Gives Analogy of Values Of Discrimination

The Golden Knot Honor Society set aside the week of Dec. 5th to 9th for special emphasis upon the ideals of honor on this campus. Both Y. M. and Y. W. came to gether in a joint meeting, led by the honor society. Three Society members and Dr. Jenkins, a faculadvisor, talked before this joint meeting. On Friday, Dr. A. M. Fountain of State College talked to the whole student body in a chapel program.

In the Y. M.-Y. W. meeting, the Honor group set forth its ideals and gave a short history of the group

As chairman, Eugene Ogrodow ski, president of the Golden Knot, sketched the history of the society He further pointed out the two fold purpose of the organization to give recognition to those who have measured up to the ideals of the college and the society, and to Gives Freshmen develop and foster attitudes among the students that would make for the attainment of these ideals.

The organization's ideals o scholarship, service, character and leadership were discussed by two other members, Thelma Arner and Griffith Hamlin. It was pointed out that these ideals are absolute es sentials in real living. Character and constructive leadership ar needed both for college and worldrelations. Likewise, n scholarship is complete if the ideal of service is left out.

Dr. Jenkins, one of the faculty advisors of the group, concluded the Y. M.-Y. W. program by speaking on "The Values of Honor Societies in our American College Life.

It was pointed out by Dr. Jenkins that Honor plays a major par in the life of an individual or in the life of the college. The value of an Honor Society ceases to be present when the ideals of chara positive growth.

The debating team made a trip to Winthrop college in Rock Hill, S.-C., the first week in December to take part in the Dixie Tournament. The students making the trip were Cyrus Lee, Eugene Ogro-dowski, Ray Silverthorne, Hugh Kelly, and Julian Roebuck. Cyrus Lee, captain of the local team, was picked in the first eleven best debaters. The selection was made on the basis of points scored in five rounds of debris. Mr. Lee was number two on the list according to points. In the fine a, which were run off between all those making the first eleven, Mr. Lee ranked fourth.

The tournament was one of the largest of its kind, being attendd by colleges as far north as New Hampshire, as far south as Florida, and went as far as Alabama. There upro 250 contestants from 36 college, in the meet. The tournament is in annual affair "Strawberry sponsored by the Leaf" of Winthrap College. This was the first time an Atlantic Christian team has been repreented in the fall moot, although the spring tournament has been a part of the team's schedule for the past few years.
