Associated Collegiate Press

since September long editorials have been printed about dressing for meals. The request was a simple one and one that could easily be carried out—Will you please wear a coat and tie to dinner?

However, to date, the students of A. C. C. have completely ignored it. Is it possible that their intelligence level is so low that it is impossible for them to take it in, or is it merely a case of stubborn indifference to any cultural education?

A certain group of students took it upon themselves to talk to the freshman who violated this request, but their hands were tied. How can you make a freshman do a thing that the upperclassmen refuse to do? The freshman query is "Why should we?"—and they are right. If the seniors and juniors, after spending at least three years in collegiate atmosphere, have learned no better, then it is impossible to educate the freshmen.

Thanksgiving day most of the students did wear their coats, but some, including some of the most prominent seniors, came to dinner in sweaters and wearing no ties. These seniors are the models that the underclassmen follow, and they are exceptional models, to say the least.

This paper thinks the time has come for drastic action to be taken. We have pleaded enough. Think it over carefully and see if your own sense of common self-respect does not tell you that we are right.

KAMPUS KNIC KNAX

It is rumored around that Agnes Brite and "Little Abner" are going to renew their case, even though it did look like it was going to die a natural death.

Well, folks, Roebuck says that Margaret has given him the air. What's wrong, Margaret? Is it Rogers again?

And Buddy! He won't tell a soul who the two freshman girls are whom he thinks are s-o-o cute.

Sue says since she has been house president of the girls' dormitory that it has been quieter than ever before. A word to the wise, Sue—it is the calm before the storm.

A jack-in-the-box. Sybil Spencer at a basketball game.

The campus club is disbanded for the time being. Ruth, Faye, Agnes and Evelyn are back in circulation again.

Sb-h-h. Don't breathe a word of it—but we think Wade is being pursued.

We can't figure out the object of Irving's affections. He thinks that variety is the spice of life.

The only way the kid could remember Lula's name was to think of something that grew in the ground. "Hey, Miss Hardychoke."

Senior girls score again! They are allowed to go to movies at night, with gents, unchaperoned.

Will someone give us the inside dope on the Leo-Harrison case?

Marjorie and Claude—from now on, give at least five minutes warning before peeping into a classroom.—M. & R.

Among those seen to gather at the formal dinner Wednesday night were Dot Roberson and Red Rogers. So what? Nothing — — — yet.

Only two can play the game of love, Jarman.

All the girls envy Mike and Irma Belle, 'cause they are planning to go to the "Rose Bowl" game. Mike has even saved all her cuts.

Better watch out Carson. Alberta might not like it if she knew a certain little girl thought you were nice.

Cleveland, if you were as tired wearing that beard as everyone else is looking at it—you'd do something about it.

Wonder where Ray Silverthorne is these days? Could you help us any, Susan Alice?

Daisy surely does go for the Willis boys from Arapahoe.

If he but knew—Brax could be the answer to several A. C. maidens' prayers.

For details about Waylon being — — — at A. C. Tuesday, see Lois.

Actions speak louder than words, Catherine. Be careful, because some of us have already guessed who he is.

Faye's latest game is "Farmer in the Dell."

Mr. Chappell has given Tingle special permission to leave practice teaching class early so that he may get his cow milked before dinner.

STUDENTS HAVE FORMAL DINNER

Several activities have been planned for the week preceding the Christmas holidays.

One of the most outstanding events was the formal dinner which was given in the dining hall Wednesday evening. This Christmas dinner is an annual affair, and the students always look forward to it with great anticipation.

On Thursday evening the Women's Dormitory Council gave its annual Christmas party to the girls. This party is usually held in the girls' lounge where there is a beautifully decorated tree with gifts underneath. After the gifts had been distributed the Council served refreshments.

The activity in which the greatest number of students take part is the caroling. Friday evening the students will meet in front of the girls' dormitory and will be divided into groups. These different groups will go around town singing Christmas songs. Later, they will all meet in the gymnasium where they are served hot chocolate.

SIGMA TAU CHI HAS TURKEY DINNER

The members of the Sigma Tau Chi Sorority honored their sponsors, Miss Eleanor Snyder and Mrs. F. A. Hodges, with a turkey dinner in the banquet hall of the European Cafe, Friday evening, December 7th.

The table was attractively decorated carrying out the Christmas motif.

Those attending were: Miss Eleanor Snyder, Mrs. F. A. Hodges, Lula Hardy, Mary Matthews, Frances Gurganus, Marguerite Lane, Dottie Fulghum, Sara Fulghum, Irma Dudley Ward, Evelyn Willis, Cathlene Hoell, Johnnie Green, Mary Louise Wendt, Vivian Douglas, Martha Nelson.

MRS. EICHER AND MRS. LEHMAN GIVE TEA

One of the prettiest events of the season was a tea honoring the faculty given by Mrs. Eicher and Mrs. Lehman in the parlor Wednesday afternoon, December 7th from four-thirty to five-thirty o'clock.

The hostesses informally received the guests and were assisted by Miss Frances Harper, who presided graciously at the tea table, and by Misses Grace Hudson, Mildred Peele, Anne Saunders, and Mozelle Rieks, members of the Junior class, who served.

The Christmas color scheme was effectively carried out both in the decorations and the refreshments. A handsome poinsettia graced the center of the lace covered table, white and green candles stood at each side of the center.

Red sandwiches with cream cheese topped with olive slices, white sandwiches with red filling, assorted cakes, tea and red and green mints were passed to the guests.

THE STUDENT SPEAKS

Dear Editor:

I feel that something should be said about this beastly sport, boxing. Last Friday evening several of the boys and girls of this school stood by and saw several of the boys beaten down and two boys knocked out cold. Can it be that our blood has hardened to that of our ancestors? Can it be that their cry for Blood! Blood! Blood! has come down to us and we can't break away from it? I think it the time to do something about this is NOW before someone is seriously hurt and not afterwards.

It wouldn't have been quite as bad had only men been at this exhibition, but there were the ladies. The women were yelling "Hit him! Hit him!" When blood was seen, they yelled for more blood. Don't get me wrong though, all of the ladies were not from the college.

If the Department of Athletics would abandon this brutal sport, and substitute in its stead some lighter form of entertainment, I think they would have sports that better fit the name—Atlantic Christian College.

Dear Editor:

Boxing has been the general subject on our campus since the recent match. Some among our number inform us that boxing should be thrown aside as one of those inhuman sports which is too barbaric for our modesty. They would like to toss it on the pile with gladiatorial combats to be looked upon as something which is too rough for our athletes.

As far as cruelty is concerned, there are very few mishaps in inter-collegiate pugilistic encounters, even though a frequent black eye or an extremely red nose may be seen after the bouts. Boxing is surely one of the best developers physically that we have on our sports sheet. It creates keen mental alertness possibly more than any other sport.

If there is any doubt as to the popularity of boxing, just glance over the gate receipts or listen to those yells at the rigade.

A Boxing Enthusiast

Dear Editor:

When I entered this college I understood there was to be no card-playing of any kind. I took for granted the reason for this measure was that A. C. C. was a church school. Since I have been here, I have found things in the opposite light.

At first the boys would play cards late at night. They talked quietly and kept their doors locked. At this time of night the council members would be asleep and no one was bothered, unless, it was the professors who had to tolerate the boys sleeping on class the next morning.

But it has come to the point where they laugh and talk in loud tones. Their doors are wide open. They don't wait until the middle of the night to play, rather they play all night.

I think the council should be more alert and on the job, if A. C. C. is to live up to its name.

HUMOR

By JOHNNIE GREEN

Cleveland: "You can't see time; no one ever saw it. You can't hear it, you can't touch it."

Professor: "You are killing it."

He: "Will you marry me?"

She: "Why, you couldn't keep me in handkerchiefs."

He: "Well, you don't expect to have a cold the rest of your life, do you?"

Louis E's Aunt: "Louis, aren't you sometimes afraid that you will lose control of the car?"

Louis: "Constantly, Aunt, I'm already three installments behind."

Judge: "What's the charge against this man, officer?"

Officer: "Bigotry, yer honor. He's got three wives."

Judge: "I'm surprised at your ignorance, officer. That's trigonometry, not bigotry."

Martha: "Don't you think that clever men make excellent husbands?"

Red: "My dear, clever men don't make husbands."

College Boy: "Give me a bottle of liniment and a bottle of furniture polish."

Druggist: "What in the world are you going to do with such a combination?"

College Boy: "Well, my roommate has rheumatism in his legs, and one of them is wooden."

F. H. (at depot): "Say, look at all those men over there with their heads together in a circle. Must be a football team going somewhere to play a post-season game."

John K.: "Why man, that's no football team. That's just a bunch of Scotchmen lighting their cigarettes."
