Collegiate Begins New Era

The Collegiate this week begins a new era in its 30 year history. This issue marks the beginning of a weekly schedule for the paper.

In the future The Collegiate will be off the press each Friday, except for holidays.

We, the editors, believe this change to be a great milestone in Atlantic Christian College's progress.

This week the staff was formed. This group of students and faculty members pledges itself to provide the medium of communications which we believe to be needed by our campus family.

With its schedule of weekly publication, The Collegiate hopes to inform students and faculty members of the important issues at hand.

The staff wants to provide a means of communications for those who have ideas. The columns of this paper will always be open to those who wish to discuss an issue.

We believe that the best interests of our students, our faculty, our campus government and our organizations can be best served if our campus population is well informed. The Collegiate hopes to keep them informed.

We are pleased with the start we have made. All members of the staff have a sincere interest in their work. The assistance of the two faculty advisors, Mrs. Edna L. Johnston and G. Harry Swain, is proving most valuable from the start.

A total of 21 students and faculty members are working to put out The Collegiate each week.

Their aim is to provide you, the reader, with objective and informative stories.

From time to time this year, The Collegiate will take stands on various issues. It will attempt to be fair but it will take a stand. That is the way progress is made.

We are happy to be serving in this capacity because we believe it to be vital to the program of our entire college.

In The Looking Glass Study New Fashion Ideas

Girls are getting better looking all the time! You'll agree if you have kept your eyes open around the A.C.C. campus this fall.

Most girls have discovered that a smooth suntan is most flattering. As a matter of fact, a smooth tan, complemented by the exciting new orange lipsticks or contrasted by snowy white accessories is guaranteed to get a girl off to a good start in any co-ed setting.

If we may judge from the number of bulging trunks carried up Harper Hall steps, ACC lasses have lots of clothes — And according to several faculty members, the lasses are keeping those dresses nicely starched and ironed. Keep up the good work, girls; remember grooming is as important as fashion!

Fashion-wise, we note that there is a generous sprinkling of chemises in the wardrobes (they were even featured in the Talent show for Freshmen) and that our young women seem to like the shorter, knee-length modes. Then, the other night, an ACC senior dressing for a date, tied her hair in a Roaring Twenties style bow — a cute idea.

Learn to experiment with cosmetic ideas, girls. Choose from the whole new range of lipstick shades to find the best for you — or for that new outfit. Try a new hair style, too. Did you know the newest thing in home permanents provides a special type curler for each type of curl — pin curlers, mid-get rock, or sponge rollers.

SCA Announces Change In Name

In order that the organization may include the entire college family, there has been a change in the over-all program of the old Student Christian Association.

Dr. Vida Elliot has been added to the cabinet as faculty representative and the name has been changed to the Campus Christian Association.

The officers for the coming year are, Sharon Hazelrigg, President; Sammy White, Vice-President; Sally Scudder, Secretary; Ruby Bazemore, Treasurer and John R. Scudder, faculty advisor.

Business Clubs Plan Activities

The Business Clubs, under the supervision of Mrs. Bernard West, will begin their activities soon.

Transfers and Freshmen will be invited to join. Anyone taking business courses, majoring or minoring is eligible to become a member.

program on the campus. The Department of Religion had requested that Rev. Eugene Purcell, Director of A-V Education, be relieved of those duties so that he could devote full time to teaching.

Dr. Burt granted the request and the A-V Department was re-arranged so that it could be handled by some other departments and divisions on the campus. This left the lounge vacant and made it possible for it to be set up again for the women day students.

ing of the Cooperative Association in Howard Chapel that will serve as the assembly program.

Dr. Burt said he hopes that the Cooperative Association and the various class officers will plan concrete and interesting programs for their scheduled meetings each month. He said he could not stress enough the importance of this matter.

Chapel program attendance will be required under the new plan but the student body will be split so as to assure students of seats at the Thursday Chapels.

All students whose last names begin with letters from A through L will attend what is known as "A" chapels. Those whose last names begin with letters M through Z will attend chapels to be designated as "M" chapels. Attendance will be required and the notification of the chapel letter will be posted so that students will know when to attend. Attendance slips will be signed. No cuts will be allowed.

Pet Gripe Readers Urged To Submit Gripes To The Collegiate

Does the new assembly and chapel set-up bother you? Are the prices in the dining hall too high or is the campus parking situation perplexing you?

As I walked across the campus the past four weeks these problems and many more seem to be the center of animated discussions. What can and will be done about any of these situations I do not know at the present time, but this column is meant to serve both the students and faculty as sort of "sounding off" spot. This is your chance, campus citizens, to tell the entire student body what is wrong and possibly what you believe, to be a solution.

Even though everyone is trying to make Atlantic Christian College the very best, we all know that there are improvements to be made. Hence we thought you, the readers, could help make some of these improvements.

If something on campus is bothering you, why not write and tell us about it and we in turn will print it in this column. If you feel you have a solution to this problem, give us that, too.

Assembly Plans Are Announced

The Atlantic Christian College Cooperative Association and members of the ACC Music Department faculty plan to join in an assembly program in Howard Chapel next Tuesday morning.

All students are urged to attend.

In the past, you have brought about many needed changes through the medium of this column.

Here it is, students and faculty, this is your column — your real chance to "sound off" and tell us what's on your mind.

If you have a gripe, sent it to: JIM BISHOP Box 334 ACC bringing up their grades. This is not the case, he explained. Each student suspended must submit a new application in order to be admitted.

Dr. Burt stressed the importance of the advising system on the campus to those students having problems academically.

"Every student should see his adviser regularly," Dr. Burt said. "However, this is not enough for those in trouble. They should see their advisers as frequently as possible. That is why the system was established and students should use it."

Dr. Burt expressed the hope that fewer students would get into academic difficulty this year. "If they are to stay out of trouble, however, they must have a conscientious attitude toward their courses," he

This was a percentage of 57.5. Twenty-one seniors from the Wilson County Schools enrolled in the ACC Freshman class, it was reported.

At The Library

New Personnel At Library

By WALTER GRAY College Librarian

We should be saying "Happy New Year." Many new faces, many old faces re-newed. It is nice to work in the library — sometimes.

There have been changes around the Clarence L. Hardy since most of you saw us last. Let us introduce ourselves: Mr. Walter Gray, Librarian (now going on the third year — no comments), Miss Ann Solomons (our new Assistant Librarian), Mrs. Irene Harrell (Cataloger), and Miss Sally Scudder (Reserve Room Assistant). We are most happy to report that Mrs. Carrie Bridgers is still with us.

The purpose of this column has been to inform you of new books added to the library collection. It has also been used for a number of other dismal practices — to inform, to berate, amuse, what have you? We like it. We hope to continue as in the past. We hope you will like it. To the old, the new, the many, the few we extend a hearty welcome.

Our function of course is reference, research and study. The Book-hunk is still in business.

sons or organizations presenting the request.

All other requests for calendar dates, except social, will be presented to the office of the Dean of the College.

The Board also discussed budgets for the coming year. Bobby Riley, Treasurer, explained that all budget requests are not yet in. He reported that the special budget committee hopes to have a budget worked out by next week.

George Griswold, President, presided at the meeting.

'A' CHAPEL THURSDAY

Students who are not able to attend at their designated time, must make up the chapel attendance by going with the other group and must state their reason for missing their schedule chapel program on their attendance slip.

The chapel programs will be alternated between A and M groups.
