ROOSEVELT WILL BE REELECTED

We do not mind risking any degree of reputation we may have in the field of political prophecy by stating our conviction that President Roosevelt will be re-elected, and by a safe majority.

As we see it this is not so much for the reason that the people as a whole favor all the policies and acts of the president, as it is for the reason that Roosevelt is a dynamic president—and Americans like action. No president within our memory has attacked a given problem with so much vigor as has Mr. Roosevelt. In the slang of the people, he took off his coat when he was inaugurated and went after it. Since that time there has been no let up in his drive toward recovery.

We would not attempt to say that mistakes have not been made, or that these mistakes have not been condemned by many people, but we do declare that in no case has there been obstinacy in sticking to policies proven in error, and the occurrence of errors has not been responsible for any let-up in the drive. Roosevelt started to work with a will, and has kept up this work with seemingly tireless energy and tenacity—and the net result, in spite of any partisan statements to the contrary, has been a long start toward recovery.

The American people love a fighter—and a winner. The President has proven that he can put up a real fight, and by November it will be plain that he is winning his fight against the depression, and we predict he will win against Landon as well.

BALLOTS AND BOOS

The News and Observer

News from the meeting of the Young Democrats in Greensboro: "The convention was nearly riotous when, after the election of officers, Ralph Simmerson, young Mc-asking abolition of the absentee ballot. His Donaldite of Rowan, proposed a resolution reading of the resolution scarce could be heard above the roar and he, too, was shouted down. Mecklenburg County's crusade against absentees got no further than the door of the resolutions committee room."

This may be the way politicians young and also politicians old feel about the sentiment for reform in the election laws of North Carolina. But boos alone will not answer the demand of thousands of North Carolinians that the election laws be improved as a basis for faith in the honesty of elections. Perhaps some of these young politicians think there is no need of change in the election laws. If so, they would have served their party and their State by undertaking to make out a case for the present perfection of the laws. If not, then all the Young Democrats in the world cannot bury those imperfections under boos.

Indeed, it seems just possible that the boosing in Greensboro was not the best evidence of the political wisdom of the Democratic young. Somebody might say: We asked for an honest ballot and all we got was a big, blaring boo.

If that's good politics, then it's a historical wonder why Marie Antoinette's famous remark about bread and cake didn't bring the French Revolution to a prompt close before it really got started.

Writing editorially about the attack of infantile paralysis in the family of Premier Mussolini the editor of the Smithfield Herald Says:

"Truly disease and death are no respecters of persons. They strike the families of the lowlies tand of the mightiest."

(Murray M. Klein)

One of the most effective but least publicized pitchers of the American League is Irving Hadley, of the New Yorkers. Received from Washington, in the deal that sent Johnny Deshong and Jesse Hill to the Senators, Hadley was only a minor point in the trade reckoning. The man whom the Yanks were anxious to get was Bob Johnson. To date Johnson has seen service in about 15 games. On the other hand Bump Hadley has compiled the neatest hurling average in both leagues, won 8 and lost 1.

Joe McCarthy thought that he would use Bump as a relief hurler, he couldn't see Irv as the best pitcher in the league. Bump has won 8 straight games for the longest skein in the loop.

Another revelation this year is the superb relief hurling of Pat Malone. Last year Pat was as wild as a hawk and lost countless games for the Yanks as a result of his erratic pitching. Marse McCarthy, who was Pat's manager when both were connected with the Cubs had faith in Malone's ability and continued to use him in relief roles. The results have far exceeded his fondest hopes. Pat has a neat average of nine won and two lost.

It is due in a large measure to the twirling of these two that the Yanks are at the top of the league.

Freddie Steele, coast batter, defeated Babe Risko in a 15 round bout to capture the middleweight crown. The Babe put up a game fight but he was no match for the hard hitting Californian. This was the second time that Steele beat Risko.

Pedro Montanez, sensational Puerto Rican light-weight, is signed to meet Jackie Berg, former champ now engaged in the throes of a comeback. Luis Firpo, who at the age of 42 was attempting a comeback, was stopped by an Argentine heavy, and now announces his retirement.

Leo Lomski and Max Baer are more successful in their comeback attempts. Recently they both chalked up their sixth consecutive victory.
