"SEE HOW THEY RUN", FINAL PRODUCTION, OPENS TONIGHT

The largest cast to be seen during the 1969 summer theatre season opens in the farce-comedy, "See How They Run" tonight at 8:30 at the Highlands Community Theatre. Seats are available at the box-office for tonight's performance. Reservations are advised (by calling 526-2695 or 526-3160), but are not essential for all performances tonight through Saturday at 8:30 p.m. and Sunday matinee at 2:30 p.m. The matinee performance closes the current season.

The fast-moving comedy, light-hearted entertainment that is excellent family fare, features actor-designer Dean Brown in the role of an American airman. Brown came to Highlands from Syracuse, New York, where he teaches at Onondaga Community College. He and director Michael Hall are graduates of the Carnegie Tech drama school in Pittsburgh, Pa.

The role of the vicar's wife will be played by Mary Ferguson. Marye Brent, popular actress with Highlands' audiences this summer, will be seen as the old-maid parishoner Miss Skillen.

Andy Harrison, actor and technician with the Academy Theatre, Atlanta, has been signed to play the Rev. Lionel Toop, a leading role. (CON'T ON P. 21)
