NUMBER SIXTEEN

Shown above is the Ivy League Trio, a folk singing group which will present a concert for the Greeks on Saturday, March 2, in the Fike High Auditorium. The trio, under contract to Coral Records, has experienced great success recently before night club audiences throughout the country. The group has developed great skill in adapting many different types of music to the folk song.

Greek Week To Feature Coral Recording Artists

Serving to round off the festivities of Greek Week, the Ivy League Trio, Coral recording artists, will present a concert for the Greeks and their dates on Saturday, March 2, at the Ralph L. Fike High School Auditorium. It will begin at 3:00 p.m.

The Ivy League Trio has a wonderful way of turning quite ordinary folk songs into exciting and refreshingly new listening experiences. To underline their versatility, they add to their expansive repertoire, songs of unrelated derivation and arrange them vocally and instrumentally into the folk idiom. This they have done with such divergent selections as Rodgers and Hammerstein's "Dites Moi", through the traditional "St. James Infirmary Blues" and into the realm of kiddieland with a musical treatment of "Winkin, Blinkin' and Nod."

The professional career of the Ivy League Trio began with an audition of NBC's Talent Search Program. A Coral Records contract followed, as well as engagements such as the exotic Esso Club in Arabia, the Dutch West Indies, and The Steel Pier in Atlantic City.

Night club audiences have thrilled to their performances. Recently, they were an overwhelmingly success at New York's Blue Angel, doing turn-away business and garnering laurels from the press.

Following the Ivy League Trio will be Lennie Maxwell, who has appeared in several New York night

Exec Board Discusses New Election Procedure

The Executive Board, meeting Monday night in the Classroom Building, decided upon new procedures for the selection of two of its officers, heard a progress report on the proposed Student Discount Service, and were informed of an International Student Relations Seminar scheduled for next summer.

It was proposed that the corresponding secretary for the Executive Board be elected and serve on the board just as its other officers. When it was pointed out, however, that the board should seek to limit its membership as much as possible, the members voted to choose the officer from among the incoming class senators in the future.

The board expressed approval for a suggestion by Mr. Ken Thornton, Treasurer of the Student Cooperative Association, that the treasurer be elected a year in advance and serve first as an assistant before assuming the full duties of the office. This would provide a period in which to become familiar with the job. Mr. Thornton also stated that the accounts have not been audited for some time and asked that some provision be made for an audit at the end of each school year.

Mr. John Cox revealed plans for an International Student Relations Seminar to be held from June 16 through August 29 of the coming summer at Bryn Mawr, Pa. The seminar, sponsored by the United States National Student Association, will prepare students for work promoting

Baptist Students To Have New Prexy

Ann Hayes was elected Monday night by the officers of the Baptist Student Union to replace Mary Ann Robertson as president. Miss Robertson is resigning her office because of practice teaching in her hometown.

An announcement was also made that a supper meeting would be held the following Monday night at 6:30 in the Fellowship Hall of the First Baptist Church. All Baptist students are invited to attend. Pat Taylor and Alice Shepard were appointed to present a program for this meeting.

The Baptist Student Union of Atlantic Christian College is an organization of Baptists and non-Baptists on campus who wish to further religion into the life of the college student. Anyone who wishes to become a member of this group is urged to attend these meetings.

Miss Jessie Daniels, Assistant Dean of Women, serves as advisor to this group.

Canterbury Club To Meet On Feb. 24

The Canterbury Club met Feb. 10 at 6:30 p.m. in St. Timothy's Episcopal Church. Activity of the club consisted of group discussion. Joe Eastman has been appointed as Episcopal representative to the Campus Christian Association.

The club will meet for another group discussion Feb. 24 at 4:30 p.m. in St. Timothy's Church. A discussion will be under the leadership of Rev. John A. Gray, pastor of St. Timothy's, and Dr. Margaret Newton, sponsor of the club. Anyone who is interested in the Canterbury Club and its activities is invited to attend this meeting.

Joyce, Garrison Featured By CSW

Dr. J. Daniel Joyce, Dean of the Graduate School, Philips University, Enid Oklahoma, and Dr. Winfred E. Garrison, Head of the Department of Philosophy at the University of Houston, have been guest speakers at the past two Wednesday afternoon meetings of the Christian Service Workshop.

Several religion majors found opportunity during Dr. Joyce's visit to clarify questions they had concerning the Seminary at Philips. Richard Johnson in particular has expressed interest in the possibility of pursuing his education at that institution.

The visit of Garrison, a part of the larger Religious Emphasis Event on campus, was much enjoyed by the religion majors of all denominations. This visit gave those interested a chance to question Dr. Garrison about his long and venerable career.

First Twenty Pledges Total $1,243 In Student Campaign

The Student Fund Drive got off to a roaring start this week, with the first 20 pledges adding up to $1,243.

Pledges were made from $6 to $250, with the average pledge being one dollar a month for 36 months.

Team captains and workers began this week and will continue for the next two weeks to make an all-out

CORRECTION

The banner headline in last week's Collegiate through error stated that the Student Fund Drive begins March 18. Although the General Drive begins March 18, the Student Drive began last Monday, Feb. 18, and will last until March 11.

Garrison Found Interesting Speaker

By JERRY RIDLING

It has been my privilege to get to know Dr. Winfred E. Garrison rather personally during his visit on our campus. I would like to share with the student body some of the interesting things I learned about him from personal conversation and observation. Dr. Garrison's life is rather amazing in just about every aspect. On the trip from Raleigh-Durham to Wilson, he related to us quite a few interesting facts about himself.

One of the most interesting subjects we touched on were his frequent visits to Europe. As a young man, he spent five summers bicycling through that part of the world. The first summer, he travelled throughout England, Wales and Scotland. During the next two summers, he managed to cover southern Europe as well as Norway, Sweden, and most of Russia. All of this was done by bicycle. He spent several summers roaming about the various countries, trying to learn about the religion of the common people. One religion that particularly fascinated him was Andora. He related to us how he had entered a hotel, gone up four floors, and walked out a door on that level to find himself standing on the side of a cliff.

When the conversation turned to the present mania for 50-mile hikes, Dr. Garrison told us of an experience during one of his trips to Europe. He walked all the way across Lapland, and managed to cover a distance of 165 miles in 5 days. "And", he said, "I was wearing boots."

When we were setting up and testing the microphones for the chapel assembly on Wednesday, Dr. Garrison began to quote over the system from the first book of Milton's "Paradise Lost" and then went to Shelley's "Ode to the West Wind." He can recite the entire first book
