College Administration Blasted By Exec Board Take Top Posts; Balloting Light

By T. RILEY

At their official meeting this week, the Executive Board members of the Cooperative Association of Atlantic Christian College listened attentively as Robert Dunn, President of the Executive Board, verbally lambasted the Administration of the college.

The statements made by Dunn were his own personal expressions and feelings, but when members of the board responded with their consent and approval of the president's remarks — they became the voice of the Executive Board.

Stimulation of Dunn's criticisms of the Administration developed within the board's discussion of this week's elections. In making plans and necessary arrangements for election of the Vice-president, Secretary, Treasurer, and the Publications editors and staff members, it was asked what should be done about nomination and election of the student-faculty representative to the Board for next year.

It was explained that under this year's revision of the constitution this office had been eliminated. The difficulty which presented itself to the board was that this year's revision of the constitution has not had a vote of approval from the student-body; thus, during this election season, the procedures of government are legislated by the present constitution which provides for the student-faculty representative to be elected to the board.

A member of the board inquired during the discussion as to why this had not been taken care of in the mandatory request for approval by a vote of the student body. This was the stimulus that caused Dunn and other executives to annihilate any growing insinuations that there had been neglect of their responsibility.

In defense and attack, the student-body president stated forcefully that he, personally, had designated specific dates in advance on the social calendar with the approval of the Director of Student Activities for an assembly program to present the revised constitution and other phases of government to the student body. "But when I did," Dunn emphasized "the assembly was cancelled for another function."

Reviewing his present term of office, Dunn went on to say, "What the students want and hold important in their college government is made subservient to the desires of the Administration! Student government is and always has been last on this campus!" As if in a state of patient submission, surrendering to the powers that be, Dunn acquiesced: "But maybe, someday, this board will have some Kenneth Bryan, current Treasurer of the Atlantic Christian College Cooperative Association, who was unsuccessful in his bid for the presidency, topped Bob Matthews for the vice-presidency of the Association this week by a margin of 275 to 132.

Dr. Burt also announced the names of the other Marshals who have been selected: Willie Brannan and Mrs. Roberta Pritchard will serve in that position for the Junior Class.

Sophomore Class Marshals are Joel Council and Miss Mary Ann Marchant.

Two women were selected as Freshman Class Marshals since each of them had a 3.00 quality point average. These two women are Miss Elizabeth Faye Brinson and Mrs. Barbara Rouse Wiggins. The male Marshal from the Freshman Class is Arthur Thomas High.

Bryan and Matthews, both members of Delta Sigma Phi Fraternity, were defeated in the race for President of the Cooperative Association. T. Riley, who lost to Dave Smith in the run-off for president, withdrew from the vice-presidential race to run for Co-Editor of The Collegiate.

Defeated presidential candidates automatically become vice-presidential candidates, if they choose to run for that office.

Miss Walston is president of Phi Sigma Tau Sorority. Miss Winborne is the newly elected president of Omega Chi Sorority.

The balloting in this election was somewhat lighter than in the heated presidential election. Over 600 votes were cast in the presidential election. 407 votes were cast for the office of vice-president, the largest number for any office in the recent election.

WUS Fund Drive Begins On Campus Next Week

The World University Service Fund Drive will be held on the Atlantic Christian College campus next week. The drive will be sponsored by the Campus Christian Association.

The CCA has planned an extensive program in order to reach all members of the ACC family. One hundred student solicitors have been selected by the CCA in an attempt to enlist help in receiving donations from all persons connected with ACC.

Monday, April 25, the CCA will acquaint the solicitors with the program of WUS. This meeting will be held in Howard Chapel with James Boswell, president of the CCA, directing the meeting.

Tuesday of next week, the solicitors will make their first visit to the persons they are responsible for reaching. On this visit the workers will attempt to explain the importance of WUS.

Later in the week a second visit will be made; at this time the solicitors will accept donations from the persons visited.

The CCA plans include the contacting of students who live in the dormitories, fraternity houses as well as the town students. Persons who commute to ACC from out of town will also be contacted.

On Wednesday a movie will be shown in Howard Chapel depicting the importance of WUS. All students and faculty members of ACC are urged by the CCA cabinet to attend this movie.

World University Service is a program of mutual assistance and education concerned with providing material aid while building international understanding and cooperation. Its purpose is to help the educational development of persons in foreign countries who are attempting to help themselves.

The international organization is sponsored by the World Student Christian Federation, Pax Romana, World Union of Jewish Students, Newman Club Federation, and the United States National Student Association.

The fight against poverty, disease, ignorance and despair is the task of World University Service in the international community of students and professors.

Men Residents Pleased By New Dorm Facilities

Content just to be there at last, residents of the new men's dormitory at Atlantic Christian College took little time off from their moving - in chores to comment on the building.

Most common among the replies to the question, "What do you like most about the new dorm?" was the terse comment: "the beds." Every resident interviewed in the new dorm this week commented upon the comfort of the residence hall.

James Weaver of Mount Olive, summed up the opinions of most of the residents with this comment: "This is a far cry from Caldwell Hall."

The men of Atlantic Christian College moved into the new dormitory last Monday. Caldwell Hall has been closed down for renovation.

Bill Thomas of Williamston, and T. Riley, of Tampa, Florida, both said that the atmosphere created by the modern residence hall should improve the academic atmosphere of the college. "It is much more conducive to study," Riley said. Then Riley added a postscript to the comment saying, "In fact this place is more conducive to living than Caldwell Hall." Alton Lee, of Raleigh, was among those that noted the contrast of the new dorm to Caldwell Hall. Lee also commented on the compactness of the rooms and the building.

All the furniture in the rooms is stationary. The rooms are in suites of four with a bathroom for each suite of rooms. Each of the suites is connected to the downstairs by an intercom system.

Several of the residents of the dorm noted that a big improvement could be made if a night table was placed between the beds.

The beds in all the rooms are placed in the same relationship to each other. There is enough space for a small table between the beds. Many of the men noted this need. Dedication of the new dormitory is slated for May 2.

At present, there are about 80 men living in the dorm. All of the residents of Caldwell Hall moved to the new dorm, and a few men who had been living in town also moved to the dorm.

The building will house 144 men.

Business Leader Lists Expectations For Future

The first annual career assembly program sponsored jointly by the Accounting and Business Clubs was presented Tuesday and Thursday of this week.

Horace I. Seeley, charter member of the North Carolina Business Education Council, spoke on "Well-Known Secrets of Business Success."

Predictions for the year 2000 are: There will be 325 million people in this country as compared with 180 million people at present; if a cure for cancer is found, the figures will go straight up; there will be 35 million people over 65 years of age; the average income for a family will be $15,000 a year; 28-hour work week; and two hundred million automobiles will be on the roads.

To illustrate the bright prospects for the future, Mr. Seeley said that General Motors is expecting a 40 percent increase in business in the next five years; General Electric, 50 percent increase by 196 and Carolina Power and Light 60 percent by 196.

Mr. Seeley exclaimed that there are greater opportunities now than ever before in careers and vocations. There is also great opportunity for salesmen and service personnel. The trend in the business office is management — top management has become a profession.

Mr. Seeley predicted, "There is coming in the business office and business vocation fields much more of statistical methodology. Facts are the basis of sound decisions." Jobs in the near future are going to be on higher occupational levels — jobs in which a person can gain more satisfaction from his job. People will use their brains more and their hands less.

He said the six basic skills of business success are:

1. Ability to use the scientific method — every theory should be tested against the facts.

2. Understanding people and skill in working with them.

3. Communication skills.

4. Organization of a person's activities — organize your time well.

5. Perserving effort.

6. Cultivating a memory of names and faces.

"The secret of success is first to say to yourself what you want to be, then do what you have to do — constancy of purpose. When you have decided what you want to do, don't let anything stand in your way," he said.

He said a speaker addressing a graduating class might leave these two thoughts:

1. There is no such thing as a free lunch.

2. You can never go broke making a profit.

Mr. Seeley is also a past national president of the National Office Management Association. He is a assistant treasurer of Carolina Power and Light of Raleigh.
