

A. C. C. DEFEATED GUILFORD 9-0

BOYKIN A. C. C. STAR HURLER
HOLDS GUILFORD TO 7
SCATTERED BINGLES.

To win his second college game in as many starts Roma Boykin held Guilford College to seven hits and no runs, and contributed two hits to the offensive side of the records. The game was rather slow and one-sided, as the 9-0 score indicates.

The "Little Christians" began the game right by turning walks and hits into two runs to clinch the game in the first inning. Guilford's only threatening tally came in the second inning when a feature "throw-in" from left field by Whitley clipped Griffin at the plate. Fulghum led the A. C. C. offense while Marshall and Hendrickson tied for the visiting batting honors. Riggan, Jones, Fulghum, and Daniels were fielding stars for the locals as were Griffin and Marshall for the visitors.

A. C. C. COLLEGE EASILY DEFEATS CAMPBELL COLLEGE.

WIN BY ONESIDED SCORE, 13 to 3.

The score 13 to 3 tells somewhat the characteristics of the playing as A. C. College defeated Campbell College on the local diamond. The game was long and uninteresting except to those who enjoy seeing the A. C. boys score. The game was carefully played by both sides, and was without spectacular playing though both teams pulled double plays.

The game began with Boykin and Brinkley as batteries opposing Grady and Bell of the visitors. Boykin began strong by forcing the first man to fly out to "C.D." on short, and then by ending the inning by handling out a couple of strike outs. Yet after he was given a three run lead during A.C.C.'s turn at the bat, he took things easy.

The visitors scored only in the second and fifth innings, while A. C. scored every inning except the fourth, fifth and seventh. Errors and hitting featured the game until the sixth inning which is noted for more hitting. During this batting spree the A. C. boys counted six runs.

The visitors rallied too late and too weakly, thus they were satisfied with two runs on this occasion. The last innings were played in less time as the track meet became a ball game.

Daniels, Boykin and Mattox lead the batting attack for A.C.C. B. Bell was most effective for the visitors.

THESE DAYS.

I stepped into the street,
What did I see?
A good looking JANE
Waiting there for me.

She greeted me at once,
But what did I say?
I'm sorta afraid Miss
To risk myself today.

She swung onto my arm,
What did I think?
Oh! my pocket book,
How it would sink!

Prof: "Illustrate the 'law of diminishing returns'."
Stude: "Send a sheet to the laundry and get a handkerchief in return."

REV. JOHN BARCLAY MAKS INTERESTING ADDRESS AT CHAPEL.

Rev. John Barclay, of the First Christian Church, appeared in the College chapel, Wednesday morning April 13th, with a most interesting address. The speaker drew his subject from the incident of Jesus and the rich young ruler. The young man came to Jesus in search of eternal life. In answer to Jesus' reply that the commandments be kept, the young ruler said that he had kept the commandments from his youth up. Jesus knowing that he possessed great riches approached him from the standpoint of that which he possessed. He was commanded to remove that which divided his life. Today the analysis of the insane mind makes the approach to determine what is dividing the mind. The dividing factor works the unpleasant condition of life and is the root of shallowness and incompleteness. For one to branch out into too many fields of learning, he only gets a mere shallow knowledge of them. There must be unity of mind directed towards that which one desires to make their major interest in life.

The rich young ruler turned from Jesus sorrowfully failing to heed the command. He died with his great wealth so far as we know. Until Dante wrote the "Inferno" we do not hear of him again. When it was asked who was the young man mentioned in the "Inferno," the answer came that it was he who made the great refusal. Wrong discussions alter history and are able to bring upon human endeavor, strife, and hatred. If the young man had accepted Jesus to go East when the Apostle Paul went West, India probably would have been Christian today. China probably would have been under the dominating influence of the Cross as a nation of peace instead of a nation as it is today.

There is a time in every life when a great decision should be made. How will you invest your life? Whom will you select as your life's companion? Whom shall you serve as Lord? There was a norm, a standard necessary for the young rich ruler. Jesus loved him, He was the standard. In Emerson's beautiful thought he said that he could not love the inferior. Jesus' love is for everybody. He is a non-respecter of persons. The young rich ruler was rich, but how did he use it? Use your riches for a dedicated purpose. It is interesting to note that men have recently given $1,000,000 for philanthropic and Christian service. As for authority, he had power and could use it. He was young. Jesus didn't see life in the present only. Three tenses are attributed to Him: past, present and future. He was humble and earnest. He wasn't proud. He came kneeling. It is spring time for the soul. Give to God and His kingdom will watch the results.

CLASSROOM DIARIES.

Were it possible to secure the notes written by a student directed to the person who occupies the adjoining seat in the classroom, one could make an interesting study of the note writer. These class notes would tell us much about that person. They would serve as a personal encyclopaedia, serving the place of a diary to record the events of last week-end, the latest campus scandal, and all irrelevant plans for the immediate future. The person's character would be reflected through these stray thoughts that are scribbled on the sky. His attitudes and his sincerity would surely be shown in these notes.

Such a collection of the side-line notes written by a student during his four years in college might be a wonderful contribution to our field of literature—remembering Howell became famous by taking notes on Dr. Johnson's conversations and transforming them into a book.

"Why won't your mother let you play on the piano?"
"She's afraid that I'll fall off."

LANGUAGE DEPARTMENT GIVES PROGRAM.

FOR LOS ESTUDIANTES DE ESPAÑOL Y DE FRANCÉS.

Thursday night, April 7, marked the second occasion of a presentation of a program by the modern language department of the college. The program was rendered in the native tongue of France and Spain. A throng of students and visitors gathered in the college auditorium to witness the interesting occasion. The numbers of musical pitch were of the finest in the selections to be obtained from that field. The play presented by four students of Spanish was a portrayal of Spanish life and was rendered in a most effective manner. Imitations of the Spanish Dance was given by Miss Alford and Mr. Whitley. Also the effective classio dance given by Miss Eleanor Woodard was an outstanding feature of the evening.

The auditorium was beautifully decorated with ferns and polished furniture that added a most effective taste. #### COLLEGE MOTTO.

The essays on the college motto contesting for the loving cup were handed in by April 1. The latin phrase "Habeant lumen vitae," translated as "They shall have the light of life," is the topic for the annual essay. This phrase selected as the college motto is very significant being one selected from our Bible.

The number of essays handed in showed a considerable increase over the total written in former years, as the number had doubled. The decision of the judges will not be announced until commencement. Together with other announcements this loving cup will be presented to the winner.

A. C. C. LOSES IN DRAMATIC CONTEST AT CHAPEL HILL.

In the finals of the college dramatic contest Atlantic Christian College lost to the Blue Masque of Catawba. A. C. C. presented the play, "Station YYY" which won out in the preliminaries held here. Miss Mildred Petway, acting the part of the boy in the play won the compliments of the audience.

"Good Medicine" was presented by The Blue Masque. In this play Howell Gabriel, a former Carolina Playmaker, proved his ability as an actor, especially as a laugh producer.

Though the A. C. College player did not take first place in the classification, the group displayed some good acting and also brought to light some new material. All those who made the trip to the State University reported an enjoyable visit, as the social life on the "Hill" was at a high ebb to entertain the high school and college dramatic clubs from all sections of the state.
