

Ross Heads New Business Club

On October 13, the students organized a business club which is the first of its kind to be organized here at Atlantic Christian College. Officers were elected as follows: President—Allan Ross, Vice President—"Corky" Wheeler, Secretary—Mildred Blackmon, and Treasurer—Carolyn Bullard.

The advisors are Mrs. Boles and Mr. Swain, the head of the Commercial Department. All students studying Business Administration are eligible to join this club. The meetings are held every Thursday night at 7:00 in the Commercial Department. All business students are urged to join, if they wish.

On Tuesday, October 20, the club held a wiener roast out at the Recreation Park. Everyone who attended commented on the wonderful time which they had.

We are planning to do constructive work in the Business Club. Business students, join and let's make this club one of the best on the campus. See Mildred Blackmon and have her put your name on our roll.

Busy Professor Reveals Events Of A Busy Past

By RICHARD ZIGLAR

"Students at AC aren't lazy — At least they always seem to be in one thing or another."

This is the opinion of our new (and not lazy) associate professor of Religion, the Reverend Allan R. Sharp. Mr. Sharp hails from Covington, Kentucky; however, Covington can claim him as a native for only 5 years. At the age of 15 he entered school in Portsmouth, Virginia where he received his high school diploma.

For two years Mr. Sharp was employed by Sears & Roebuck in Portsmouth as group advertising manager. At the end of two years, the calling of the ministry was accepted, and he again took up his studies at Lynchburg, Virginia. While in school there for two years, he played first-string varsity basketball, was a member of the Varsity Club, and was chaplain of the Virginia Literary Society. In the fall of 1947, a transfer was made to Transylvania College in Lexington, Kentucky.

One of the most important things happened in September of 1949 when he entered College of the Bible, a seminary in Lexington, Kentucky. He met the one whom he married. His wife is the former Miss Glyn High of Wilson. Having received her A. B. Degree in Religion at Atlantic Christian College, she was doing graduate work at the College of the Bible.

While at College of the Bible, Mr. Sharp was athletic director at a nearby school and was also minister of the Mill Creek Church in Maysville, Kentucky. In 1951 the faculty of the College of the Bible elected him a member of Aleph Theta Zeta, a national honorary scholastic fraternity for theological school. After having completed three years of seminary work, a Bachelor of Divinity Degree was bestowed upon him. From Lexington Mr. Sharp ventured to the Wendell Christian Church in Wendell, where he is still minister of this church, and will remain so until a replacement can be had.

In the classroom Mr. Sharp displays a most pleasing manner. He is interested in his subject matter and is, therefore, able to hold the student's interest.

Aside from his classes, he is sponsor for the Freshman Class, advisor to the Student Christian Association, chairman of the Chapel Committee, and serves on the Religious Life Committee.

Students Survive Summer Jobs

Tobacco And Shackelford

By Jo Ann Moore

Were you bothered by all the heat and dry weather this summer? Don Shackelford was, or at least his tobacco was. Don tended a tobacco farm this summer. He was in charge of the whole works, from planting that began in January to the selling which is now taking place.

Because of the draught, about 35 per cent of the tobacco was lost. This year he tended 7 acres on a farm between Wilson and Kinston. In spite of Don's knowledge and capability in this field, he doesn't intend to go into farming as a vocation. He wants to go into some kind of work with young people. It seems heat and dry weather don't stop them from growing.

Pickles And Hemby

By Jo Ann Moore

How does it feel to be a pickle? James Hemby couldn't answer that one, but he did tell how it felt to work in a pickle plant. According to James, it was hard work this past summer but he wasn't sour about it.

He worked at the Lutz and Schramm pickle factory, a central plant at Ayden where farmers from the surrounding area brought their cucumbers to sell.

James was in charge of checking the pickles when they were graded and of writing out checks for them when they were weighed. During the last two weeks of the season, help was short and he had to help unload the cucumbers.

Sometimes he worked as long as from 8:00 a. m. to 2:30 a. m. This wasn't so good when he had to preach the next Sunday morning, because he was sometimes caught napping.

Bibles And Herndon

By Jo Ann Moore

"Hi y' all."

It seems the northerners really like a southern accent. Just ask Bruce Herndon. He and Jack Denning sold Bibles this summer in the coal mining region of Penn.

The people in the region where he worked were mostly Mennonites or Catholics. Often when they acted interested in buying, they were only interested in listening to his southern accent, because it was "So cute."

He drove a car to the towns, but most of the transportation was afforded by "Mike and Pat" (On further investigation, this proved to be his feet.)

In the middle of the summer, he quit the job to return to the South. He did this because business wasn't so good, and he liked to eat better than talk — even with a southern accent.

Hesperian Club Chooses Debaters

The Hesperian Club has resumed activities with meetings on the first and third Wednesday of each month at 6:15 p. m. on the second floor of Kinsey Hall. It is hoped that all who are interested in speech arts, speech contests, readings and debating will attend the meetings.

Work has been started on the intercollegiate debate topic, and four debaters have been chosen to represent the college at a first debate tournament in Wake Forest on November 14. The debaters for the first tournament are: Jack Hamilton, James Hemby, Zeb Whitehurst, and Cecil Willis. It is hoped that Dr. Rider will accompany the debaters to Wake Forest as faculty representative.

The officers are: Cecil Willis, President — Zeb Whitehurst, Vice President — Doris Tyndall, secretary.

WAA Lists Officers And Plans

The Women's Athletic Association, better known around the campus as the W. A. A., is one of the largest organizations at A.C. It consists of sports-minded girls who are interested in building up the recreation and athletic department. These girls attend various playdays at other colleges to participate in basketball, volleyball, softball, archery, tennis, bad-minton, etc.

Every A. C. girl is urged to get her membership card soon. This card entitles the member to take part in the many activities of the W. A. A.

President: Nan Mattox
Vice-President: Lovia Creech
Secretary: Mamie Davis
Treasurer: Mildred Blackmon

The W. A. A. awards points to anyone who plays and abides by the rules in any intramural sport. When an accumulation of 300 points is obtained the person gets her numerals, a letter is awarded for 500 points, and a star for every 300 points thereafter. The medal is given to 1500-point holders.

All women who are interested in joining the W. A. A., meet in Kinsey Parlor at 4:30 Thursday, November 5.

Dr. Case Announces Four Concerts

Dr. Perry Case, president of the Wilson Community Concert Association, has announced that four concerts will be presented for the year 1953-54. These four programs will consist of a variety of entertainment.

Opening the series on Wednesday, November the twenty-fifth, will be the Spanish dance team of Federico Rey and Pilar Gomez. Not only will they combine their talents into Mexican dances and classic ballet, but other exotic ones as well.

Second will be Mac Morgan, talented and versatile baritone of both concert and radio. He will make his appearance in Wilson on Friday, January the eighth. Mr. Morgan is very experienced, having appeared in opera at the New York City Center, and having worked with such orchestras as the Boston Symphony.

Next on the list will be a violin and piano duo, by James de la Fuente and Herbert Stessin. Having gained widespread popularity from previous performances, which included violin and piano solos, they will again exhibit their talents on Wednesday, March the seventeenth.

To bring to a close the nineteen fifty-three season of Community Concerts in Wilson, will be the appearance of the Appolo Boys Choir.

LOOKING AHEAD IN CHAPEL

November 3 — A Musical Program will be given by the College Chorus.

November 5 — Religious Program.

November 10 — A skit will be presented by the Stage and Script Club.

November 17 — Dr. Travis White will speak on the Building Program.

November 19 — A movie, entitled "For Every Child," will be shown through the courtesy of the Student Christian Association.
