

ALLEN ELECTED TO EDIT PAPER NEXT YEAR

ADAMS VICTORIOUS IN ELECTION FOR STUDENT BODY HEAD

Barnhill Assumes Vice-Presidency For '36-'37

Dawson Defeated By Adams In Hotly Contested Election for New Student President

DARE BARNHILL ELECTED ASSOCIATION SECRETARY

Knott Wins Over Gurganus for Position of Student Body Treasurer.

Milton Adams defeated A. C. Dawson for President of the Student Association in the election held here yesterday.

Dick Barnhill was victorious over Woodrow Taylor and Sarah Hain Ward for Vice-President, Taylor running second in a closely contested vote.

Dare Barnhill was elected Secretary over Delois Turner, with Mary Mayo chosen as assistant on an uncontested ballot.

Marsh Knott defeated Hassel Gurganus for the office of treasurer. Nina Mallison was unopposed for Manager of Concerts; Marietta Whitley was elected Chairman of May Day over Marjorie Dew.

Lou Ellen Perry was elected as chief Marshall over Mattie Belle Stewart and Marvin Jackson.

Adams, a resident of Newton Grove is a Junior in College this year. He has been active in student activities during his stay here, taking particular interest in the religious life of the college. He has at various times held office in the religious groups, notably the Y. M. C. A., and was treasurer of the Sophomore class last year. His experience qualifies him admirably for the office to be held next year. He succeeds Oscar Brinson of New Bern as President.

Dawson, the defeated candidate, is president of the Junior class and has been a three letter man in sports every year he has attended college. His home is in Zebulon, N. C. Dawson is also vice-president of the Sigma Alpha fraternity.

Dick Barnhill, the newly elected vice president, makes his home in Stokes, N. C. He has been active in The Collegiate for the past two successive terms. Barnhill is a member of the Phi Kappa Alpha fraternity and will be a Senior next year. He succeeds Bryan Deans of Wilson to this office.

Dare Barnhill, also of Stokes, was elected to the office of secretary, succeeding Helen Genter, of Dunn. Miss Barnhill is a member of the sophomore class. Mary Mayo, who was elected assistant secretary, is from Alliance, N. C., and is a member of Sigma Tau Chi sorority and the Junior Class.

Marsh Knott, newly elected treasurer, is a member of the Sophomore Class and the Sigma Alpha fraternity, of which he has recently been elected treasurer for the coming year. He is a resident of Wendell, N. C. He succeeds Randolph Chandler, who was a candidate for editor in the election.

Hassel Gurganus, the defeated candidate is a member of the Junior Class and the Phi Kappa Alpha fraternity.

Marietta Whitley, the chairman of May Day is a member of the Junior Class and the Phi Sigma Tau sorority. Miss Whitley has taken an active part in the May Day festivals that have been staged on the local campus. Her home is in Wendell, N. C. Marjorie Dew, the other candidate is a resident of Wilson and is a member of the Junior Class also. Miss Whitley succeeds Sarah Loftin of Kinston who is also a member of the Phi Sigma Tau Sorority.

Lou Ellen Perry, who was victorious in the hotly contested race for Chief Marshall is a member of the Junior Class and the Phi Sigma Tau Sorority. Mattie Belle Stewart and Marvin Jackson, the other contestants, both drew a good vote. Miss Perry won, however, with a substantial lead.

The election lasting from ten until two was one of the most hotly contested that the campus has seen in several years. Practically every position was hotly contested, with feeling and campus politics running their full course.

Prior to the election there was some discussion as to moving up the date of election due to the fact that the names of the candidates had not been posted a week ahead of time. A special meeting of the Student Association was called by Mr. Brinson the evening before to decide upon the question. After some discussion it was decided by the students present to hold the election the next day anyway.

Eminent Traveler Presents Lectures

Dr. Donald Grant, Native of Scotland Speaks On the Conditions in Europe

Dr. Donald Grant, eminent traveler and lecturer finishes today a series of lectures to student groups at Atlantic Christian College, under the auspices of the Institute of International Education. Mr. Grant will lecture on subjects relative to "restless Europe and a changing world."

Mr. Grant was born in the highlands of Scotland. He is a graduate of the University of Edinburgh where he majored in History and Modern Languages. In addition he took four years of theological training at New College, Edinburgh.

Mr. Grant is best known as one of the organizers of the International Student Relief, afterwards the International Student Service, and initiated and was first editor of "Vox Studentium," formerly the international student magazine of the U.S.S., launched in 1923, printed in three languages—French, German, and English. In addition to his work for the destitute students of post-war Europe, he was secretary of the Student Christian Movement of New Zealand. He also served as the secretary of the same movement in Great Britain for five years. At one time he was central European Correspondent for the Christian Century.

During the post war years he has lived, travelled, and worked in France, 1919; in Austria (Vienna), 1920-21; in 1929-33; New Zealand, 1925-28; The Balkans 1929, 1929 and 1932; Geneva, 1924-25 and 1932; Russia 1923 and 1929. In addition he has visited repeatedly most European countries, and once Australia and India. He holds the Gold Medal—Honoris Causa—of the University of Vienna, and is honorary member of the Universities of Gray and of Innsbruck.

During past years Mr. Grant has studied closely the political and international situation, and has written and lectured on the basis of his experience in Central Europe, The Balkans, and Russia. Mr. Grant is well prepared to lecture on any of the many subjects of international importance relative to the conditions of European countries. He is quite capable of giving valuable information on the international political situation.

Among the topics discussed by Mr. Grant are:

Post War Europe, 1918-1936.
The Present Dangerous State of Europe.

Soviet Russia from 1917 to 1936.
The Importance and Significance of the Pacific Basin in 1936.
Italy, Abyssinia, and the League of Nations.

How Far Does The Present International Situation Affect Europe?

The committee of judges, which chose the prize-winning editorials was composed by Mr. Bruce Blyven, editor of The New Republic; Mrs. Dorothy Canfield Fisher, prominent novelist; Rev. Harry Emerson Fosdick, minister of Riverside Church; Hon. Lynn J. Frazier, United States Senator from North Dakota; Hon. Knute Hill, Congressman from Washington; and the Messrs. Helen and Mary Scobury of New Bedford, Massachusetts.

In announcing the choices of the committee of judges, Miss Shoemaker stated that editorials for the contest had been submitted by students from schools and colleges in sixteen different States. Editorials receiving honorable mention were submitted by Mark Clutter, University of Wichita, Wichita, Kansas; and by Milton Barber, Clark University, Worcester, Massachusetts.

Other students who received mention for the judges for their editorials are: Donald C. McGowan, Cornell University, Ithaca, N. Y.; Erna Harrison, University of Wichita, Wichita, Kansas; Willis C. Phelps, Morning-side College, Sioux City, Iowa; Eugene T. Huff, State Teachers College, Maryville, Missouri; and Alexander Karakiss, University of New Hampshire, Durham, New Hampshire.

The Nye-Kvale bills which are now before the House and Senate Military Affairs Committees, Mrs. Shoemaker explained, propose to prohibit compulsory enrollment in military training units in civil schools and colleges by amending Section 40 of the National Defense Act to provide that no R. O. T. C. unit may be maintained at any school or college "until such institution shall have satisfied the Secretary of War that enrollment in such unit (except in the case of essentially military schools) is elective and not compulsory."

"The editorials," Miss Shoemaker added, "are eloquent testimony as to the widespread opposition to compulsory military training which prevails among students everywhere. Congress would do well to take prompt action without delay. If it would heed the majority voice of these American undergraduates," she said.

The three prize-winning editorials will be found on page two.

BAND APPEARS IN MUSIC FESTIVAL AT CAPITOL CITY

New Uniforms A Feature of Season's First Concert.

The Atlantic Christian College Band under the direction of Millard P. Hurt was among the fifteen bands present at the third annual Eastern North Carolina Band Festival held in the Municipal Auditorium in Raleigh, April 5. The members of the college band were wearing the new uniforms recently purchased through the student association and efforts of Mr. Hurt.

The fifteen bands with approximately 500 members present, presented a three-hour concert.

Threatening weather held attendance at the concert down to 1,500 and caused the postponement of a parade and mass band concert in Nash Square.

W. E. Vincent, bandmaster of the 17th Field Artillery Band at Fort Bragg, who has been engaged in musical pursuits for over 40 years, was honor guest at the festival. He was to have been guest conductor at the mass band concert on the square.

Bands ranging from those organized only four months to many with years of experience appeared on the program, arranged by the band and orchestra leader of Eastern North Carolina to promote interest in music.

Every degree of proficiency from the tooling of ten-year-old beginners to the polished performance of the University of North Carolina concert band was displayed at the concert. Now preparing for an extended tour, the University band of 35 musicians, under the leadership of Earl A. Sloman, presented three numbers: March of the Spanish Soldier; Smolensky; Overture—H. Gnarany, Gomez; and Modern Rhapsody "Headlines" Colby.

Next to the University musicians, the units which received the most praise from the audience were the Durham High School Band under the direction of Herbert R. Hazelmas, University graduate student; Raleigh High School Band, directed by S. A. Braxton, who also conducted the 129th Infantry Band; Rocky Mount High School Band, directed by H. Vernon Hooker; Atlantic Christian College Band, directed by Millard P. Hurt; Greenville High School Band, directed by H. A. McDougle; and the Fayetteville High School Band, directed by J. D. Hendricks.

The Durham Band was organized only last September; the Fayetteville unit, five months ago. The Rocky Mount unit also is less than a year old. Among the younger bands, the Raleigh Junior High School Band, under the direction of T. B. McDowell, and the Twin County High School Band, directed by Charles L. McCullers, performed creditably. Ninety per cent of the Raleigh Juniors have been playing only since Christmas.

Other units on the program were: Apex and Cary High School bands, combined with K. A. Baxton directing; Williamston High School Band, W. S. Bobbitt, directing; Wendell High School Band, H. T. McDuffee directing; Conway and Woodland High School bands, combined with Charles L. McCullers directing; Selma and Farmville High School

Press Association Meets In Raleigh

Ragan and Hurt Attend N.C.C.P.A. Convention Last Week.

James Mason, editor of the Wake Forest College yearbook, was elected new president of the North Carolina Collegiate Press Association at the final business session of the 31st annual convention which was held in Raleigh with Wake Forest as host. Local representatives were Sam Ragan, Editor of The Collegiate and The Pine Knot and Clyde Hurt, Business Manager of the two publications.

Opening on last Thursday with an informal tea, the convention heard an address of welcome by Dr. Thurman D. Kitchin, president of Wake Forest. Characterizing the daily newspaper office as a "man-hood" Dr. Kitchin expressed the belief that college editors should attain a great degree of accuracy because they do not have to contend with the time element that plays such an important role in daily paper routine. He urged his listeners to consider the slogan, "all the news that's fit to print" and possibly change it to "all the news that's wise to print."

Friday morning was devoted to general business and editorial discussions. Editors of papers heard John M. Park, editor of the Raleigh Times, discuss practical problems related to journalism. Editors of magazines and annuals listened to Herbert Hiltch and Fred Brown, commercial representatives of engraving companies.

Publications business managers discussed various problems with Andrew Beck, representing a Raleigh printing establishment.

On Friday afternoon delegates were guests of the State Palace, and Capital Theatre of Raleigh.

The high spot of the three-day program was a banquet and dinner on Friday evening in the Str. Walter ballroom. The dinner was presided over by W. L. Brown of Davidson College, retiring association president, who introduced the speaker of the occasion, Jule R. Warren, secretary of the North Carolina Educational Association.

In his address Mr. Warren called attention to changes which have come about in the immediate past, saying, "The old folks are wondering whether or not these young people are going to be able to take the place of us older ones, who have made such a mess of things."

"My answer to that is yes," he asserted. "They couldn't make as big a mess of things as we have."

"There has been and will be continuing changes throughout this year," he continued, "but you needn't be afraid of the fellows who with great dignity and solemnity

BRINSON TO ORATE IN PEACE CONTEST

Oratorical Contest To Be Staged at Lenoir Rhyne April 24.

Oscar Brinson, a member of the debating team who won the preliminary contest held in Atlantic Christian College April 14 will represent the college in the Peace Oratorical Contest to be held at Lenoir-Rhyne April 24. Mr. Brinson is a former debater for the Hesperian Literary Society and he was one of the four students to represent the college at the debating contest held at Winthrop College earlier in the spring.

There were four entrants in the local contest: Oazel Bass, Newton Grove; Ianthe Osborne, Georgia; Ruth Faulkner, Smithfield, and Oscar Brinson, New Bern. Mr. Bass is a member of the Senior Class, Miss Osborne is a Junior, and Miss Faulkner is a freshman.

The orations have for their subject some phase of peace or some approach to the subject, but whole subject of peace being too broad for proper development in the allotted 1700 words. The entries are judged on a basis of 60 per cent for content and 40 percent for delivery.

This is a space for a feature story, but since our feature editor felt indignant the staff has got together and turned out this, which to most ears attuned to such will recognize as nothing else but a feature story.

Stephenson Elected To Head Business Staff

Randolph Chandler Loses To Allen In Race For Editorship.

ALL OFFICES ARE HOTLY CONTESTED

Hugh Cherry Defeated By Stephenson In College Election.

Randolph Allen, Junior, won over the only other candidate for the Editorship of The Collegiate and Pine Knot. Randolph Chandler Sophomore, by a big majority vote in yesterday's elections.

Business manager for next year will be Nelson Stephenson, Junior, who defeated Hugh Cherry, sophomore, at the polls in one of the strongly contested offices. The new staff will be announced in the next issue.

The election appeared to have been one of the hottest to be staged in recent years on the local campus. Polls were opened at ten o'clock yesterday morning and closed at two. Voting, however, fell short as only a bare two-thirds majority actually cast their ballot for any candidate. Campus politics were in full swing the night before when the candidates were announced at a special call meeting of the Student Association.

Mr. Allen, the newly elected Editor-in-Chief of both the College publications, the newspaper and the yearbook, holds from Oriental. He has been active in journalistic work for the past three years. He served as Sport Editor his freshman year and was nominated for the Editorship that year, losing to Lynwood Phillips. Mr. Allen has served as Managing Editor of The Collegiate for the past two years. Allen is also president of the Phi Kappa Alpha fraternity.

Mr. Allen succeeds Sam Ragan in the Editor's chair and will have charge of the next issue of this publication. Mr. Allen is also active in the dramatic and dramatic field. He was president of the freshman class, '33-34. He was one of the members of the Inter-Collegiate debating team that was recently defeated in the South Atlantic Forensic Tournament. Allen is also an active member of the Vagabonds, the college dramatic club.

Mr. Ragan was elected Editor last fall after the resignation of Lynwood Phillips. He has been connected with the publications of The Collegiate and Pine Knot for the past two years since his transfer from Textile Institute in 1934. Ragan is of this year's graduating class.

Mr. Stephenson, Clayton, defeated Hugh Cherry, Rocky Mount in the election for Business Manager. Stephenson a this year's transfer from Textile Institute is a member of Sigma Alpha fraternity. He was one of the winning Hesperian debaters in the recent annual Hesperian-Atlantic debate. Mr. Stephenson has served as Feature Editor of The Collegiate staff for the past year. He is also a member of the Bulldogs basketball team.

Stephenson succeeds Clyde Hurt as Business Manager. Mr. Hurt has served in this capacity for two years both while Mr. Phillips and Mr. Ragan were editors of the college publications.

The runner-up for the position as Editor, Randolph Chandler of Robersonville is a member of the Phi Kappa Alpha fraternity. He is also Treasurer of the student association this year.

Chandler has served on The Collegiate staff for the past year as Associate Editor. He is a member of the Alabian Society and the dramatic club.

Mr. Cherry, Rocky Mount, the runner-up in the election for Business Manager is Assistant-Business Manager on this year's business staff. He is a member of the Phi Kappa Alpha fraternity and is active in Y. M. C. A. work.

The new staff of The Collegiate will have charge of the next issue of the paper, under the supervision of the present staff. The new Editor will announce his staff sometime in the near future.

G. A. C. PLANS FOR ANNUAL CONVENTION

The G. A. C. Cabinet has been planning a series of programs in order to make up money to send representatives to the National G. A. C. Convention in Minneapolis, Minn. However, they have decided to wait and send representatives to the District Convention in Tallahassee, Florida next year. They have sponsored a Freshman-Faculty Basketball game and a cake raffle. They are now planning a Tumbling Exhibition, a Student-Faculty Baseball game, and a Lemon Party. They are asking the cooperation of the student body in all these activities.
