GLENN FORD, RED BUTTONS, TAINA ELG STAR IN MGM'S "IMITATION GENERAL"

Suspenseful but replete with typical G.I. humor, MGM's "Imitation General" tells the story of a sergeant who doesn't know he's a hero but takes a vital gamble when he impersonates a general during a crucial episode of the Battle of the Bulge in World War II.

The sergeant is played by Glenn Ford, who comes to the new role from his hits in "The Sheepman," "Cowboy" and "Don't Go Near the Water." In co-starring roles are Red Buttons in his first film since his Academy Award-winning role in "Sayonara", and Taina Elg. Another prominent role is played by teenage favorite, Dean Jones.

Master Sergeant Murphy Savage makes his decision to impersonate Brigadier General Charles Lane (Kent Smith) because he is convinced that the sudden death of the general, if it becomes known, will make the difference between victory and defeat when groups of U.S. soldiers, separated from their divisions and aimlessly roaming the French countryside, are caught in a German pocket.

In the course of his adventures Murphy turns a scared fledgling soldier (Dean Jones) into a fighter and falls in love with Simone (Taina Elg), young French farm girl, whose house serves as headquarters. And in the story's humorous ending, he routs not only the enemy but also his own personal antagonist, the gold-bricking ex-sergeant Orville Hutchmeyer (Tige Andrews), who has been gunning for him.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude McGinnis and baby daughter have returned to their home in Cincinnati, Ohio after spending two weeks with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Don Warren at their home on the Country Club Grounds.

Visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. M.A. Geddie, in Cullasaja Heights recently were Mr. and Mrs. J.F. MacNillan of Anderson, S.C. and children; and Mrs. Ed Wilkins, Mrs. Nettie Allen, and Mrs. Iz Fountain, of Lumberton, N.C.

Mr. and Mrs. W.N. Norman of Winston-Salem, N.C. were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Norman and Mr. and Mrs. O.F. Summer.
