Joint Open House Event Held At Dorms Sunday

A joint "Open-House" for Caldwell Dormitory and Hilley House, womens residences of Atlantic Christian College was held from 3 until 5:30 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 29. Both residences were decorated in a Halloween theme with attractive floral arrangements from Hillside Florist.

Excellent fall weather encouraged a large turnout of guests. Greeting guest at Caldwell Hall were Tucker Uzzle, secretary, Carolyn Wilson, vice president, and Lou Ligget, president who in turn introduced Mrs. Janie Johnson, house mother of Caldwell Hall.

After registering, the guests were guided through the building by individual girl residents. Refreshments were served in the downstairs corridor and parlor.

Orange arrows guided guests from Caldwell Hall to Hilley House where Lynn Mayo of Washington, D. C. greeted guests and introduced Miss Carrie Louise Whitfield, house mother of Hilley House. This newly renovated house is the most recently acquired residence of ACC.

Extensive decoration has been completed and the personal attention and work of the Hilley house mother is quite evident, attractive beige draperies in the living room and the handsome antique furniture of her private apartment add great charm to this residence. Guests were greeted on the second floor by Peggy Ward, hall proctor and introduced to other Hilley House residents.

Local High School Students Will See 'Twelfth Night' Performance

Over 300 high school students are expected to come to the college campus this afternoon for a special matinee performance of "Twelfth Night" given by Stage and Script club.

These high school students will be accompanied by teachers. Stage and Script officials have expressed the hope that students will have a chance to see the campus and be exposed to the student body of the college, as well as attend the play.

Members of Circle K have very kindly undertaken to be hosts for the visiting students, as Stage and Script members will be involved with the production of the play.

The play was presented in the Chapel on Wednesday and Thursday evenings. Members of the college family who did not have an opportunity to see it on either of those evenings may attend the matinee today at 3:30. Many seats, however, are being reserved for the high schools that have sent in advance reservations.

According to the director, Mrs. Doris Holsworth, the play had taken on a finished character with beautiful costumes and excellently handled lighting by the time of the initial production on Wednesday.

The performance this afternoon in the Chapel at 3:30 will be the third and final portrayal of the current presentation of Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night."

The Board of Trustees of Atlantic Christian College has given its unanimous approval to a $3.5 million program of development, designed to allow for the orderly and balanced long-range development of all phases of the college's education program.

The program was approved at a meeting of the board held in Wilson, Oct. 27, and is designed to be carried out over a 15-year period which is to be divided into three 5-year phases.

Scheduled to begin in 1962 - 63 and to be completed in 1977, the master plan provides for an extensive building program and programs of endowment, land acquisition and faculty salaries.

The program provides for additional dormitory facilities, additional classroom facilities, which include physical education plant, Music and Fine Arts buildings, and renovation and expansion projects for library and science buildings.

It was made clear that the program was in no sense made up of inflated values of need, but the very minimum, anticipating no significant increase in the college's 1,200 student enrollment.

Dr. Arthur D. Wenger, president of Atlantic Christian College, gave his annual report to the board for the 1960 - 61 academic year which covered academic, financial and external affairs.

The board heard Dr. Wenger's report on progress in a program looking toward a quality student body, adequately trained faculty,

Young Democrats Planning Events

Officers of the Young Democrats Club met last Thursday afternoon in the Classroom building and discussed future meeting dates, guest speakers for programs, and plans for the State YDC convention.

President Bill Bardin called the caucus in order to make more tentative plans for coming meeting dates. Mr. Bardin explained that because of Rush Week and other conflicting activities, the forthcoming meeting would have to be rescheduled. Sandra Freedman, first vice president, was appointed to place announcements on all bulletin boards concerning the next assemblage of the YDC.

Plans to invite guest speakers for meetings were considered by the group, with L. H. Fountain, U. S. representative from N. C., T. H. Woodard, state senator, and W. Ray Lackey, candidate for president of the state YDC, being mentioned as possibilities.

The officers of the campus political group, also voted unanimously to attend the state YDC convention to be held in Durham, November 9-11, at which, the ACC Young Democrats Club will have five votes.

Dead Week Regulations Defined By Exec Board

The Executive Board defined Dead Week as a period extending from Monday, Nov. 6 until Saturday, Nov. 11, inclusive, during which no activities other than academic activities shall occur. The action came as a result of discussion concerning a proposed concert during Dead Week.

Dead Week is a student imposed suspension of activities to provide time for additional study for midterm testing. Mr. Gene Featherstone, chairman of the Assembly and Concert Committee, presented a request for a concert to be held either Monday, Nov. 6 or Friday, Nov. 10.

Walter Carringer, New York concert tenor, is in this area, and the committee would be able to arrange the event at a saving of $500. The board at first moved to have the concert, but during ensuing discussion on Dead Week, voted to reconsider its motion.

In order to enact the necessary legislation, the board adjourned and a called meeting was held immediately following a brief recess.

The first item on the agenda of the called meeting was the installation of the new members of the board. Guy Miller and Miss Judy Barnes were installed as senior senators; Jimmy Adams and Tommy Moore as junior senators; Hatten Hodges Jr. and Ken Thornton, sophomore senators; and Miss Gina Allen, freshman senator.

Absent from the installation were Miss Sandra Freedman, day student representative; Don Barefoot, freshman class president, and Steve Everette, freshman senator. The above will be installed at a later date to be announced.

Following the installation, discussion of Dead Week was resumed, and a motion stating that all activities other than academic would be suspended during the week was passed. The board agreed to stipulate that this would include intramurals and that all organizations would be notified of the action by letter.

The board further moved to insert in the constitution a policy concerning Dead Week and to ask a committee to work with Mr. D. L. Warren to study Dead Week. Ken Thorton and Miss Gina Allen were appointed to serve on this committee.

Mr. Warren reported on the Peace Corps conference recently held in Washington, D. C. Dr. William Troutman and Dale Williamson accompanied Mr. Warren.

The tickets for the IFC-Cooperative Association dance have been distributed and are now being sold.

Miss Linda Cale, treasurer, reported $2,638.65 in the treasury.

Circle K Club Now Working On Major Project

The Circle "K" Club of ACC has finally begun work on its first project of the year. The men of the organization have been working for the past several Saturdays on the rejuvenation of the house next to Tweekies. At the present time, the work is approximately half finished, and it is hoped that the various campus organizations will be able to move in within the next few weeks.

On Friday, Nov. 3, the men of Circle "K" will serve as a welcoming committee for those visitors to our campus for the purpose of seeing the Stage and Script production of "Twelfth Night." Invitations have been sent out to various high schools in the area. The group also plans to offer cold drinks during and after the performance.

At present, the men of the organization are busy making plans for the future. It is hoped that the club will be able to take an active part in the organization of a district to include Circle "K" groups on campuses across the state. The group also wishes to arrange several dinner meetings with the men of the Circle "K" on the East Carolina campus.

Unfortunately, the club still lacks one thing — a faculty advisor. Anyone interested?
