Wenger Issues Welcome To Old, New Students

It is a genuine pleasure to extend a hearty welcome to all those who comprise our academic community here at Atlantic Christian College this year.

The return of former students makes our campus seem like "home" once again; the presence of so many new students has brought new zest and enthusiasm to our campus.

I am certain that we are crossing the threshold of a significant and successful year, one in which there will be a genuine and wide-spread fulfillment of our objectives here at Atlantic Christian College. In this hope, I extend to each of you my sincere best wishes for a truly fine year.

Les Elgart To Play At ACC Dance; Pine Knot Pix Snap Session Fixed

Les Elgart and his orchestra has been selected to play for the annual Cooperative Association-Interfraternity Council dance planned this fall, it was announced by the Executive Board recently.

The dance, which will be held Thursday, October 11, in the Recreation Park Community Center, is financed by the Cooperative Association under the sponsorship of the IFC, which is in charge of all decorations.

Elgart, born in New London, Conn., started his present orchestra in 1953 when Columbia Records offered him a contract. Since then he has become world famous with his "sophisticated swing." Music critics claim that Elgart is "unique and original in the tradition of the immortal bands of the past." Among his latest albums for Columbia Records are "Dancing," and "The Great Sound of Les Elgart."

Sandwich Shop, Library, Committees Are Discussed

The Executive Board of the Cooperative Association began a study Monday of the conditions reported to exist at Twee-tie's Snack Shop, an establishment adjacent to the college campus.

After hearing numerous complaints on prices, sanitary conditions, and food quality, it was suggested that Dave Smith, president of the Cooperative Association, visit the establishment and convey the student complaints.

A motion was made to this effect, then tabled and referred to further study.

Truman To Boost Party In Wilson Speech Soon

Harry S. (Give'm Hell) Truman, former Democratic President of the United States, has accepted an invitation to speak in Wilson October 14 to give a boost to his party's cause in the general election November 8.

Truman accepted an invitation extended by Congressman L. H. Fountain of Tarboro. Prior to his Wilson address the fiery former president will speak in Raleigh on October 13. A planned overnight stay in Zebulon, home of his son-in-law's parents, will give him a breather.

Although the location of his planned appearance has not been determined, it has been decided he will arrive here about noon to spend an hour and one-half shaking hands and making a speech.

Following his Wilson visit, Truman will travel to other Tar Heel towns and cities including Nashville. At Nashville he will participate in annual Harvest Festival activities. From there he is scheduled to go to Rocky Mount where he will board a plane to Virginia.

David Smith, President of the Cooperative Association, said upon hearing of Truman's visit, "This occasion will give every student at ACC an opportunity to hear one of our former presidents. Although some may disagree with him politically, every student should make an effort to hear Mr. Truman speak."

Nixon Leads Poll Of Student Heads

Student Body Presidents who had registered to attend the Conference of Student Body Presidents at the Convention of the National Student Association in Minneapolis, and the presidents of the student bodies of various "key" universities, were recently polled to determine their preference for President of the United States.

On the basis of a 35 per cent return of the questionnaire, as we the Collegiate go to press, the results indicate the following.

Nixon	58.8 per cent
Kennedy	35.2 per cent
Undecided	6.0 per cent

Atlantic Christian College was represented at the August convention in Minneapolis by David Smith, President of the Cooperative Association; Zarelda Walston, Secretary; and Bette Pomfrey, Treasurer.

First Atlantic Christian Grad Honored By Paraguay

Dr. C. Manly Morton, first male graduate of Atlantic Christian College, was recently decorated by the Paraguayan Government with the National Order of Merit—highest upon anyone, and one selected honor the government can bestow upon a foreigner.

In 1920, Morton established Colegio International (International College) in the city of Asuncion, Paraguay. During its 40 years of existence it has grown into one of the leading Evangelical schools in South America, and has exerted a tremendous influence on the whole educational program of Paraguay. Many of the leading business, professional, and political leaders of the nation are among its graduates.

In April of this year, Colegio International celebrated its Fortieth Anniversary. Mr. and Mrs. Morton, together with the three Directors of the school who have followed him during that forty year period, were invited to return to Asuncion, as special guests of the Alumni Association.

During twelve days spent at Asuncion, many special honors were bestowed upon the visitors. The greatest of which was the Reception in the National Capital, and conferring of the Decoration of the National Order of Merit.

From Paraguay, the Mortons went on to Buenos Aires, Argentina, the place where they began their missionary service 44 years ago.

Students and faculty members of Atlantic Christian College have met and conversed with Dr. Morton on various occasions over the years. Dr. Morton will be remembered for a long time by many of the upper classmen who had an opportunity to hear him speak during last year's pre-Religious Emphasis Week.

Dr. Morton writes to many of his friends on the Atlantic Christian College Campus, "The recent trip to Asuncion and Buenos Aires, was the most thrilling experience of my life. I never expected such honors. And when they came I could not take them as a personal tribute, but rather as a tribute to the fine work Atlantic Christian College did in giving me a start in life, and to Colegio International the fruits of my life's efforts."

Caldwell Transformed With $18,000 Outlay

At the closing of the 1960 spring semester, women students of Atlantic Christian College were promised by Miss Sarah Bain Ward, Dean of Women, that Caldwell Hall would be renovated during the summer to serve as a women's dormitory. That promise has been faithfully kept.

Milton Adams, business manager, states that approximately $12,000 was spent on furniture which is completely new. Every woman has personal access to a dresser, a desk, and a bed. Large built-in closets with adequate shelf space are provided.

The rooms are painted a cool shade of green which lends a pleasant atmosphere conducive to study. Bathroom fixtures have been repaired, as well as doors, windows, and floors. Upon their return to campus this fall, students commented that Caldwell Hall, even from the outside, has a "new look." Beside the cost of furniture, approximately $6,000 was spent for other necessities, including venetian blinds, and for outside repairs. The Georgian style door frame erected around the back door and wrought iron railing make an attractive rear entrance.

Twee-tie's Snack Shop carries a state sanitation rating of "B". Students have complained that prices have recently been raised.

In further business, James Van Camp, President of the Junior Class, requested that the Executive Board recommend to the Atlantic Christian College Library that it be open between two and six p. m. on Sundays.

Van Camp told the board that he believed that such a request was in the best interest of many students. In supporting his argument, the class president said that many students work Friday afternoon and Saturday which leaves no time for work in the library. "Atlantic Christian College is ever trying to foster scholastic attainment which helps the student achieve his scholastic potential," Van Camp averred.

The executive officers moved to send a recommendation from the Executive Board of the Cooperative Association to the College Librarian requesting that the Library be open on Sunday between two and six p. m.

As he presided over the government meeting, the president of the board recommended that a committee on committees be established to look into the possibilities of other committees, needed to accomplish various tasks. According to Smith, the committee would serve in an effort to recommend Atlantic Christian College students for various positions to organizations on campus.

The recommendation was accepted and Franklyn Brooks was appointed Chairman of the new committee with Zarelda Walston and Tom Norvel serving with him.

Kennedy Bryan, the vice president of the Executive Board, accepted the chairmanship for this year's budget committee. The committee's duties were designated by the board to prepare the annual budgets of the various organizations supported through the Association of student-faculty government. Serving with Bryan, will be Bette Pomfrey, Pete Warren, Director of Guidance and Student Life, and Dr. William Troutman.

Prior to the adjournment of the executive meeting, Zarelda Walston, Secretary of the Cooperative Association, was instructed to send notices to each faculty committee chairman to notify them of the budget committee's readiness to consider budget proposals.

Women of Caldwell Hall receive messages by means of an intercommunication system. Telephones are located on each floor and operated through the receptionist's desk in the parlor.

Caldwell's three stories houses 58 women: 17 sophomores, 23 juniors, and 18 seniors.

Mrs. Miley Johnson, housemother, is beginning her third year's work at Atlantic Christian College. Her first year was spent at the Phi Sigma Tau sorority house on Gold Street and her second at Rountree House, which is no longer in use.

Mrs. Johnson comments, "I am still happy in my work, and I am pleased with the new building. I am looking forward to a very successful year with the women here at Caldwell."

The parlor and Mrs. Johnson's apartment have been refinished in attractive sandalwood. Remodeling of the parlor, including all new furnishings, is expected to be completed by the first of the year.

Caldwell Hall, the oldest building on campus, was erected in 1911. Since that time it has served as an administration building, the headquarters of the Science Department, and as a men's dormitory.
