HIGHLANDS AS IT USED TO BE

To the Editor of "The Galax News",
Many years have passed since I first came to this wonderful little town. It was about 9 o'clock at night when I came through "Buck Horn Gap" seated in a vehicle called a "hack" drawn by two mules.

I was accompanied by my mother, sister and brother Richard, then about three and one-half years of age. My father, having a business to attend to in the North did not join us until November, six months later.

We spent the night on East Main Street at the home of Mr. and Mrs. (Con't. page 3)

"POPS CONCERT"

Highlands School Auditorium will again be turned into a concert hall Saturday evening at eight-thirty o'clock when the Transylvania Faculty Orchestra returns for a fine program of music.

Sandra Warfield, contralto of the Metropolitan Opera will appear as soloist with the orchestra. There are artists from the Philharmonic Symphony, Cincinnati, Minneapolis, Chicago, New York and Charlotte.

The orchestra is being brought to Highlands in a benefit performance for the Highlands Community Hospital.

HOSPITAL AUXILIARY MEETS

The Highlands Community Hospital Auxiliary met last Thursday at the Satulah Club Room. Mrs. Howe gave a report of the bazaar which was held Saturday July 11 at the Center. She reported $1,499.93 taken in plus $200.10 in donations and the auxiliary voted to give the hospital $1,500.00 and hold the balance as working capital.

They decided to have a sale the last week in August and the first in September using the articles that were left from the bazaar.
