Getting the Capitol Ready for Congress

Painters are seen busily at work in the main corridor of the senate wing of the Capitol. A program of painting, redecorating, elevator installing, reconditioning of plumbing and general improvement such as has never been equalled since the British raid of 1814, has been under way. As a result it wouldn't be surprising if many congressmen fail to recognize the old place when-and if-they return.

Here, in Philadelphia, a cargo of licorice valued at $400,300 is being unloaded from a Soviet Russian steamer, being the first cargo of the kind to arrive in America from Russia. Both men and women made up the crew of the boat.

Land Bedrock Foundation of Nation's Main Wealth

The historian, James Anthony Froude, in his great work on Caesar, says: "No form of property gives to its owners as much consequence as That, he said, was true in the past, is true in the present, and would continue to be true in the future.

It is well in these times to turn te this sober statement by one of the great students of recent days. Values, in America have been based on land. in America have been based on land. That is the principal wealth in the country. Mortgage loans on land form the bedrock foundations of many insurance companies and banks. Land is a fixed asset. It is not liquid, and in a time of pressure it is not easily realizable. But this does not lessen the foundamental value. A good farm, even though the value. A good farm, even though the owner has a mortgage on it, is still a good farm. A vacant lot in an at-tractive suburb, even though no one wants it just now to build a house upon it, still remains as a potential site for a house. Neither the farm nor the lot will run away. That is the solid thing about land.

Political economists begin their books by saying that all wealth comes from the land. Each of us lives by its produce. The man in the city is as much dependent on the crops as as much dependent on the crops as is the farmer in the country. We have had a depression which has turned our measures of value topsy-turvy, and some of our land has been thought to be of less worth than is really the case. Yet nothing that is really the case. Yet nothing that has happened in the markets of the world has altered the land itself. It is still our most valuable possession. --Cincinnati Enquirer.
