

Good Record Made by Grid Elevens Here

With the final act over in the 1945 gridiron play that began in August and ended in September, "finis" has been written to one of the great service football teams of the war.

Since the fall of 1942, Cloudbuster elevens have played a total of 27 tilts against leading college and service teams in this section of the country, and have marked up 16 wins against eight losses, with three games ending in ties. In the point making department, the Pre-Flighters held a 390-342 over their opponents.

Eight Wins in '42

Their first season, 1942, was one of their best, when they won eight, dropped two by close scores, and tied one. Playing under the tutelage of Lt. Comdr. James Crowley, former head football coach at Fordham, the 1942 Cloudbusters outscored their opponents by nearly a 4-1 margin, rolling up a total of 162 points while holding other elevens to 43.

Victories were registered over Catawba, Harvard, North Carolina State, Temple, Syracuse, Georgetown, Manhattan, and William and Mary. Both of the setbacks were by narrow margins, the first being a 6-7 decision won by Boston College and the other loss being an 0-6 verdict won by Fordham. An all Pre-Flight tussle that year between the Cloudbusters and Georgia Skycrackers ended in a 14-14 deadlock.

Tough Going in '43

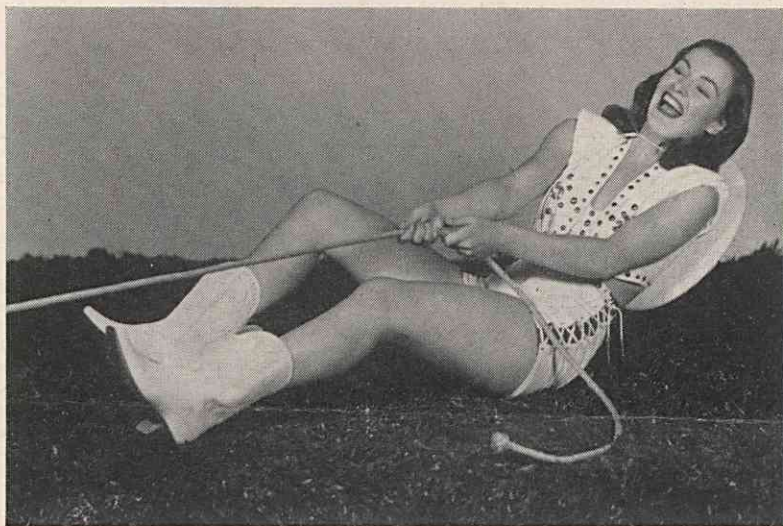

The Cloudbusters, under Lt. Frank Kimbrough, former head coach at Baylor University, found it tough going in 1943 when they won two, lost four and tied one. Outscored 77-153 by their seven opponents, the Pre-Flighters beat Camp Davis and North Carolina State, while losing to Navy, Duke, Georgia Pre-Flight, and Wake Forest. They had another 14-14 tie, this time with Camp Lejeune.

Strong in '44

The 'Busters bounced back strong in '44 to win six, while losing two and tying another. Playing under Lt. Comdr. Glenn Killinger, former head grid coach at West Chester (Pa.) State Teachers College, the lo-

Dinner for Gridsters

Aside from the unseasonal angle of having a football banquet in September, the steak dinner given by the Cloudbuster Athletic Association for the grid squad in the Pine Room of Le noir Hall last Sunday evening was unique in another respect: it marked the school's first undefeated, unscored on—and unplayed—grid season.

DEFINITELY AGROUND—While "Tall in the Saddle" is the name of one of her recent movies, Cowgirl Ella Raines belies that title here where she is definitely grounded.

New Swimming Record

A new swimming record of 1:36.7 for the 200-meter free style relay event has been set by six cadets of the 73rd Battalion. The old mark of 1:38.3 was held by members of the 53rd. The new record making team includes L. S. Gift, H. Meny, J. W. Hornbecker, J. H. Gardner, J. S. Perry, and E. C. Rutherford.

cals outscored their nine opponents 151-146.

High spot of the year was a stunning 21-14 upset handed the powerful Naval Academy eleven. Led by All-America Otto Graham, from Northwestern University, the 'Busters also trimmed Duke, Jacksonville Naval Air Station, Cherry Point Marines, and Georgia Pre-Flight twice.

The losses were to powerful grid machines from the Bainbridge Naval Training Station and Camp Peary. The tie was a 13-13 deadlock with the University of Virginia.

Two Years Ago

Sports writers from newspapers and periodicals located in the first, third, fourth and fifth Naval districts have been here the past week inspecting first hand the U. S. Navy's Pre-Flight training program.

The third in a series of band concerts by the Pre-Flight band will be presented tomorrow afternoon in the Forest Theatre. A guest on the program will be Charles Everett, New York dramatic tenor of the concert stage.

Ensigns John and Frank Craighead, took some 600 cadets and a group of visiting newsmen five miles out from Chapel Hill and gave them first hand instruction in the newest wrinkle in Pre-Flight training—"Self-Preservation."

It was announced this week that the Cloudbuster eleven will open this season's competition with the Naval Academy at Annapolis. Ensign William C. Jarnagin and Lt. (jg) Glenn F. Presnell are assisting Coach Kimbrough.

A total of 192 cadets will participate in the annual fall regimental wrestling meet.

Cloudbusters Trim Blue Devils Again In Final Workout

The Cloudbusters made it two in a row over Duke last Saturday when they defeated the Blue Devils in a five-period informal practice tilt, 35-31. A week earlier the Pre-Flighters turned the trick by a 12-0 score.

Coach Paul Bryant's 'Busters showed plenty of scoring punch in their final workout of the season. After Duke had slipped out in front with a 7-0 lead in the opening period, the locals went to work and rolled up a 29-7 advantage before the collegians could score again.

Pre-Flight led at the end of the regulation four quarters by a 35-13 count. Duke then tallied three times in the extra period to make the final tabulation close.

Potent Offense

The well-balanced and potent Navy eleven registered its first touchdown in the second period on a 50-yard pass play going from Halfback Jimmy Allen to End Nelson Harris. A few plays later, Pre-Flight blocked a Duke punt, and recovered the ball in the end zone for two more points.

Scores came in rapid order for the Cloudbusters in the third and fourth periods. Quarterback Vic Turyn passed to End Dale Gentry for 12 yards and a score. Then after Bill Poling scampered 11 yards for the next touchdown, Allen exploded through tackle and galloped 90 yards to paydirt for the longest run of the day. Pre-Flight had intercepted a Duke pass on its own 10 to set the stage for Allen's run.

Jed Pepper notched the final 'Buster touchdown with a nine-yard drive late in the fourth period.

Fullback Harry Bonk successfully booted for the extra point after three of the touchdowns.

Two sailors lost their way. Said one: "We must be in a cemetery, there's a gravestone." The other lit a match and replied: "Yeah, he lived to the ripe old age of 128."

"What's his name?" "Some guy named Miles from Los Angeles."
