAIL PATRICK
ROLAND YOUNG • ELSA LANCHESTER
GEORGE SANDERS • JAMES GLEASON
and THE HALL JOHNSON CHOIR

Directed by JULIEN DUVIVIER
Produced by BORIS MORROS and S. P. EAGLE

—Saturday—
GEORGE BRENT in "SILVER QUEEN"
PRISCILLA LANE

CAROLINA

There's Still Plenty of Finer Gift Things at Ellis Stone's in Durham..

Last minute shoppers who are particular of the quality and beauty of the things they give their friends and loved ones will find at Ellis Stone's only hand-picked gifts that please, whether it's a toy for a tiny tot, a useful gift for a man in the service or a gift of luxury for a wife or sweetheart.

Ellis Stone & Co

DURHAM, N. C.