

GIRLS' ATHLETIC CLUB BEGINS ANOTHER SUCCESSFUL YEAR

Now that quite a few new members have joined the Girls' Athletic Club, all of them have started working hard so that the club might have another successful year.

The inter-society sports are well on their way, and both societies are working to win the soccer championship. Two games have been played so far, and the others will be played at an early date.

The Athletic Club has sponsored several social functions this year. Each Saturday morning a group of ten has been going out to cook breakfast. These groups have been somewhat handicapped due to the lack of utensils. However, this handicap was overcome recently when the club gave a birthday party on Friday night, October 26, at which time each member brought a present. So now everyone is ready to do big things. In fact, in a week or two the club is going to pull a big party. The reason this is considered big is that boys will be invited to go along.

YOUTH BANQUET HELD HERE AT COLLEGE

Signal observes some wrong in life and takes it upon himself to see that this wrong is corrected, and in doing this, according to the speaker, achieves "his quest for the best." Cites seven examples of historical characters who have stood out as society's emancipators and benefactors. Miss Maus gave such figures as Lincoln who righted slavery, Horace Mann, who died in public education, Queen Victoria, the kind hear, and Jane Addams, founder of Hull House.

Evidence that the training received at the one week of "Intensive Living" at youth conferences is bearing fruit was given by Mr. Barclay who stated that practically all of the Sunday School instruction in several departments in his church is being given by former Conferencees.

A similar opinion was expressed by Miss Stony who stated that another great value of youth conferences was the enlargements of one's conception of religion from that of a local church to a national or world wide religion.

George W. Flynt, of Winston-Salem, and president of the Youth Conference, presided at the banquet, which was attended by several Disciples leaders, prominent in the national organization. Besides Miss Maus, these included E. H. Quick, Southern Regional Director of Religious Education of Atlanta; W. H. Clemmer, Christian Board of Publications, St. Louis; Miss Martha Gibson, Japanese Missionary; Hurt Wilson, Secretary of the Disciples Pension Fund, and L. J. Cahill, 1st Vice-President of the United Christian Missionary Society, both of Indianapolis.

Two Japanese Students at a California football game stood up when the band played "How Dry I Am." They thought it was the American National Anthem.—Edinburg (Tex.) Valley Review.

MONDAY THE 13TH

Monday the thirteenth was a very unlucky day for "Fig" Beck. He was racing across the street to his room after having just taken a bath in the boy's dormitory when he severely cut his foot on a broken bottle. "Fig" was hearing out Secretary Perkins' statement that the South should wear shoes. But "Chillus" will be "chillus" as Professor Hamlin said when he heard of the accident. "Fig" thought, however, that he could run faster without his shoes.

To the Editor:

Last year the campus of Atlantic Christian College was the scene of such work and activity. If one had inquired as to its cause, one would have been told that all the work was part of the plan to beautify the campus. When the students left school, they visioned returning to see the campus well-grassed and bordered with flowers.

How far from that was the reality that greeted their eyes! Peas! Peas! Peas have their place—in a pea field—but they are not suitable for the beautification of a college campus. Perhaps it was necessary to plant the peas to nitrogenize the soil; but, I believe the student body will agree with me in saying that it is time for the peas to be removed, and something that will lead a better appearance to the grounds be substituted.

To the Editor:

I have often heard students speaking about cheating on classes here in our college. I feel that this is a disgrace to our student body. Recently I was speaking with a person on this question, he said that in college, which has a much larger body than A. C. C., that he saw less cheating in all his classes than in one classroom here. Something must be done about it. Is our Student Government a failure the reason cheating is so prevalent? Or, is the fact that the students fail to cooperate with the Council. Is it necessary for the Student Council to rigidly enforce the constitution regardless of criticism, to get results? I feel as if a gentleman's agreement should be made that each student support the constitution better in the future than we have in the past.

I would like to hear what someone has to say on the matter in the next issue of the Collegiate.

FELLOWSHIP RESUMES REGULAR WEDNESDAY NIGHT MEETINGS

With the return of college activities the Fellowship resumed its regular meetings each Wednesday evening from seven to eight o'clock.

There has been an increased attendance such as to necessitate the Fellowship's moving from its traditional meeting place, the Dramatic Art Room, to the College Auditorium. The increased interest and support shown by non-ministerial students to the discussion of vital issues now confronting the Political and Church world is indicative of the ever questioning attitude of the Church laity and especially the younger members. Such questions are taken up in the semi-formal discussions among students and professors at Fellowship Meetings.

The Fellowship following a suggestion by Pres. Hilley has deviated from its regular method of procedure by dividing its members into four groups for the purpose of having discussion classes on different phases of Sunday School work, such as organization, and methods of teaching. These discussion classes beginning November fifteenth will be held at the regular time of Fellowship meeting at separate places yet to be decided upon. These classes will meet three times a month, the fourth to be the regular group meeting, for the purpose of disposing of business and informal group discussions.

The plan has met with favorable criticism from both faculty and students, for it holds an opportunity for educational and practical advantages to every student in the college.

The Fellowship invites and urges the students' support. It has something worth-while to offer which merits the student's consideration and support.

COLLEGE MEN MEET NOV. 4-5 TO DRAW UP DORMITORY STUDENT GOVERNMENT

incoming sophomore class. . . . The officers of the organization shall be the officers of the senate; the president shall serve as judge, the vice-president as prosecuting attorney and the secretary-treasurer as clerk."

Members of the senate will consist of "six members the first semester, two elected by and from the senior class, two elected by and from the junior class, two elected by and from the sophomore class. The freshmen class shall elect one member at the end of the second semester. . . . This section was amended to the effect that the freshmen class get a chance to elect two members at the end of the first semester.

The authority of the Senate was subjoined to the college student council, the Dormitory Association to give verdicts only on minor offenses and to recommend to the faculty concerning major offenses, which are termed as "theft, drinking, possession of intoxicating drink, card playing and gambling." An amendment to this was made to the effect that recommendation shall be made to the student council instead of the faculty.

There is also to be a head in each building who is to be elected by the men living in that particular dormitory.

Some of the major by-laws read that:

"No card playing, drinking, or possession of intoxicating drink will be tolerated in the dormitory or annexes. Anyone guilty of the above offenses may be asked to leave said dormitory or annexes, and shall be recommended to the faculty as an undesirable student." In this the word "faculty" was stricken out and the word "student council" inserted in its place.

The laws governing a student's privileges say that "A freshman must be on the campus every evening beginning at 7 P. M." This was amended to give the student the right to leave provided he has permission from the president of the senate or the head of the house.

"After the first quarter a freshman making a grade of 80 may be out one night each week in addition to Saturday and Sunday nights. He must be in not later than 11 P. M." The grade of 80 in the above section was lowered to 78.

"Upper classmen who maintain a grade of 80 will have no restrictions on their leisure time. Those who fall below 80 will be restricted to one night each week in addition to Saturday and Sunday, and must be in not later than 11 P. M." The grade in this section was likewise modified to read "78."

The last major change to be made in the by-laws which read in its original as follows: "All students must register before leaving the campus for the night or for more than three hours. Students who work down town may register with the president at the beginning of the semester for the hours they are working." This was changed to read, "All students must register with head of house in which he resides before going out for more than six hours."

Other portions of the constitution and by-laws are important, but the above mentioned seemed to be most in dispute at the meetings.

The constitution and by-laws were adopted as amended and are now in the hands of the faculty for their approval.

The faculty and students are anxious that an agreement may be reached in the near future and that the Men's Dormitory Association may begin to function within a short time.

Clement: Smile that way again. Eloise smiled, blushed and dimpled. Clement: Just as I thought—you look like a chipmunk.

FRESHMAN CLASS RAPIDLY ADAPTING ITSELF TO COLLEGE LIFE

The class of '37, which is the largest Freshman Class in the history of Atlantic Christian College, is rapidly becoming acclimated to college life, and the members are already taking part in many of the activities.

Freshman boys are showing a keen interest in the athletics of the school. They were the victors in the Inter-Class Tug-o-War held on Home-Coming day, Nov. 4. Many of them are playing on either the Alethian or Hesperian Soccer teams, as well. Also, several new boys show an unusual talent for basketball, and, with the new gymnasium that is to be erected soon, a winning team should be produced this year.

The Freshman girls are equally as active in the life of the campus. In the Hesperian Society a program was planned and carried out by Freshman girls alone. In the Alethian Society both the boys and girls contributed to a "Freshman Program."

It is the aim of every member of the class to cooperate with their fellow students and the faculty in making this a college which one would take pride in calling his Alma Mater.

NRA REWARDS EVERYBODY BUT SCHOOL TEACHER

The "Forgotten Man," according to Dr. William Truont Foster, research specialist, is now the school teacher. The NRA seems to have planned to take care of the butcher, the baker, the candlestick maker, not to mention the gangsters, politicians, and other within-the-law criminals, but the men and women who teach the Reading, Writings and Arithmetic, or for that matter, the Algebra, the Latin, and the Art, has been left out of the equation.

PROF. J. M. WATERS ELECTED PRES. FACULTY CLUB

Prof. J. M. Waters was unanimously elected president of the Faculty Club, which held its first meeting of the year late in October. He succeeds Miss Martha Edmonston, the retiring president, who called the meeting to order, and conducted the session.

Departing from the usual procedure, the meeting was held in the late afternoon at attractive Stronwood Park, one mile from Wilson. The refreshment committee having provided everything needed, the club members cooked supper over an open fire before proceeding with business.

As its name indicates, the members of the club consist of the faculty of Atlantic Christian College.
