Miss Massengill Attends Seminar In Atlanta

Miss Bessie Massengill, Dean of Women, represented Atlantic Christian College at the seminar on religion for faculty, secretaries, and YWCA advisors held in Atlanta, Ga., January 31, February 1, 2.

The seminar was held under the auspices of the student councils of the national YWCA and YMCA in the South. It is a meeting of faculty and professional YMCA and YWCA staffs working in white and Negro colleges in the South, who are interested in the Christian religion.

The guest speaker for the meeting was Dr. Henry Nelson Wiemann, professor of philosophy of religion, University of Chicago, Divinity School, Chicago, Ill. Other speakers were Rev. Richard I. McKinney of Virginia Union University, Richmond, Va., and Dr. Elizabeth Lam of Centre College, Danville, Va.

Basic questions discussed at the seminar were: What is the central meaning of the Christian religion and of commitment? What are the areas of action in which religion must operate? What is the province within which a campus religion group functions with special emphasis on the Christian association? What answers are suggested in the contemporary thinking of our world? What is the function of religious leaders? What kind of adult leadership must be developed to provide techniques of counsel to forward vital Christian fellowships?

The seminar met at the Woman's Club building, Emory University, Atlanta, Ga.

H. A. Scott, Duke, to Head N. C. Students

Chapel Hill Named Mecca for Next Year

H. A. Scott, Jr., of Duke University was elected president of the North Carolina Methodist College Student Conference at the winter session held in Greensboro February 7-9. Mr. Scott succeeds Miss Bess Johnson, of the Woman's College, as president.

Methodist students from seventeen different campuses sent delegates to the three-day meet. Mrs. Grace Sloan Overton, of Ann Arbor, Mich., the guest speaker and forum leader, delivered a series of interesting addresses. Titles of discussions were: "Will the Church Build for Tomorrow?" "The Church and Human Fellowship," "My Vitality and the Vitality of My Church," "Can I Have Faith in the Future?"

With registration beginning in the afternoon on Friday, the delegates soon found every minute taken up. A series of addresses followed by interesting forums, a social given at the "Y" but at the Woman's College, a most delightful banquet on Saturday night.

Why Did It Have to Happen to Me?

Well, those unescapable exams have come and gone. The lights at A. C. C. long ago stopped staying on all night. And now everybody has settled down into new routine. However, a few statements were made during exams which should not be left unnoticed. One freshman girl (who wishes her name to be withheld) sarcastically said, "I feel as if I had been through Pandemonia backwards." Maurice Holland reports that his mind is a perfect blank. We understand that he wrote all he knew during exam week. Irene Langston hopes that she will be able to go "Scotchie-Popping" since exams are over. How about an explanation, Irene? "If you can't learn enough in four and one-half months to pass an examination, you certainly can't learn enough overnight." Winston Graham states, "So, I didn't worry over them." And besides, we understand that he doesn't believe in exams. Russell Arnold says that he was impressed by the fact

Young Prophets Conduct Services

Hocutt Speaks

On Sunday, February 2, the Ministerial Club had charge of services at the Robersonville Christian Church. Neal Wyndham presided. Aaron Hocutt delivered the morning message. He used as his subject: "The True Test of Greatness." Howard James sang a solo, "Beneath the Cross of Jesus," accompanied at the piano by Charlite Harrison. The club was taking charge of services for the regular pastor, Mr. Perry, who was very ill at that time.

The club recently elected officers who will serve until the end of this year. The newly elected officers are President, Neal Wyndham; vice-president, George Gard; secretary and treasurer, Nina Wilcox.

This year the club has been having variety in programs. Different members of the club have spoken to the club, delivering messages of their own preparation. Several visitors have also spoken to the club during the year.

Honor Class Organized By Dr. Morgan

Interest and Records Determine Selection

This semester a research class in interracial problems has been organized by Dr. Morgan. This is the second year of such a class. Students are invited to join the course and then only those interested in such fields and with outstanding records.

The class meets once a week in Dr. Morgan's home. One afternoon of each week the group goes out in Wilson to do research work in the problems of Negro delinquency.

The class enrollment consists of Maurice Holland, Kirby Watson, Jo Lamm, Jim Walters, Katie Gold Brewer, Julian Roebuck, Preston Parsons, Nina Wilcox, Clayton Weeks, Lib Stoney, Ola Mae Kelly, Isabelle Williams, Susan Alice Waller and Adair Doyle.

Students Give Lincoln Program Over WGTN

The usual college program, Wednesday, February 12, was under the direction of Miss Wilma Williams. As it was Lincoln's birthday, a program was prepared and given on Lincoln's life.

The program began with those familiar words that Lincoln stated at Gettysburg, Pa., better known as the Gettysburg Address. Miss Madeline Denning gave this reading.

Miss Bet Ward reviewed the facts concerning Lincoln's early childhood. She expressed the joys, sorrows, and obstacles that Lincoln overcame.

Air Corps Fledglings Soon to Be Men With Wings

Poised for flight in their basic training planes these flying Cadets at Uncle Sam's giant "West Point of the Air," at Randolph Field, Texas, soon will be wearing wings of the full-fledged pilot of the Army Air Corps. These low wing monoplanes with 450 horsepower motor are used exclusively for basic training at the Texas airdrome.

A. C. Graduate to Receive Wings

L. B. Farnell, '39, Graduates at "West Point of the Air"

Word has been received here from Randolph Field, Texas, that Leland B. Farnell, Jr., of Jacksonville, N. C., graduated from the "West Point of the Air" on February 8th. He is among the 335 future pilots of the army air arm who are expected to attend a special ten-week advanced flying course at Kelly Field, after which they will be commissioned as second lieutenants in the Air Corps and will be awarded the coveted pair of wings, emblem of military pilots.

Farnell is well remembered by the faculty, alumni members, and a number of juniors and seniors on the campus now. He graduated in the spring of 1939, taught a short while and found himself with a burning desire to fly. While in school here Farnell participated in boxing, assistant business manager of the '39 Pine Knot and was a member of Phi Delta Gamma fraternity, in which he held numerous offices.

Uncle Sam now has more than 10,000 trained airplane pilots, but an additional 12,000 officers are to be trained in the coming year, according to Air Corps.

Get Up So Early In The Morn'

What Say, Fire?

One night three weeks ago, Lester Edwards came rushing into the dormitory going up the steps three at a time. By the time he was mid-way up the stairs the boys heard the distressing call: "Fire! Fire!" But little attention was paid by the boys who were lounging around telling "Ferdinand stories," until they heard that the chemistry lab, which is on the ground floor, was aflame.

With the thoughts of the chemicals catching, the boys decided to get moving. Those that had gone to bed earlier were awakened by their friends and everyone clamored for protection. Rudolph Corbet, who is claimed to be the laziest in the dormitory, tried to toss his trunk out the window, but it was too large for the small opening. He grabbed his clothing in his arms and made off for a safer place.

One brave young fireman took the small extinguisher from its place of rest and went to quiet the flames. This was a false alarm as far as an actual fire was concerned, but it was a fire drill as far as emptying the building of its occupants was concerned, in a minimum of time was concerned. Everyone found the ground floor happy that there was no fire which would have meant loss of property to the students and

Chicago Students Visit Campus

A small team of Chicago University students came to our campus February 5, 1941. These young men came to discuss their religious viewpoints with others, in order that both might be benefited.

These people were on the campus all day and were open to hold any group discussions, or personal interviews, and answer any questions that were possible on the matters of religion. They did not represent any organization but were a spontaneous undertaking of students themselves.

These students must have accomplished something because of the host of questions that were asked at the meetings that they held in the chapel. Interest was certainly aroused among the students who heard them on the subject.

Wallace E. Haines, secretary of the university action committee, was one of the three students on the team. He is a graduate of the University of Missouri, where he received his A. B. and his M. A.

Not to Appear

It has been learned here that Fulton Lewis, Jr., noted radio news commentator, will not appear here as previously announced in this paper.

Last year Mr. Lewis was voted the most popular news commentator on the air by Mrs. Roosevelt and the Woman's Guild.

Originally Mr. Lewis was to be brought to the campus under the auspices of the Campus Religious Council. Mr. Lewis may be heard over the Mutual Broadcasting System each weekday night at 7 p. m. over Station WWTM.

Speaks at Afternoon and Evening Assembly

Kirby Page, an author of world-wide fame, gave very interesting and profitable addresses to the student body of A. C. C. in the Howard Memorial Chapel on February 13.

Mr. Page was born in the States, being a native of Texas. He graduated from Drake University, and is minister of the Disciples Church. He has crossed the ocean 20 times and has visited some 35 countries.

Mr. Page is author of nineteen volumes and sixteen pamphlets on international, economic, social, and religious questions. His books have been published into all the modern languages and distributed throughout the world. More than a million copies of his books and pamphlets have been sold.

He is also an evangelist. At the present time he is touring the United States holding regional three-session one-day conferences on Personal Religion and World Problems. He has recently written a book, "Living Prayerfully," which will be off the press soon.

Recently, Mr. Page has spoken at the University of North Carolina and the Women's College of University of North Carolina. Other universities where he has spoken to the student body include Harvard University, Stanford University, Wake Forest College, Duke University, Emory University, Columbia University, Washington and Lee University. He was a special lecturer at Yale University Divinity School during 1938 and he has been a member of the faculty of Union Theological Seminary summer school.

He has spoken in hundreds of churches in the land, including First Baptist Church, Los Angeles; Euclid Avenue Baptist, Cleveland; Central Christian, Houston; Winfield Methodist, Little Rock; St. Luke's Episcopal Church, Montclair; First Presbyterian, Columbia, S. C.

New Students Enroll; New Books in Demand

Look 'Em Over Now

On January 26th, the new semester of A. C. C. began. With the beginning of the new semester, there were new classes, new books, new clothes, new resolutions, but the heat of all-new students. These students are eagerly welcomed by the student body. The new students are:

Troy Godwin of Dunn, who is a graduate of Dunn High School. As yet his major is undecided, but it is a decided fact that he "likes A. C. C. because of the friendliness." He said, "I began to major in math but it was too hard so I decided that I wouldn't major in anything."

Cast Selected for Spring Play

Miss Merring Addresses The Dramatic Club

The Dramatic Club is working on a new play. The name of the play is "The Importance of Being Earnest," by Oscar Wilde.

Under the direction of Miss Eleanor Snyder, instructor in English and dramatics, this 3-act farce will be given in early spring.

Members in the cast include: Kirby Watson, Mavis Leggett, Dolly Laneberger, Claude Howard, Sarah "Johnny" Green, George Gard, William Gray, Neal Wyndham, and Elizabeth Stoney.

Doll Collection Presented
The Dramatic Club had as its guest at the meeting, Tuesday night, January 28, Miss Sarah Merring, of Wilson.

Miss Merring brought her large collection of dolls, from all parts of the world, to give the members of the Dramatic Club and play production class ideas on how to make dolls and model clothes for them.

Some of these dolls were made of clay, carved wood, corn husks, fruits, straw, cotton, quilted cloth, gourds, and sea shells. These dolls were in many different positions and doing many different things. Some of these dolls were acting, reading newspapers, fishing, going to parties, and dressed for coronation balls.

The dolls represented the customs and dress of the people in England, Cuba, Switzerland, China, San Francisco, Western North Carolina, Cherokee Indians, Russia, Italy, Portugal, Mexico, Florida, Siberia, Scotland, Albania, and Hungary.

Don't Miss This

Be sure and tune your radio dial to WGTN on Monday night, February 17, at 8:45. The Chamber of Commerce in Wilson is sponsoring a series of broadcasts entitled "Know Your Community." This particular night, the program is entitled, "Know Your Atlantic Christian College." There will be several speakers on this broadcast from the faculty and students of our college.

Baptist Group Meets to Plan For Conference

Presidents of campus Baptist Student Unions met in Greensboro from January 31 through February 1st to discuss local problems and also to plan the winter student conference which will be held in Chapel Hill, tentatively in April.

Follow the Filterable Virus across the Campus

The filterable virus has been floating around the campus for the past three weeks coming in contact with the students of A. C. C. College; however, things seem quieted down quite a bit this week.

Jimmy Cressy was "tied down" for a few days, thanks to the filterable virus, and could not meet the COLLEGIATE staff last week.

We all missed JOHNNY HICKS strolling down the halls with MAGGIE GLOVER. From all reports he met the "Virus" and suffered the worse from the encounter.

ST. CLAIR CADELL and "SLIM" GRIFFIN well represented the boys living down on West Gold at the Phi Kappa House by entertaining for several days the offsprings of "filterable."

Not to be outdone JACK MAR-

Raise $108.00 In One Week

Recently the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A. of Atlantic Christian College completed their drive to raise sufficient funds to care for an orphan for the coming year. With the present world conditions bringing suffering to thousands of helpless children abroad the local organizations directed their efforts towards relieving one victim.

Miss Emily Parker, now in England, has been working with refugee children for some time, it is through her that contacts were made and the adoption completed. The adopted child will remain in the home provided for through the foster parents, in England, and will write often, personal letters so that the student body may be able to keep in contact and feel the gratitude of the young child.

The idea originated in the YMCA, with Ray Silverthorne heading the committee for investigation; however, the cabinet invited the YWCA to go in together and feeling that the two could do a better job, both organizations presented the matter before the student body, without whose help the project would have been doomed to a watery grave.

Elizabeth Stoney, Ola Mae Kelly, Madeline Denning, Ray Silverthorne, Neal Wyndham, and George Loftin were outstanding in the campaign. Members of the faculty were interested in the project and gave generously in both time and money.

Blackout Services

With all the blackouts in Europe it was most appropriate that in order to let the student body experience some feeling of the dark nights, a special service was held in the chapel without the customary lights but without the blasting of bombs and screeching of sirens the chapel was typical of a London night. Elizabeth Stoney led the devotion service and special prayers were offered.

Adventurer Is Sponsored By Committee

John Valentine, the singing adventurer who circumnavigated the world on a song, presented a colorful and humorous lecture to the students of A. C. C. Tuesday night, February 11, in the Howard Memorial Chapel. Mr. Valentine was brought to A. C. C. under the auspices of the entertainment committee.

Mr. Valentine was born in England, but soon came to America, and has crossed the Atlantic approximately 15 times. He is one of the finest baritones of this age. Before he took up singing as his professional career, Mr. Valentine was a dramatic actor. This act-
